Unless a change of front is made the attendance of children at the public schools tomorrow will be the lightest since 1899.

The decorators for the Alta Club ball will begin their work on Thursday morning. By night fall of that day the club rooms will present scenes of bewildering beauty.

Marriage licenses were issued today to Peter T. Smith, 50, and Emily E. Rogers, 41, both of Montrose, Colo.; Otto Gulbranson, 23, and Marie Winger, 25, both of Salt Lake City.

The report that Peter Lindstrom, the terribly injured Bingham miner, was about to lose the sight of his remaining eye is scarcely correct. The optic was dressed by Dr. Snow again today and reported as progressing nicely.

The Rev. Mr. Oliver concluded his evangelistic services in this city last night and took his departure today. Mr. Griffiths, his associate, will remain and conduct the work at the lift church for another week.

Hon. Hoyt Sherman, temporary chairman of the Utah Republican club, has designated the committee to make arrangements for a big celebration of Lincoln day on February 12th, and the committee will meet this evening at No. 25 west, Second South.

Six members of the Fort Douglas hospital corps left today for Angel Island, Cal., where they will attend the military school of instruction in hospital duties. The squad, which includes John Hansen, Dick Patterson, William J. Miller, James E. Rawlins and James H. Sawyer, is in charge of Charles L. McFarley. John Gallacher, the well-known restaurateur, whose place of business was recently destroyed by fire, is to be made the recipient of a public benefit in the near future. The probabilities are that the event will occur in the Salt Lake Theater on February 5th, a fine concert and literary program will be arranged for.

Rufus K. Cobb, the obliging and efficient stenographer in the county attorney's office, has resigned his position to take a similar one under Clark Bennett, of the Oregon Short Line. Mr. Cobb's successor will be. It is understood that there are quite a number of applicants for the position.

It is learned that the two sons of the late L. Pollock, formerly editor of the Salt Lake Times, and who died at San Salvador, will complete the novel on which their father was engaged at the time of his death. The book is called "The Land of Manana," (the land of tomorrow), and is said to be a fascinating tale of life in Central America. Mr. Pollock had finished all but three chapters when he was stricken with yellow fever and died.

The order of Railroad Conductors given their first annual ball of the season at Christensen's next Tuesday evening. SECOND HAND STORE ROBBED

Watches and Razors Taken From Ingelman's Place.

S. Ingelman's second-hand store, No. 25 south State street, was broken into last night and a number of articles, including two or three watches and several razors, were purloined. The thieves made their entrance by forcing open the rear door. The police were notified of the burglary and are now at work on the case.

SIGNS FOLLOW

THE BELIEVERS.

Present Scourge Directs Attention to Word of Wisdom.

SAINTS CALL IN THE ELDERS

President Cannon Speaks—Calls Attention to the Broad Teachings of Joseph Smith.

A fair sized congregation attended the services in the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon.

The choir sang, "Behold the mountain of the Lord."

Prayer was offered by Elder Samuel W. Richards.

The choir and congregation joined in singing, "Our God we raise to Thee," after which Elder C. W. Penrose, who presided at the meeting, introduced Elder Fred B. Brooks, who has lately returned from a mission to the States.

In spite of the feeling of weakness an Elder always feels in such a position, Elder Brooks expressed gratitude for the privilege of addressing the Saints. He had been home two months and thought it unlikely that he would be called upon to occupy such a position at home among the Saints, many of whom were better qualified than he to dispense the bread of life. The difference between speaking at home to such people and addressing the people in the darkness to the light of wisdom, in the latter case, no matter how unlearned the Elder may be, has something new to give to many of those who listen to him, which gives him a degree of confidence. The Elders in Indiana, where Elder Brooks lived, are doing well. In some cities there are five or six laboring very successfully. Two branches of the Church have been organized; also two Sunday schools.

Some distinction was encountered at one time through the efforts of the Elders of the reorganized church, but that is now a thing of the past and has no bearing on the present success of the work. He expressed pleasure at being called home missionary, so that he could do more for the work of God. He felt as if he were not doing enough, and if it were possible would like to labor in the mission field all his life, and assist in bringing those who are in the darkness to the light of wisdom.

Allusion was made to the name "Mormon," as applied to Latter-day Saints. The speaker did not like it. He wanted to live and he wanted others to live as he lived. He felt that the name of Latter-day Saints was worthy of the name of Latter-day Saints.

Reference was made to the third chapter of 2 Nephi, where prophecies are found concerning Joseph Smith. The speaker wondered how many are able to read the words of the prophet as a true prophet. He told of his own experience and how easy it was to preach upon the streets and visit the people's houses on his mission, when he had received that testimony.

The joyfully bright and position of Joseph Smith and the hatred that he had received as his portion in life from many of his fellow men were then touched on in proof of his divine mission. The speaker came out of Nauvoo, and this similarity of treatment, the speaker thought a testimony of the former's divine mission. It shows that the same effects flow from the same cause. At one time it was asked, "Can any good come out of Nauvoo; now the speaker said, "Can any light or truth come from Salt Lake?" It was shown that the Book of Mormon prophecies were fulfilled, which also helps to prove Joseph Smith a true prophet.

Elder B. R. Penrose, of Bear Lake, who lately returned from England, was the next speaker. He had labored in the Newcastle conference in the north of England for two years, enjoying every minute of the work. His progress there, more converts had been made in the last year than he had made during any two years for ten years previously. He felt somewhat embarrassed in addressing so many people, as his English was not perfect, but he felt quite small. The speaker told of a conference of Church of England people he was privileged to attend while away. He was specially interested in an address of a group of Borneo, who stated that the labor of seven years had resulted in the conversion of two people in that place, and they were Japanese who had been educated in England. They had not been successful in learning the English language in that time. Mention was made of the fact that the Germans the Elders are frequently able to speak the language in three months. This was also true of the islands of the sea, and he considered that it showed upon whom the Spirit of God rested. The signs promised the believers of early days followed the believers of these days, which shows that God is with His people.

In connection with the speaker urged the Saints to live the truth and express his determination to do so that he might gain the Spirit of the Lord.

Elder Benjamin F. Goddard in the course of some interesting remarks, expressed the hope that the fact that parents are willing to part with children and have them go to the ends of the earth for two or three years was not that they loved them less but that they loved God more. Reference was also made by the speaker to the departure of his only son on a mission, and though it was hard to part, he said he would rather see him go even if he was sure he would never return. Many others felt the same way. The hope of blessings in this life and that which is to come inspires these feelings.

Allusion was also made to the case of a young man in New Zealand who learned the Maori tongue sufficiently well in six weeks to be able to speak to the natives in public, which goes to show that the gifts of the Spirit are enjoyed today.

The speaker referred to the gathering of the people to Utah from all over the world, and the building up of this commonwealth, as being great testimonies of the truth. It was all happening in fulfillment of prophecy. A few of the head letters of the Gospel when the Elders were sent to part with children, which is to come inspires these feelings.

DEBATE ON VACCINATION.

Further Action of Board of Pardon at Saturday's Meeting.

In addition to the granting of executive clemency to five State prisoners Saturday the board of pardons disposed of a number of other cases as follows: Orlando F. Mead, convicted on June 27, 1895, at Castle Dale, Utah, for the crime of burglary, and sentenced to eight years in the Utah State prison; continued for one month.

Marion C. Thomas, convicted Nov. 20, 1899, at Vernal, Utah, of the crime of assault with a deadly weapon; application denied.

George W. Jones, convicted on Oct. 12, 1899, at Logan, Utah, of adultery; application denied. Sentence, one year in the penitentiary.

Jens T. Rohde, convicted on Feb. 20, 1899, at Brigham City, of adultery, and sentenced to eighteen months in the Utah State prison; continued one month.

Charles W. Ferguson, convicted on Sept. 7, 1897, at Randolph, of the crime of burglary, and sentenced to four years in the State prison; rehearing granted.

William S. Clark and Walter B. Clark, jointly convicted on July 13, 1899, at Coalville, of the crime of burglary, and sentenced to one year in the State prison; rehearing denied.

JOHN WAUGH ABSENT.

Was a Trusty at City Jail But Takes French Leave.

John Waugh, the Mongolian who was sentenced by Judge Timmony to be incarcerated in the city jail for 130 days for keeping an opium den, has departed for parts unknown. Jailor Kimball made Waugh a trusty some time ago and for a time all went well. Finally Jailor Kimball discovered that the Mongolian was a sneak of the first Plum Alley and hit the pipe and return. "Uncle Sol" gave him a severe lecture and John promised to do better. Yesterday he skipped out again and has not been seen since.

MOSES HIRSCHMAN DEAD.

Pioneer Merchant and Miner Passes Away After a Long Illness.

He Went to California in the Early Days and Came to Salt Lake Nearly Thirty Years Ago.

Moses Hirschman, one of the pioneer mining men of the west, and who was widely known all over the coast, died yesterday afternoon of Bright's disease, from which he had suffered for a long time. He was 65 years of age, and leaves three children, Jerome and Herbert Hirschman and Mrs. E. Oppenheimer, of Chicago. The funeral will take place at the family residence, No. 122 West Fourth street, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow. Rabbi Lowenstein officiating.

The deceased was born at Wurttemberg, Germany, and came to America in 1856 when 24 years of age. He first settled at Wheeling, West Virginia, but four years later decided to go to California and reached San Francisco in 1860, going by way of the Isthmus. From San Francisco he went to the Comstock, first engaging in merchandising, then in mining, and finally in mining. He was a successful miner and kept at it for nine years. Then Helena, Montana, forced to the front and Mr. Hirschman went up there and engaged in business. He continued there for about three years, when Salt Lake attracted his attention and he removed to this city. He combined merchandising and mining and at one time had heavy interests in Little Cottonwood and made much money. Then he located at Park City and finally returned to Salt Lake.

His wife, who was a Philadelphia lady, died fifteen years ago.

A HAIR RAISING INCIDENT.

Report of a Shooting Affray Calls Out the Police.

Early this morning the startling report was made at the old station, where Salt Lake's finest is wont to hold forth, that there had been a serious shooting affray at the corner of Fifth and Second East streets. With due diligence and speed that is characteristic of the stalwart guardians of the peace and dignity of Salt Lake, a number of officers were dispatched to the scene of the alleged procythene case. Sergeant Janney found a man sitting up reading, and questioned him closely concerning the shooting, but the gentleman declared that the only disturbance he had heard was occasioned by the braying of a neighbor's mule suffering from insomnia!

INSTRUCTION OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH STANDS, AND ONLY VACCINATED CHILDREN CAN ENTER.

Tomorrow morning the public schools of the city will reopen their doors, and the enforced vacation will be at an end. This conclusion was reached by the board of education on Saturday night, but only those children who have been vaccinated will be admitted.

This condition will undoubtedly be resisted in the courts, and at the meeting a communication was received from Daniel Harrington, attorney for the anti-compulsory vaccinationists. It construed the statutes and ordinances regarding the powers and duties of the board of health, and set out the conclusion that the board had no legal authority to prevent unvaccinated children from attending school.

The conclusions of law were concurred in by Powers, Strapp and Lippman. Mr. Critchlow offered a resolution in line with the directions of the board of health instructions, as follows: "Whereas, Smallpox now exists in the city of Salt Lake and a pest house has been established there, and a number of patients afflicted with smallpox are now quarantined therein, and other patients are quarantined at their homes in said city; and

Whereas, Smallpox is epidemic in nearby cities and towns, notably the town of Eureka, and strict quarantine regulations are being enforced; and

Whereas, in view of this situation, the board of health of the city of Salt Lake has commanded that only vaccinated teachers and pupils be admitted to the schools, and the State board of health has endorsed such action; and

Whereas, in view of the threatened epidemic of smallpox in this city and in the State of Utah, the City Council of Salt Lake City has provided for the free vaccination of all persons presenting themselves therefor, and for the past two weeks said vaccination has been and will continue to be administered free of charge to all persons presenting themselves, and is continuing to do so, and furnishing a certificate therefor; and

Whereas, The regulation prescribed by the board of health of Salt Lake City is reasonable and proper, in view of the circumstances herein set out, and it is the duty of this board to follow the directions given to this board; and

Resolved, That the schools of this city reopen on Tuesday, Jan. 23, 1900.

Resolved, That no principal, teacher, pupil or employee be allowed to attend any school unless he or she be provided with a certificate from a qualified medical practitioner or from the board of health that vaccination has been performed.

Resolved, That the superintendent of schools be and he is hereby given full power to enforce the necessary rules to carry into effect this order.

Mr. Moyle offered an amendment providing that the schools be opened to the pupils and pupils, regardless of vaccination, and wanted the opening postponed for a week.

Messrs. Glaugue and Newman were opposed to Mr. Moyle's position, and were opposed by Messrs. Critchlow, Neiden, Walker, Wilson, Henderson and Young, who voted for the resolution, which was adopted.

President Wilson, in answer to a query of Mr. Glaugue, said that physically weak children who declined to be vaccinated would have their cases passed upon by the board of health.

A meeting of the principals is being held at Superintendent Cooper's office this afternoon to arrange for tomorrow's opening.

President Wilson announced the re-arrangement of committees as follows: Rules—E. W. Wilson, B. S. Young, H. P. Henderson, A. G. Glaugue, Oscar W. Moyle.

School Law—Oscar W. Moyle, E. B. Critchlow, B. S. Young, Simon Bamberger, William J. Newman, E. W. Wilson.

Buildings and Grounds—Simon Bamberger, G. Glaugue, W. A. Neiden, B. S. Young, William J. Newman, E. W. Wilson.

THEIR REVELS DISTURBED.

A Gang of Tramps Raided by the Police—Arrests Made.

A gang of tramps were behind the Scandinavian saloon yesterday endeavoring to consume several buckets of beer, when their revels were cut short by the appearance of two or three blue coats. Most of the tramps escaped, but Officer Smith gathered in a few a little later.

T. W. KIRBY WRITES.

Relates His Experience with Faith as a Smallpox Cure.

To the Editor:

Hyde Park, Cache Co., Utah.—I never wrote to a newspaper in my life, and feel unable to do so as intelligently as I could wish, but in reading the "Semi-weekly News" of yesterday I was reminded of the Salt Lake Tribune on C. W. Penrose, with regard to one of the most sacred ordinances, as taught and practiced by Christ and his disciples and restored again in our day. I felt it my duty to add my testimony to yours and others that such great blessings do follow true believers today.

In June, 1894, I was a young missionary in the Bedfordshire conference, old England, when James Pace was president, and Charles R. Dana was pastor over that conference. And they were both taken down with smallpox in Bedfordshire, England. My wife and myself were traveling with the conference. We three young men went to visit them and found them in bed at Brother Cook's house. We administered to them, and in a very short time, a few minutes, they got up, dressed themselves and held counsel with us for some hours and each ate a meal with us. Next day I walked to Deanshanger, twenty miles, carrying a large carpet sack with my clothes and books, and I never felt the least bad effect from the disease, and the two brethren got well directly. I do not claim that we raised these brethren up, but I declare that God, through our faith and administration, did and I know what I am talking about, when I say I have seen such blessings granted in other bad diseases, such as black cholera, and there are many thousands of Latter-day Saints can testify of such things. And now dear editor, you can make what disposition of this article you please. And the Tribune can say "Iar!" If it wishes to, but the truth stands true all the same.

Most respectfully,
THOS. W. KIRBY.
