

SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES

HURTON'S RANCH, NORTH OF KAYVILLE, July 24, 1878.
We, the undersigned, having witnessed the working of the Osborne Self-Blinding Harvester, pronounce it a perfect success. There is no grain wasted and the delivery is perfect, every bundle being dropped gently, with the butt end down. We can safely recommend the Osborne as a perfect Harvester and Binder.

STRECK'S RANCH, NORTH OF KAYVILLE, July 24, 1878.
A. J. JOHNSON:

Dear Sir—The Osborne Self-Blinding Harvester purchased of you, we started to-day, and though I had never seen a Self-Blinder before, I found that an hour's practice enabled me to work it in the most satisfactory manner. It seems far less complicated than other binders and less liable to get out of order. The cutting and elevating is all that could be desired, and the binding is perfect itself. The delivery is so easy and gentle, the butt end of the sheaf going down first, that dry as the grain is I lose nothing by shattering.

WALTER STRECK,
P. O. Address, Farmington.

I have a few of these celebrated binders left, and those wanting a first class Machine, should call and examine them. I would be pleased to go with customers wishing to purchase, to the harvest field, and show them the machine at work.

GILLESPIE'S EXTRACTS. The best in use.

AMONG BELIEVERS FOUND ON PAGE is the faith which the public entertain in the efficacy of GILLESPIE'S EXTRACT SOAP as a remedy for skin diseases and a beautifier of the complexion. It has widely superseded the greasy ointments, unguents and other oleaginous compounds used for cutaneous eruptions, and the ladies declare that it is far preferable to any cosmetic, as a means of whitening the skin and removing tan, pimples, freckles, blotches and the like. Both the medical profession and the press have borne evidence to the salutary qualities of this standard external specific for all diseases affecting the cuticle. Sold by all druggists.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Lost.—The person who picked up a set of teeth will confer a favor by leaving them at this office, for the owner.

From the East.—To-day, we were favored with a call from Mr. Woodman, representing the firm of Wm. H. Wood & Co., Cincinnati, manufacturers of the celebrated Monitor Stoves. Mr. Woodman is now stopping at the Townsend House.

Causes for Thankfulness.—George K. Bowring writes from Croyden, Morgan County:

"Out crops never looked better than at the present. Not a grasshopper is to be seen in this locality. We feel to thank heaven for these blessings."

Runaway.—A runaway, single horse and light wagon, dashed along First South Street, at tremendous speed, this afternoon. A man rushed out from the sidewalk, causing the animal to make a quick turn and fall, thus stopping him. The damage was slight.

The Seventies.—The Presidents and members of the Seventies will please take notice that their regular monthly meeting will be held on Wednesday, the 10th inst., at half past 7 p.m., at the Council House. A punctual attendance is solicited.

JOSEPH YOUNG, Secy.

A. P. ROCKWOOD, JOHN VAN COTT.

ROBERT CAMPBELL, Clerk.

Salt Lake City, July 8th, 1878.

Rather Dry.—A correspondent writes from Goshute, Utah County:

"For several days before the 4th we had very heavy winds, but on that day we had a very nice condition for the occasion and enjoyed ourselves. Since our quarterly conference at Provo, we have had but very little water, not enough to run the flour mill, and in the town only a little stream is running. That is our proportion inasmuch that part of the time we cannot get a drink of water."

A Free Ride.—Yesterday morning the girl Sadie Wright, who has become somewhat notorious for riding about in other people's carriages, took possession of the house and buggy of Brother George Carless, which were tied up near the west gate of the Temple Block.

Mr. Arthur Day, after hunting till four o'clock in the afternoon, found the girl and four companions with the vehicle, near the south-eastern corner of the city. Sadie Wright was taken to the City Hall.

A Delicate Operation.—We are informed by Brother Thomas Atkin, of Tooele, that his son Edward, a lad of fourteen years, had the misfortune to get a pumpkin seed lodged in his windpipe, which gave the little fellow extreme distress and anxiety. He was brought to this city and placed in charge of Dr. Anderson, who, after the administration of chloroform, made an opening into the windpipe, or trachea, and, assisted by Dr. J. S. Richards, Mr. Dr. Pratt and Miss Aikin, a student of Mrs. Pratt's, extracted the seed successfully.

We are pleased to learn that the wound has nearly healed, and the boy will soon recover from his dangerous condition. He is stopping at the residence of Brother James Brown, in the 17th Ward.

Base Ball.—The final game of the Denver versus Deseret series was played on Saturday afternoon, and closed with a score of 9 to 5 in favor of the former. Though the skill of the Denver players as a whole, is an acknowledged fact, their victory was, no doubt, due to the acquisition they had in the person of Mr. Meyer, of the Deseret, who played behind the bat, and withstood successfully the swiftness of Otero's pitching, which seems to be the strong point of the club's success. Mr. Reed who was catcher for the Deseret, also did well in his new position, but the game, in general, was not notable for unusual excellence.

To-day the match between the Red Stockings and the Browns is being played, the last in which the Denver club will participate. Much interest is manifested in the result, which, as we go to press, is yet undecided.

Departed this Life.—It will be seen by obituary notice in another column, that Elder John H. Picknell departed this life yesterday morning. Deceased was an old citizen of Utah, and was favorably known in the community, being a man of sterling honesty and integrity of character. In his exterior he was somewhat rough, but in his feeling as tender as a child, having "a heart that could feel for another." His generosity toward every good cause was proverbial, and his desires for the welfare of the work of God were never questioned. He was President of the 13th Quorum of Seventies, and held, during his career in the Church, a number of other responsible offices.

The demise of Elder Picknell was rather unexpected and sudden, comparatively few of his numerous friends being aware of his illness.

District Court.—Monday, July 8th.

John A. Marshall was admitted to practice as an attorney in this court.

Samuel Smith et al vs. J. M. Richardson et al; motion for a new trial submitted and overruled; defendants except.

The People vs. Rory D. McDonald, indicted for murder; jury not empaneled.

SALT LAKE STAKE CONFERENCE.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 9, 1878.

8 p.m.

After the opening service, President Joseph E. Taylor presented the members of the High Council, the clerk of the Stake and High Council and the home missionaries. There were unanimously sustained as at the last conference, with the exception that the name of Elder Benjamin F. Cummings, Sr., was omitted as a home missionary, he being on a mission to the States.

Elder Orson Pratt delivered a short but powerful address, on the negligence of the saints of this Stake in attending meetings, while in stated stakes their largest meeting house will not hold the people, on such occasions. He urged the saints to wake up at a sense of their duty for the Lord had commanded his saints to meet together, and the priesthood should instruct the saints in their duties, and set them a worthy example, or the displeasure of the Almighty would be kindled against this people.

The following brethren bore testimony to the truth of the work of the Lord, and exhorted the saints to faithfulness: Bishop James Crane, Bishop Andrew Burt, and Elders Soren Jensen, Theodore Brandt and M. M. Steele, the three latter being returned missionaries, who related their experience abroad.

Elder Wilford Woodruff addressed the conference, bearing testimony to the remarks of Bro. Pratt. He felt that, if this people did not repent, the judgments of the Lord were at our door. Both the living and the dead were looking to us to do a work for them and if we neglected our duties their blood would be answered upon our heads.

President Angus M. Cannon read a report from the superintendent of the Temple Quarry, of the amount of work done by the wards of this Stake in that place. He also read a notice from the Tabernacle Committee, stating that they were using a great deal of tire-iron and round iron in the Stake Tabernacle, and requesting those who had iron of the above description that they could spare, to donate the same for that work.

Conference adjourned till 10 a.m. on Sunday, July 7th.

After singing, prayer was offered by Elder Elias Morris.

Sunday, July 7th, 10 a.m.

After the opening exercises, Elder George Q. Cannon addressed the Conference. He appreciated these meetings very much, more particularly because he felt that he so seldom had an opportunity of meeting with the saints, he related his experience at Washington. This people were becoming better understood every day, and those who understood them and had visited among them, though they might not agree with their religious views, were their warmest friends. The necessity for Utah being admitted as a State was beginning to be felt by thinking minds of the nation. But whether we were admitted or not, he regarded us as very little importance, for the Lord would overrule all things for the good of his people, if they were faithful. He felt much and more impressed with the wisdom of God, in selecting this place for the gathering of his people, when witnessing the uncertainty, fear and want that existed elsewhere, even in places where they seemed to have more natural advantages than we. Since the death of the late President B. Young people had begun to regard the people as a more favored and light for the impression existed that Mormonism would cease with Brigham Young; but, when they found that the work did not depend upon one man, they were disappointed and began to realize to some extent, the true position of the people of this Territory. Many were willing to confess that even the practice of polygamy was preferable to the state of society existing in the world.

Elder Joseph F. Smith delivered a powerful discourse upon the doctrine of celestial marriage. Conference adjourned till 2 p.m.

After singing by the choir, prayer was offered by Elder Levi W. Hancock.

2 p.m.

Opening exercises.

Elder Brigham Young felt that the speakers during this conference had been actuated by the spirit of God. One of the greatest testimonies there was of the truth of this work was the fact that the people of every land when they embraced it were actuated by the same spirit as we are, and were united with the Saints of these valleys in sustaining the priesthood.

He warned the Saints to avoid the evils indulged in by the Jaredites and Nephites. Their destruction was the effect of a gradual departure from the principles of the gospel, and if we were preserved it would be because we were more faithful than they. He concluded with an urgent exhortation to parents to look after the welfare of their children, that they depart not from the ways of the Lord, but assist in bearing off the work which they had spent their lives for. If the people of this Stake would set the saints of other stakes a proper example, the work would roll on with tenfold rapidity, and the Elders abroad feel its influence and be much more effective in their labors. Many seemed to think that the United Order was a failure, but this was a mistake; for the center stake of Zion could never be built up on any other principle.

President John Taylor delivered a discourse upon the duties of the priesthood and the Saints generally. He spoke with great power upon the coldness and neglect of duty manifested on the part of many of the brethren. These he urged to thorough awakening and repentance, stating that unless they changed for the better they would incur the sore displeasure of God. He gave many valuable instructions, concerning which an adequate idea could not be conveyed in a brief synopsis.

Elder Orson Pratt followed, in the same strain, speaking with great earnestness and force.

The name of Elder John Nicholson was presented to the Conference by Elder George Q. Cannon, he having been called to go on a mission to Europe. The vote to sustain him on his mission was unanimous.

Conference adjourned to October 5th, 1878, at 10 a.m., at the Large Tabernacle.

An anthem was sung by the choir.

Benediction by Patriarch John Smith.

W. W. TAYLOR, Clerk of the Stake.
