TRAMP COMMITS HORRIBLE MURDER

Riding Behind His Victim Horseback Felled Him to Earth With a Hammer.

THEN HE CUT MAN'S THROAT.

Mob Attacked Las Animas, Colo., Jail, Determined to Lynch Him But Was Foiled.

Las Animas, Colo., Dec. 26.—After several hours of diligent effort at storming the county jail here, a mob which gathered after dark for the purpose of avenging the death of Henry Lavenmeyer, a well-known farmer near here, who was murdered in a most brutal manner by a tramp, dispersed, and it is not thought that further attempts will be made tonight to carry out the plan of vengeance. The mob worked its way into the jail as far as the steel doors by breaking down the wooden doors, but was met with a stern refusal by the jail keepers to turn over the prisoner, and finally gave up. When apprehended the murderer gave his name as Lawrence Leberg, and many believe him to be insane.

Leberg's crime was the work of a fiend. Alighting from a Santa Fe freight train yesterday afternoon at Robinson station, near this city, he crossed the river and secured a meal from a farmer named George Purvis. When Leberg finished eating he demanded lodging, but was refused because of his abusive language. Leberg left the Purvis farm and, after preparing a camp on the river bank, started back toward Purvis' place, evidently bent on revenge. He set fire to a hay stack belonging to Henry Lavenmeyer, thinking it was the property of Purvis.

The fire attracted Lavenmeyer, who took Leberg into custody, allowing him to ride behind him on his horse. When Lavenmeyer dismounted to open the gate at the road entering his ranch, Leberg struck him on the head with a hammer which he found tied to Lavenmeyer's saddle. The latter fell stunned and Leberg beat him over the head until he became tired. Leberg left his victim lying in the road and went to his camp at the river side. He returned soon after and with a pocket knife cut Lavenmeyer's throat from ear to ear and attempted to scalp him. The burning stack attracted the neighbors to the scene, who found the mutilated body. A posse was formed and Leberg was caught a mile or two away riding on Levenmeyer's horse.

He submitted to arrest quietly and even boasted of his crime, saying that he had drank the blood of his victim. Leberg was brought here and lodged in jail. At noon today Sheriff Brown started for Pueblo with his prisoner for better protection, but was met by a crowd of 300 people, who protested against Leberg's removal, and he was again placed in jail here. Although there were frequent reports of mobs organizing to dispose of Leberg, not until tonight did they set about carrying out the work of vengeance. Soon after dark several hundred men and boys appeared at the jail, but were refused admittance. Almost immediately they began the attack on the jail.

TO PREVENT ISSUE OF GREAT NORTHERN STOCK.

St. Paul, Dec. 26.—Atty. Gen. Young of Minnesota today began an action against the Great Northern railroad to prevent the issue of $60,000,000 of new stock recently authorized by the board of directors.

A permanent injunction against the company, its officers, agents and servants, is asked for, restraining them from collecting amounts due on any subscriptions therefor or from taking any action to carry out the plans of the stock issue until the company shall have made application in writing to the railroad and warehouse commission of Minnesota and procured its consent to that issue. It also asks for a temporary injunction pending all litigation.

The bill of complaint recites that the Great Northern's original authorized capital stock was $30,000,000, that being the limit fixed by its charter and that between Feb. 1, 1890, and March 1, 1896, the defendant made several large increases of stock until on March 1, 1906, its capital stock aggregated substantially $150,000,000. That all these increases were first made without application to the state railroad commission as required by law; that defendant has determined to again increase its capital stock this time to $210,000,000, its stockholders having been invited to subscribe for their prorata of same and that no application has been made to the state railroad commission.

The attorney general contends that unless such proceedings are restrained, not only will the state be deprived of investigating the propriety and purposes of the issue but that the company proposes to pay the same dividends at the rate of 7 per cent on the increased as upon the present capitalization, thus increasing the fixed annual charges of the defendant by the sum of $4,200,000, a great portion of which will have to be paid by the road's Minnesota patrons.

The Great Northern officials were served with the papers in the case this afternoon.

THE PEOPLE AND THE RAILROADS

Gov. Gooding Says Trouble is Determination to Get Dividends Without Regard to Service.

RIGHTS OF PUBLIC IGNORED.

Idaho's Executive Will Recommend Creation of a Railway Commission.

Washington, Dec. 26.—Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane, who has direct charge of ameliorating coal and car famine conditions in the northwest, is in daily receipt of hundreds of letters from coal dealers and residents in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wyoming and Idaho. Some of the writers go to the extent of saying that in many instances freight trains have not passed railroad stations for a month or six weeks and that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been lost to farmers and elevator men, particularly in North Dakota, by reason of their failure to obtain cars to move their wheat and flax.

Commissioner Lane today received a letter which is a sample of many, from Cheyenne, N. D., which stated that on Nov. 2 a car was billed from that point and that on the 17th inst. the car was still on the sidetrack and a freight train had not passed up or down for weeks.

Gov. Gooding, to whom Commissioner Lane had written for information relating to conditions in Idaho, states:

"The serious trouble, it seems to me, is the fact that among the transportation companies the one important consideration in their management is the securing of dividends without regard to the service rendered to the people. The latter consideration is entirely lost sight of."

The governor of Idaho informs the commissioner that he will recommend the creation of a railroad commission in his annual message to the legislature. Gov. Gooding includes in his letter to Commissioner Lane a copy of a report made by the immigration commissioner, who, after an analysis of exsisting conditions, concludes that the coal famine in western Wyoming, south and southeast Idaho, is due to a shortage in motive power and cars.

GERMAN CENTER PARTY.

Rome, Dec. 26.—Reports received by the vatican says the situation in the German center party has improved and the chances of its nominees at the general election have increased rather than decreased. It is added that an understanding with the German government is probable even before the election.

According to advices received at the vatican from Paris a strong feeling of resentment exists in the Clemenceau cabinet against the minister of public instruction, M. Briand, as the result of his recent circulars on the religious question.

JAPANESE FLOCKING TO RIO GRANDE BORDER.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 26.—Japanese are flocking to the Rio Grande border attempting to get into the United States. Most of them are penniless and said to be discharged soldiers from the Japanese army. Yesterday 54 were refused admission here and last night a big bunch was smuggled over at Fort Hancock, Tex., but this morning they were captured by immigration officials from El Paso, who are patroling the entire border.

SHAH'S DEATH IMMINENT.

Teheran, Dec. 26.—The condition of the shah has taken a sharp turn for the worse and his death is expected from hour to hour.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26.—Official advices received here from Teheran say the death of the shah is imminent.

CONGO AFFAIRS.

Belgium Annexing Country in Order Better to Deal With Them.

Washington, Dec. 26.—The letter of J. Pierpont Morgan, Dr. Lyman Abbott and others addressed to Secy. Root, urging him to use the moral support of the United States in the direction of correcting abuses said to exist in the Congo region, it was stated at the department today, would be taken into consideration along with other similar communications on the subject.

Secy. Root, in speaking of the matter and of the recent statement in the Belgian parliament, 'that the purpose of Belgium in annexing the Congo Free state was in order to enable that country to deal with the subject in a more effective way said that all this country could do was to decorously and politely urge Belgium to greater activity.

IRELAND'S SUMMARY.

It Has Not Found Favor With the Vatican Authorities.

Rome, Dec. 26.—The local press has published the summary which appeared in the Paris Matin of the statement issued by Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul on the Franco-Vatican conflict. This summary has not found favor with the vatican authorities, as it blames the French clergy, who are praised by the pope. The Osservatore Romano says this summary should be accepted with reserve as coming from an infected source, and explains that the correspondent of the Matin in New York may have misunderstood the archbishop.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 26.—Felipe Januragui, aged 25 years, said to be the son of wealthy parents of Durango, Mexico, and to have been expelled from that country for connection with a revolutionary movement, attempted to commit suicide here this afternoon and fired three bullets into his chest. He has a fair chance of recovery.

Juaragui is said to have gone to St. Louis after his expulsion from Mexico and joined in the publication of a Mexican paper in that city in the interests of the revolutionary party. He left there six weeks ago and came to Detroit, where he first earned a precarious living as a cigar salesman, and then secured work translating Spanish for a local printing house. He left a farewell letter written in Spanish, in which he declared that he "succumbed to the ecstasies of love."

MINER HICKS.

Signs a Contract to Lecture for One Year.

Bakersfield, Cal., Dec. 26.—Miner Hicks this morning signed a contract for $500 a week, to continue for a year, with N. J. Schmidt, a contractor of Berkeley. This will mean for the now famous miner the sum of $26,000 for a year's public appearance on the lecture pitform. With Hicks will go Harry Linville, who assisted in the rescue and two of the miners who bored the rescue drift. Hicks will tell of his experiences while entombed in the shaft at Edison.

TAD TALKS WITH BATTLING NELSON

Durable Dane Eager as Ever to Defend Manager Billy Nolan.

AS TO GANS-HERMAN FIGHT.

Hegewisch Lad Says One Cannot Tell When the Colored Champion is Making Fake Bout.

Tad, writing from New York under date of Dec. 24, says:

Battling Nelson, the "Mayor of Hegewisch," blew into New York yesterday morning with a smile on his face and enough of that Tiffany junk upon his person to start a young hock shop.

Three years ago when I met Nelson in 'Frisco he wore one of those old rings made out of a horseshoe nail. Yesterday he had the gilt stuff so thick on him that the only thing you could get a peek at was his cauliflower ear.

He looked good enough. He wasn't marked a bit from the great Goldfield fight, but, my, how he does hate a certain gentleman by the name of Gans who at one time resided in Baltimore.

After he shot a lot of bull my way about his monologue stunt on the stage and his coming trip to Europe, I kind of eased in a question about the Goldfield fight. Gee, I didn't even have time to get my hooks up before he let fly with both barrels.

"He quit like a dog," piped Dane as he sneered and waved a loose right in the air.

THEY SENT OUT MANY PHONY STORIES.

"You know they tried to knock me and sent out phony stories from the west about the fight, but as true as I'm sitting here that nigger quit. You know he took every punch we knew on me. He fought clever and then he slugged; he batted them out every way he knew and then, after getting tired, he didn't know what to do.

"He thought I might be there for a month. His punches didn't bother me any more than if they were slaps. The round before he quit I beat him so hard about the body that he vomited blood five different times and was all in for fair. You know, he was so weak that he could hardly go any more and I was backing him all over the ring. He knows in his heart that he had enough, and the very first chance he had to drop he did and got away with it.

"A game white fellow can lick a nigger any time they start, and I was there to lick that fellow or get killed. You know he's the best fighter I ever met and all that, but he will never fight me again. He says he broke his hand in the eighth round. Well, if he fought and punched that way for thirty-four rounds after that he's the greatest broken-handed fighter that ever lived, you can take it from me. Was I blind? No, my left eye was closed, but that didn't keep me back. I had him so bad that he couldn't draw a good breath. You know a fellow can feel the other man weakening, and honestly he was dead when he dropped. There was no foul there at all. You know he couldn't stand another punch in the stomach, he was so sore, and he just flopped over and took a chance with Siler. I'm too tough for that nigger and you can just go and bet your hat that the next time we meet, if they will make him fight me, I'll lick him in twenty rounds. There is only one fellow that I ever licked who came back and showed up good. That's little Attel. You know it sounds like big talk for me to say this, but everyone I licked went out of the game for good. Look, there's Art Simms, Canole, Welch, Hanlon, Britt, Herrera and Kid Sullivan. Not one of those guys has ever fought a good battle since I licked him, and you take it from me the first strong guy that gets Gans will win sure.

CAN'T DOPE THE GANS-HERMAN FIGHT.

"I can't dope the Herman fight, no. You never can tell when Gans is going to fake. He might be a big favorite in this fight and then throw them all down and lose to Herman in a round.

"Why do they knock Nolan? Let them knock him. Bill has been on the level with me. He has been honest from the start and all I ask is that a fellow treat me square. I'm for Nolan as long as he is on the level. He gets the money and I fight. Yes, Bill is on his way to England now, and I'll leave on the 26th to meet him over there. Oh, I might fight in London; I can't tell what he has done. If he signs me up, yes, I'll fight any of them. I don't see anyone here to fight except Gans and he won't come through."

San Francisco, Dec. 26.—The Emeryville track today was a sea of mud, but the attendance was fair for an off day. The fourth race furnished a big surprise, Banposal, at odds of 40 to 1, winning from Sir Russell and St. Francis, both heavily favored by the public.

PACKAGE FOR HERMAN.

Manhattan Citizens Gave Kid 2,000 Shares of Mining Stock and Nugget.

Kid Herman is now owner of a package of mining stock which may make him sick. The popular Chicago lad did not buy this stock. He did not have to. The type of generosity to be found only in mining camps is responsible, writes "Wallie" Young from Tonopah.

Accompanied by several [illegible] drove across the frozen desert in an automobile yesterday to Manhattan, a booming camp without railroad connections, sixty miles out from Tonopah. The friends were Nate Lewis, the Kid's manager; Adam Ryan, the Kid's sparring partner; P. F. Lana, the Casino Athletic club's photographer; J. H. Noonan, the treasurer of the club; W. S. Johnson of the big Casino, and myself, the Kid's friend.

Renfro, the auto man, shot his big, new car over the icy road in less than two hours. The town of Manhattan was out to meet the Kid and his party, and the hospitality they displayed was enough to thaw the snow. It was the real brand—no substitute. It was so real that the Kid came away with a thousand shares of Manhattan-America stock, a thousand shares of Chipmunk, a gold nugget large enough to be a curiosity, a suit of corduroys—and a feeling that southern Nevada is a pretty good place to stick around in.

For they certainly gave the Kid and his party a whirl. A dinner which had been ordered three days in advance—and it was a dinner which the old Palace grill in San Francisco would have been proud to serve—was the first thing on the program. Everybody made a speech, some speeches being better than others.

Then came the presentations. C. E. Mayne, Manhattan's biggest broker, handed over the nugget.

"That's for you, Kid," he said. "But in order to cary it you have got to look like a miner. You ought to have a suit of corduroys. Able, take the Kid down to your store and fit him out."

Able is Dave Jacob, the camp's haberdasher. The best suit in the store went to the Kid. Then H. E. MacMiller, superintendent of the Chipmunk mine, came forward with a stousand shares of stock in that valuable property. It was Mayne's turn to give away stuff again, so he repaired to his office and wrote out a thousand shares of stock in the Manhattan-America.

These presentations were simply incidental to the reception. That was the confectionery. The Manhattan Athletic club, as handsome a club as there is in Nevada, was thrown open to the town's guests and every member of the Kid's party was given a visitor's card, good for any time. Charles Kellhofer, the manager of the club, was the man behind the cards, and Bert Harmon, Jim Sullivan and Jack Humphrey assisted. Their portion of the entertainment consisted in showing the party around and being good fellows and they didn't even have to try to do that.

Herman had made the trip with the expectation of acting as referee of a fight to be held between two miners. One of the miners was there, ready and willing to fight, but the other was not. He was hiding behind a tree on the hill. There was no fight.

Anyone with any sort of an imagination will know that it was not the easiest thing in the world to get away from Manhattan. Penfro started the engine in his car, and let it run for fully a half hour before he could get his passengers on the leather. When he did, nobody—I am speaking not only for myself but also for the bunch—wanted to leave. Manhattan looked good. It surely did.

On the way back to "the heart of the land of gold" a lone horseman passed the auto. Kid Herman grabbed his nugget and his stock and said, "Protest me!" The horseman rode on. There was no holdup.

YAMASHITA MISSING.

Japanese Wrestling Instructor Fails to Return to American College.

Washington, Dec. 26.—After months of waiting for its instructor in jiu jitsu the navy department has given up search for the missing Yamashita, who was employed at the desire of the president to instruct the members of the naval academy in the art of Japanese wrestling.

Yamashita made a great impression on the president more than a year ago by an exhibition of his skill at the White House, and it was at the instance of the president that an appropriation was obtained from Congress to defray the expense of this for more physical training at the naval school. Yamashita served a year and then disappeared, and although he has been reported as having returned to his native country, efforts to get him back have failed. The authorities say that they are unable to get a substitute for him.

Every Heart Beat

Forces about 8 ounces of blood out of the heart, and sends it coursing through the veins to the remotest part of the body. This is the amount required by nature to nourish and sustain your body. Every ounce less than this means a shortage in nature's supply of building-up material. A weak heart cannot meet this demand, and consequently you suffer. If your heart skips a beat, or flutters, palpitates, pains you, or you have shortness of breath, you may be sure that the heart is working imperfectly.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure will strengthen the heart muscles and nerves.

"I had been a great sufferer for 15 years. At the time I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I had been confined to my bed for four months. I had frequent sinking spells, sometimes as many as three in a day, during which my heart would seem to stop beating, necessitating the calling of a physician to resuscitate me. Before finishing the first bottle the sinking spells had ceased, and I took altogether five bottles for a complete cure. I now enjoy perfect health, and am very grateful for this wonderful medicine, for it is the means of my being with my family now."

"DRUNKENNESS"

Cigarette And Tobacco Habits Cured by

TRIB.

The man who drinks whiskey to excess is speeding his own heart, exhausting his vitality and drawing heavily on his future energy. Try this: Take a mouthful of whiskey and see how long the nerves will allow you to hold it in your mouth; before a minutes has passed you will swallow it to get rid of it. The nerves of taste and smell are so adjusted as to protect the stomach against dangerous foods and drinks, but when whiskey is tossed down your throat the nerves are not given a chance to act upon it. Tobacco is less dangerous but danger and tobacco can consistently be considered one and the same.
