

BOARD DISCUSSES RED LIGHT MATTER

Scheme Denounced as Pernicious
in a Resolution Passed
Last Night.

WEST SIDERS HAVE RIGHTS

C. S. Martin Only Member of Board
Of Education Who Did Not Vote.

Shall the women of the underworld be removed to the West Side? The pros and cons of this question were discussed almost until midnight Tuesday at the regular monthly meeting of the board of education. After hours of discussion the following resolution was adopted by a vote of eight, C. S. Martin passing his vote.

Whereas, definite plans have been devised by certain individuals for the removal to the west side of the women of the underworld, and,

Whereas, certain buildings specially adapted to the immoral purposes contemplated by these plans are nearing completion, and,

Whereas, these rendezvous of immorality, drunkenness and crime is sought to be planted in a residence district, and between two public highways leading directly east and west to and from certain schools, and in the midst of the homes of hundreds of school children, whose lives and morals cannot be endangered and seriously affected by the contaminating influence that would emanate from such a place, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the board of education of Salt Lake City, That we denounce this scheme as pernicious and subversive to the interests of the school children living west of Second West, and do commend the efforts of the parents in doing what lies in their power to check the progress of this scheme.

These means that the entire board, except one, is strictly opposed to the removal of the red light district and that the same will be opposed with all their means.

After the current business of the month a motion was made that the resolution concerning the red light district be referred to a committee of the whole, which was carried and an open discussion followed. C. S. Martin was the first upon the floor and the only member of the board to oppose the passing of the resolution.

"Several months experience and many years of study concerning the red light district have convinced me," declared Mr. Martin, "that it is very difficult to create the bounds of the same. The traveling public, who are constantly being accosted, I ask you what kind of a city have we here? It seems to be morally bad and I am told that a traveler cannot walk from the city hall to Second South street but he will be accosted by from 12 to 15 women. I am sure that gentlemen are being accosted by these women constantly and time to investigate I could prove it and show you that any other provision of the city will be more agreeable than the present location. I am sure that the city will be able to carry out its duty and that it will be possible to carry out a house cleaning in general. The railroads are to take the territory between Main and Sixth West streets, and even if it is a detriment to that district, it will be only coal yards and warehouses."

"Perhaps you all are not aware that in that vicinity now there exists a little Italy and so far as the schools go, there will be very few school children from that district and the nearest school will not be closer than two and a half blocks. Children who pass there now, will not pass there, and when they do pass the red light district will be at rest."

At present young boys are continually walking through the district and gazing around while the parents have no idea in what sort of a locality their children are running around.

NO POLICE.

"And I can say that in the last four months I have never seen a policeman in that district. If the district is moved it will be got out of the way and children will not be brought in contact with it. Will it be as bad if these women are placed behind a barrier and not permitted outside the wall."

BRING SALOONS.

"Saloons will be established but it cannot be worse than it is now. There are houses on First South street at this very moment of a nature where boys and girls may go in at any hour of the night. If we acknowledge it we can guard against it. A place could not be selected that it would hurt less than the district now proposed."

FAVOR RESOLUTION.

Mr. A. G. Giauque took the floor and spoke with some force upon impracticability of the arguments of his opponent.

"Is it possible," said he, "to confine these women in a limit? From my own experience I doubt it and an certain that it cannot be done. To say that all of these women can be confined within the limits of a single block is almost an absurd tale. Do you mean to say that the better class of these women, if there is a better class, will be herded into a corral. Why is it allowed to exist at all if the law can reach them. The more prosperous will apply their trade as they apply today. The police expect to molest them, why not enforce the law. There is no argument in favor of moving that district to the west side. The people on the west side have homes, they are established there, and if this district is moved there, who will buy them out. Never impose upon any neighbor the degradation of having such a class for neighbors. I do not believe that school boys congregate there."

"What will be the effect upon the young people of that locality. It is a shame to cast a vote to destroy the honest children of honest people."

"The city council has not the authority." Here Mr. Martin interrupted.

"City officials have said, 'Control this element and get them out of the business district that they may control them.'"

At this juncture, Mr. Martin was asked if he agreed with the Rev. Dr. Short that this was a sodomy and Gomorrah. Mr. Martin replied that the Rev. Dr. Short had his wires crossed to an extent.

Mr. A. Newman expressed his opinion in the following terms:

PROTECT POOR.

"No one but the poor wish to live in this district. I understand, respectable workmen wish to live near their work. Is not this the case? Then the more we should protect the poor. If the gentleman lived on the west side, he would probably not advocate the measure. The police can take care of them better now than they ever can in a stockade, and, what is more, they have no right to do so. Let them go. Should the board be tenderfooted, ashamed to stop this if we can? Keep it where it is if it must be kept, under police supervision."

J. T. HAMMOND'S ARGUMENT.

Mr. J. T. Hammond took the floor. The board should only consider this question as it will affect the public schools. If we could by a resolution wipe out the district from the city, I would only be too happy to cast a vote that would do it. It is the point for us to discuss is its effect on the schools. The establishment of this district will act as a sanction and a mark and the attention of the children will be called to it."

CALLS IT AN OUTRAGE.

Judge H. P. Henderson, president of the board, then took a hand.

"There is not a single idea nor argument in favor of not adopting this resolution," he declared. "To dedicate a block to the possibility of taking the overflow of the city's slums will not decrease the red light district, but multiply it. It is better in the city than where young men can sneak in through a railroad yard. This question has been put to the people must have this thing, and are looking for property for the same. It is better concealed in the vicinity of the police station. It is an outrage on the board that it should be put near a school building, and an outrage on the west side people that their property should be used without giving them proper compensation. The block on which it stands will sell well. I favor the passing of the resolution."

Objections were expressed by himself shortly after the adoption of the resolution, and was followed by Mathoniah Thomas, who also expressed himself for the passing of the resolution.

Mr. Giauque showed that there were 347 children of the school age besides other children who lived in blocks 62, 63, 64 and 65 in the vicinity of the proposed district.

A vote was taken and the resolution was adopted.

CURRENT BUSINESS.

All bids received for the erection of the 18-room fireproof school building on the Walker site were rejected by the board, and new bids will be received to Sept. 25. The reason for the rejection of the bids is that some changes have been made in the plans. There should be two firms bidding on the work, who failed to enclose certified checks, with their bids, and it is understood the action was taken partly for the purpose of permitting these parties to bid on the work properly.

The committee on buildings and grounds made a report, which was adopted containing recommendations as follows:

Tenants—Thomas Leslie, transferred from Lincoln to Solence; C. P. Giauque, from Waterloo to Lincoln; W. W. Phillips, appointed engineer at Lowell; A. Peterson, transferred from Lowell to Riverside; J. A. Williamson, from Riverside to Sumner; J. R. Price, appointed to Waterloo; G. W. Rodgers, appointed engineer at high school; Robert Stoker transferred from Poplar Grove to Monroe.

The board accepted the plans for the Riverside school and bids for the work on the structure will be received until noon of Oct. 6.

The report of the committee on teachers and school work was adopted. The report recommended the appointment of Marie Berkhoff to succeed Gertrude Holly, resigned, in the commercial department of the high school; that Sarah L. Martin be released from her contract as a teacher; the appointment as a teacher of Amelia Thompson; awarding a scholarship to Emma Judd, and ordering two new pianos, one for the Waterloo and the other for the Lowell kindergarten departments.

Attacking Man With Scissors.

Oswald Ferris and Forest Wilson, two lads who were convicted of burglary in this city and sentenced to terms in the state industrial school at Ogden, were before Judge Armstrong this morning on an order to show cause why they should not be sent to the state penitentiary. At their trials which resulted in their commitment to the industrial school, Wilson pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary in the second degree, and Ferris pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary in the first degree. At the hearing this morning, in behalf of the prisoners, their attorneys withdrew the former pleas of guilty and the cases were set for trial again. Wilson's case was set for September 15, and that of Ferris on September 24.

Peter Zigich Before Justice Lundberg
This Afternoon.

This afternoon the justice will be occupied with the cases of Roy Perry and Henry Sutton, against whom complaints were issued from the office of the county attorney this morning, charging them with fishing in the Surplus canal without a license.

THEY SOLD OTHER BEERS.

The Salt Lake Brewing company seeks by the institution of a suit in the Third district court this morning, to have ousted from certain premises described in the complaint at lot 35 to block 8 in the Newhouse Copper plant addition survey, Gus Triantos and John Anargyros, who have been conducting an establishment for the sale of liquor at the place, on the ground that they had no license to do so.

BUTLER IN CONTEMPT.

In an order issued by C. W. Morse, judge of the Third district court, L. N. Butler is directed to appear before the judge September 10, to show cause why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt of court. The order is over the appointment of water according to the adjudication rendered some time ago by Judge Morse in the case of the Progress company against Salt Lake City and others, and distributing the waters of Big Cottonwood creek. The commissioner appointed to divide the division plan of the Progress company, complains that Butler persists in taking water from the stream not apportioned to him.

BUFFALO BILL'S BRAVES SCOUTING

Indians Take in the Sights, Including Tabernacle Organ
Recital at Noon Today.

AND ALSO BATH AT SALT AIR

Big Crowd Attends Wild West Show
At the Fair Grounds This Afternoon—S. R. O. Sign Tonight.

A troop of Buffalo Bill's Indian braves made a scouting expedition this morning to the various points of interest in the city. And it was understood from officials of the show that a number intended playing truant this afternoon, which will likely recall echoes of the early days. It is a record of history that at a certain quite European city some sixty of the braves entered into their characteristic mode of celebrating a holiday and put the police at complete defiance. The police who turned tail in this instance were soon the laughing stock of the community and afforded much humorous material for the pen of the cartoonist. The police in question had received their impressions of the savage nature of the Indian from the show and were consequently dubious about approaching nearer than a very safe distance. They evidently did not take the fact into consideration that the Indians with Col. Cody are far better traveled than the average gentleman of means.

AT SALT AIR.

The Indians made an amusing picture this morning as they prepared to enter the water at Saltair with their shining brown skin and long black hair and wearing upon their faces the insane smile, the exclusive property of those who are preparing for an absolute nervous attack. Not that the Indians have never taken a bath before, but the idea of floating upon the water without self assistance, charmed them into grunts and whoops of merriment. Another party of redskins visited the tabernacle and sat through a recital with all the stolid looks so characteristic of their race. The organ was the object which most absorbed their attention. They did not understand what an organ was for; whether it was to frighten one, or just to make sudden noise to drown the conversation in a religious house. They sat through the program, however, in perfect quiet and stared to the front accepting like a child what was befalling them.

NO PARADE.

It has been asked why Col. Cody does not give a parade in this city and the answer is that of late he has received so many requests from cities where he intended to show, not to give a parade because it would make the better business resulted to the merchants when there was no pageant. And it is also certain that the fact of a parade would make the show more attractive.

There are 800 persons with the Wild West show and 550 horses. All the old features which have made the show what it is today are still with the show and the program with its many recent interpolations is said by those who have seen it to be better than
