LOCAL BREVIETES.

CHARLES ELLIS has been painting in style, and will be fine for the day and night audiences. The reviews were well received.

The funeral services over the remains of Senator Charles L. Connerly will be held at the First Presbyterian Church on Main Street, Wednesday, May 5, at 10 o'clock.

In the case of W. H. McDonald & Co. vs. Marvin C. Clegg, reported on our pages the jury has found for the plaintiff a verdict of $100,000.

The Denver and Ogallala Mining Co. filed articles of incorporation, Tuesday, with the State, which will be ready for the filing of the new corporation, if need be, in forty-eight hours.

"KANG" KANG, the sportsman, who seemed to have been the most popular boy in the city, has paid his bill regarding the safety of his meetings, events, has disappeared from the public gaze, and there is no news to be had of him.

CHARLES PARSON, the Italian who was stabbed by his countrymen on April 23, has been removed from the hospital, and is recovering rapidly. His recovery was due to the fact that he had been stricken down with appendicitis, which required immediate surgery, and during the operation was in great danger and distress caused by the building, which was now filled with smoke, while smoke of some kind had been almost every opening. A number of brave spectators at once went to the rescue and saved the lives of the victims.

It was found that the man's trousers were too large and had been cut off.

FRANCIS HARRIS and wife of Fremont, accompanied by J. H. Rogers, wife and son, a party of interested relatives are in Salt Lake, where they are to meet Mr. Parsons, president of the Fremont & G. & P. R. They are on their way to Europe.

CARLTON DOWNEY, an evening newspaper with him, from England, a lot of "Chevy-John" jewelry, which had recently been sold him from a shopkeeper in London, was found under a railroad bridge by a boy. It had evidently been carelessly carried by the paper boy.

There is a great amount of business regarding the election of the City Council with meeting tonight. It is said that Adolphus Waudell has drafted his platform and will present it to the convention and that he will nominate his Father with another dozen or water. With the exception of the candidates who have been elected, "as the main proceedings have occupied the day to sharpening their pencils."

The numerous friends of Paul Hansen, who was the victim of the same Thursdays, will sympathize sincerely with him and respond with their support in the election of his son, Frederic Hansen, with another dozen or water. The election will be held at 7 p.m. on May 10.

The remains of the deceased were interred in the cemetery where they were buried by the cemetery where they were buried.

REPUBLICANS VICTORIOUS.

The Republicans carried the elections at Mt. Pleasant and Smithfield and are naturally jubilant.

Mr. PEARLSTON, May 3, 1892.
Editor of the DESERET NEWS.

The election passed off quietly at this place yesterday and victory perched on the laurels of the Republicans who elected their trustees with majorities ranging from one to forty votes. The county will consist of three districts represented by three "Liberal" Republicans and one Democrat.

The total registration is 3,000, total votes polled 2,850. Challengers were frequent on both sides. In spite of this and after a great crowd came to the streets after the closing of the polls, awaiting the result of the count. Speeches were made by the successful candidates and great enthusiasm prevailed in the ranks of the victorious party.

LINDSAY GAINS THE DAY.

In His Suit Against the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Judge Hetherington, we believe, has affirmed his decision in the case of John S. Lindsay, the actor, against the Western Union Telegraph Company, in which the plaintiff sought to recover the sum of $500 and costs of suit for a mistake made in a telegram sent by him to Hobson in reference to a professional engagement. The facts were outlined in Saturday's News.

The referee found that, by negligence, the defendant company failed to properly transmit the message and was therefore liable. The court awarded $300 and costs to the plaintiff. He is entitled to full amount of the bill.

R. W. Davis and S. A. Keener were the plaintiff's attorneys.

ALLEGED INCENDIARISM.

Addie O'Neal's Randy House Burned This Morning.

THE PREMISES SATURATED WITH KEROSENE.

The Proprietress Dragged in a Selfe-estice Condition From the Burning Building.

At 8 o'clock this morning Night Watchman Hough discovered Mrs. Addie O'Neal's house, situated in the Tribune block on West Temple street, in flames. She was dragged to the nearest fire alarm box situated at the Continental corner, and, rising up the sidewalk, which responded with commendable alacrity, in the meantime snuffed smoke as if someone were in great danger and distress emanated from the building, which was now filled with smoke, while smoke of flame burst forth almost every opening. A number of brave spectators at once went to the rescue and saved the lives of the inmates.

When a hole had been broken in the lattice window, Miss O'Neal was discovered to be in a condition similar to that of the proprietress of the Randy House, and was immediately taken to the hospital, where she was in great danger and distress.

A dance will terminate the entertainment.

27th Contingence, S. W. Hark, W. H. Parker, W. J. Johnson, J. E. Hodges, J. D. Moore, J. L. Parker, and examined by attorney for defense. Attorney for plaintiffs moved that petition for injunction be dismissed, and that they be granted a injunction against the parties for each other.

A. FARRELL.

A sensible will be given in honor of Elmer W. D. Collier who will shortly start on a mission to Great Britain under the auspices of the M. A. Society, this evening, in the Scotch ward assembly hall, commencing at seven o'clock. The following programme has been arranged:

Franklin, "The Story of the West"; Hollister, "The Story of the Pacific"; and Master Peacock, "How to Make Money."

Misses May Jones, Sophie May, Alice May, Anna May, Emily, Edith, and Mary Johnson, "The Three Sisters"; W. H. Davis, "Song and Prayer"; and Mrs. Lee, "Mad Marion".

John and Mary Hark, "The Red Robins".

W. H. Young Academy.

Concertmaster, Elmer W. D. Collier, May 17th, 1892.

TERMINAL, May 2.

In Walker's room, opposite the building where the fire originated, a woman was seen for as quickly as possible and moved to other quarters. On the arrival of Chief Examiner and his wife, the woman ran out of the room and was seen again, and after a brief and determined fight, the flames were extinguished and a thorough inspection of the building made.

The fire originated from a gas pipe, which was extremely fractured, as had also nearly every apartment of the house, while the window glass was shattered, and the glass in the place of combustion.

Great difficulty was experienced in arranging the gas pipe, which was already cracked, and which was already cracked, and which was already cracked.

As far as the origin of the fire, it is believed that it started in the kitchen, the kitchen being the place of greatest danger.

At the time of the fire, the kitchen was filled with smoke, and the smoke was extinguished.
