LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THEATRE.—To-morrow evening will be presented the beautiful comedy of "Married Life," in which Miss Adams, Carrie Carter and Mrs. A. Clawson, and Messrs. Graham, Thorne, Marden and Dunne will appear. To conclude with the farce of "Horatio Thomas Sparkins."

BEING BUILT UP.—Several new buildings are in process of erection on the recently vacant plat of ground opposite the Theatre on First South street, the most conspicuous and furthest advanced of which is one on the corner, owned, we understand, by Mr. John C. Graham, the upper part of which he designs occupying as the office of the Footlights. That part of the city is fast becoming a portion of the business centre.

ESCAPED.—We are informed that Boigan, a prisoner confined at Camp Douglas, escaped from custody. There is a rumor floating around that a Federal officer followed him a little beyond the outskirts of town, and that he got near enough to him to call upon him to stop, to which invitation Boigan is said to have betrayed not the slightest willingness to respond, but made off as fast as he could.

Boigan is the fellow who fired his pistol into the grand restaurant last winter and who a short time afterward shot and killed a man known as "Big Ned," in the Revere House saloon.

It is freely stated on the street that the notorious Hickman had also left for parts unknown. He stayed at a hotel in town the other night and started next morning avowedly for the purpose of visiting Camp Floyd.

"MORMON TROUBLES."—The following appears in the San Francisco Chronicle, preceded with a great flourish of sensational headings about "Great Excitement," "Mormon Outrages," "Bloodshed Imminent," etc.—

"SALT LAKE CITY, April 16.—The community was intensely excited to-day on the reception of the decision of the United States Supreme Court, which practically places the Courts of the Territory under the control of the Mormons. The Gentiles are depressed, but bitter and defiant, determined to take care of themselves, if the Courts or Congress can't afford protection. The Mormons are greatly elated and arrogant and on receipt of the telegraphic report of the decision assumed supreme power over the property and liberty of citizens. The police have been specially busy, arresting saloon keepkeepers and merchants, not taking out, or without licenses. They assaulted Jo Silver, a leading apostate, strangled him, dragged him over the counter of his store, and brutally hustled him through the store to the city prison. A great crowd of Gentiles soon followed, and Judge Haydon denounced the outrage and demanded his release, which was granted. The prisoner gave bonds to appear Monday next.

"The outrage meets with hearty reprehension from the decent portion of the community. A general determination is expressed to organize and resist the Mormon outrages, since the Courts are wiped out and Brigham Young is again in the ascendant. Congress alone can afford protection to Gentiles, and must be quick to prevent civil disturbance. Either Americans or Mormons must rule Utah; there can be no middle ground. A crisis is rapidly approaching. Voorhees' bill is indorsed by all Gentiles."

The ambitious individual who sent the above dispatch must have been crazy. That is the most charitable construction that we can put upon this extraordinary production. We do not recollect ever seeing a dispatch crammed fuller with mendacity.

A decent and proper satisfaction was experienced here by the lovers of justice, wholesome law and good order when the news of the decision of the Supreme Court became known. But "arrogance," "assuming of the like were nowhere manifested, or existed for the "Mormon outrages," "brutal murder," "bloodshed imminent," and all that kind of stuff is mere Munchausenism, nothing more in it. No manifest victory was ever received more quietly, more modestly, more temperately than was this judicial one by the citizens here. The news indeed was received in a most admirable spirit, which was an unexpected surprise to those who wished it might be otherwise.

In regard to the arrest of Mr. Silver, his own foolish and fierce resistance to the city officers was the cause of the little official compulsion that was necessary to effect his appearance at the City Hall, and he has had the good sense since to pay the fine assessed against him for violation of the municipal ordinances.

The great swelling words about "organized resistance," "courts wiped out," "protection to Gentiles," "civil disturbance," "Americans or Mormons must rule," "no middle ground," "crisis approaching," and all that, are vanity and lamentations. If there is in the whole Union, a quieter city than Salt Lake City, we are glad of it. But all is quiet here, and the heavens will not fall over Utah this week.

UNDER ARREST.—Charles Marion and John Dowd are under arrest in the city jail on a charge of being concerned in robbing a woman named Nellie Hutchinson of a gold watch, bracelet and chain. The case is set for examination this afternoon.

Marion is an old offender, having been placed under bonds on several occasions during the past winter to answer in the District Court to a variety of charges, among them one for pocket-picking in Richards' skating hall and another for robbing the premises of Mr. Charles Trowbridge.

Dowd, it will be recollected, is the man who was shot through the liver in the Revere House one night during last winter.

A DANGEROUS MANIAC.—During the confinement, at the City jail, of William Van Valkenburg, lately deceased, he gave a knife to a man named Sherbourne, a maniac, who has been in jail in charge of the City officers for a long time. A variety of devices have been employed to get Sherbourne to give up the knife, but which have proved, so far, unavailing. Those acquainted with that individual's tendencies state that he would not hesitate to use the knife upon any person who might come within his reach. There is but little fear, however, we are informed, of his doing any personal harm with it, as he has due regard for the preservation of his own person.

FATAL ACCIDENT—A RICH STRIKE.—The following were received last night by Dow. Telegraph:

Ploche, 18.—A man named John Cotter, while working at the windlass of the Kinston mine, yesterday evening, lost his footing and fell to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of over 100 feet. He died instantly, his back being broken, together with other fatal injuries. He was mangled almost beyond recognition.

A rich strike is reported in the American Flag mine, and the excitement regarding it is on the increase. Heavy speculations are in progress, and mining jobbers are preparing for heavy work during the coming summer.

The Ely Record appeared yesterday morning enlarged and improved, and will henceforth be issued tri-weekly.

The weather is moderating and the snow which fell during the past few days has nearly disappeared. The roads are very bad, and, as a consequence, mail communication is very irregular and unsatisfactory.

Telegraph Communication Re-opened.

Alta, 18.—The line to Alta, Little Cottonwood, is again open for business; having been carried away by snowslides for some distance, a temporary delay was caused, which has now been overcome by building a new line around the locality of the latest snowslides.

Per Deseret Telegraph.

We are indebted to the courtesy of President Geo. A. Smith for the following dispatch, received by him this morning:

ST. GEORGE, April 19.

Prest. George A. Smith—The temple road on the Black Ridge, to the quarry, is nearly made. The new road on Hurricane Ridge will be passable by conference—the 3rd of May. The snow is deep on the Pine Valley mountains. The crops look well. The health of the people is good. The Sebrich Indians are all here, hungry and stealing.
