The steamer lies a short distance north of the harbor entrance. Mr. Conn re-ports that the wind has gone down con-siderably, and that tugs are now ensiderably, and that tugs are now en-gaged in an attempt to release the vessel. The steamer struck the bar at the mouth of the harbor early today while attempting to enter in a high south-west gale, and was scuttled in 9 feet of water. The nine passengers and the crew of thirty-five were taken off the wrecked craft by the lifesaving crew with their breeches buoy apparatus. The No. 3 lies 150 feet from the end of the north pler and 200 feet from the shore, with the great waves dashing over her decks, She is already a mass of ice.

The accident occurred before day-light. Passengers and crew were rudeawakened by the succession shocks as the steamer pounded on the bar. Signals of distress were immedi-ately blown and the lifesaving crew ulckly repsonded. Running their morfar out on the pler the lifesavers sent a line to the wreck. A heavier rope was then hauled aboard and when day-break came there was a line 200 feet long stretched from the pier to the No. 3, and the breeches buoy apapratus was ready for use. Over this line the nine passengers, four of whom were women, and the crew, were safely taken in the breeches buoy in two hours. It was a thrilling rescue. As the people were drawn along the rope the great waves broke over them and all were drenched by the loy water when they arrived on the pier.

Captain Frank Dorlty who was the last man to leave the vessel in the buoy says the rudder stock was twisted by the large seas that were rolling and her steering gear refused to work. The steamer then lost her head and rolled idea is this: "We arrive on the Kron Prinz Wil-heim, February 22, at New York. Prince Henry will go on board the Ho-henzollern and will stay there until the launching of the emperor's new yacht, which we think will probably be February 24. We go to Washing-ton to see the President, and perhaps will stay there several days. Then we make the most of the next few days, in seeing other citles, returning to New York for two more days before we sail for home on the Deutschland. March 8. EXPOSITION HAS BEEN POSTPONED

Was Originally Intended,

St. Louis, Jan. 17 - The dispatch from Washington, Jan. 17 .- The Louislana Washington quoting President Francis as intimating that the Louisiana Pur-Purchase exposition, which was to have been held at St. Louis in 1903, will not chase exposition, scheduled for 1903, might not be held until 1904, was a great surprise at World's fair headtake place until 1904. This fact was practically conceded by ex-Governor quarters here. Francis, president of the exposition Vice President Corwin H. Spencer, of company, and Adolph Busch, the finan-

the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, company when shown the dispatch.

"I have received a dispatch from Fresident Francis saying:

"'I have not talked of postponement nor admitted it at all,""

REITERATE STATEMENT.

Washington, Jan. 17 .- Ex-Gov. Francls, president of the St. Louis Purchase exposition, and Adolph Busch, chair-man of the committee on foreign relations of the exposition, this afternoon admitted to a representative of the Aspoclated Press that they had made forenoon regarding the date of the opening of the exposition which could opening of the exposition which could te construed as showing that a delay was contemplated. They are sorry that any misapprehension over this ques-tion exists. Mr. Busch gave out the rollowing statement:

"If the foreign powers in order to participate here in a dignified manner with their exhibits desire a postponeuent until 1904 such a postpone ment will be taken into favorable consideration, We claimed originally that the St. Louis exposition shall be one of the grandest ever held; that it shall excel all others. In order to do that we must have a world's exposition and the world must participate and if it appears that more time is needed by the foreign governments it is perfectly in order to postpone the fair if neces-
