SALT LAKE CITY, October 13, 1877.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Thermometer 59 degrees F. in the shade at 1 p.m. today. Cloudy.

Dead.—The man Henry Hager, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, who was picked up on the Market Square, yesterday, and taken to the City Hall, died last evening.

Quarterly Conference.—The Quarterly Conference of the Utah County Stake of Zion will convene in the Provo City Meeting House to-morrow, Saturday morning, October 13th.

Accident.—A few days ago James Madison, son of Bishop Madison, of Provo, while engaged in duck hunting, accidentally shot off the forefinger of his right hand and injured the finger next to it. So states the Territorial Enquirer.

Winter.—The chilly blasts of winter are approaching, and the present is the time for people to prepare for that cold, bleak season, by making every thing as snug and comfortable as possible in and around their dwellings.

Under Cover.—Since the organization of the 21st Ward the public meetings of its members have been held at the residence of Brother Lindsey. The house being too small to hold the assemblages, portions of them have had to be seated out of doors, in the lot. This is rendered unnecessary now, the new Meeting House being so far advanced as to admit of holding meetings in it. The first will convene in it next Sunday evening.

Another Operation.—We regret to learn that another surgical operation is necessary upon the limb of Brother John Acomb, that was accidentally injured severely on the Utah Southern Railroad some time since. The surgeons will have to extract some pieces of dead bone. In other respects the leg is remarkably sound, considering the character and extent of the injuries received.

Conferences.—The regular quarterly conferences of Utah Co., and Davis Co., Stake of Zion will be held to-morrow and Sunday. It has been arranged that Elders W. Woodruff, E. Snow and John W. Young attend meetings at Provo, and Elders O. Pratt, F. D. Richards and Jos. F. Smith at Farmington. It is probable that Pres. John Taylor will be present at the meetings in Provo.

Cove Fort.—President Ira Hinkley, of Millard County Stake, is about to remove his residence from Cove Fort to Fillmore, to enable him to be in a position to give close and immediate attention to the duties of his office.

His brother, Elder Ezra Hinkley, of Coalville, will shortly move to the Cove Fort, to take up his permanent residence there.

The Cove Fort is a necessity, as a convenient stopping place for persons traveling to and from the South.

Fire.—Last night flames broke out in the residence of Mr. Sam Leary, on West Temple, between First and Second South streets. The firemen were on the spot soon after the alarm was sounded, and, with a couple of streams, soon extinguished the fire. The building, a two-story high, and two stories high. The roof was nearly consumed and the whole upper floor badly injured. Most of the furniture was saved. The fire broke out in a clothes closet, on the upper floor. The damage will probably amount to a little rising of a thousand dollars.

The Shooting Affair.—At four o'clock yesterday afternoon Major J. H. Nounman and Mr. J. M. Richardson appeared in the police court for examination in connection with yesterday's shooting affair. Major Nounman waived an examination and was held in $750 bonds, to await the action of the grand jury.

The examination of Mr. Richardson proceeded, and was continued until this morning at ten o'clock, when it was resumed. The evidence went to show that Major Nounman fired the first shot. Defendants' attorneys moved for the discharge on the ground that the firing done by him was in self defense. The court granted the motion, and the accused was discharged accordingly.

District Court.—Friday October 13th.

Edward Kendall vs. U. P. R. R. Co.; dismissed at plaintiff's costs.

Edward Anthony vs. C. R. Savage; set for Tuesday, Oct. 16th.

Peter Clays vs. Mason M. Hill; continued for the term.

S. M. Co.; motion of Woods and Geo. attorneys for defendants, to dismiss appeal, and cross motion to dismiss suit, taken under advisement.

J. C. Bateman et al. vs. Weber Coal and L. Co. et al.; dismissed at plaintiff's cost; stipulation that injunction bond shall be withdrawn and have no effect.

McHenry Mining Company vs. R. C. Chambers; dismissed by consent.

Mary J. Alexander vs. Monroe Salisbury; continued for the term.

W. H. Greenlaw vs. Flagstaff S. M. Company; set for October 10.

H. Richard vs. R. C. Chambers; to be placed at the foot of the calendar.

J. Biddlecome vs. F. T. Lund; jury trial verdict for plaintiff for $245.93.

The case of Rose Ella Jenkins vs. the Salt Lake City Railroad Company was given to the jury.

Plaster of Paris.—To-day a couple of car loads, 22 tons of gypsum arrived from the mine of Wm. Jennings & Co., in Utah County, and were taken to the yard of Messrs. Morris & Evans, in the 5th ward, to be manufactured into Plaster of Paris.

Dentist of this city have put the Utah Plaster of Paris to various tests, by steam pressure and otherwise, resulting in their pronouncing it superior to the best Paris White. The demand for it is increasing, the ten tons recently made having been all sold.

The Tabernacle.—The foundation of the new Tabernacle is getting pretty well advanced. It will be a very solid piece of masonry, five feet thick at the base, and tapering to two feet at the junction with the upper walls. Above the water-table, which will run around the upper portion of the foundation, will be a very heavy moulding.

Should a good force of workmen be kept steadily employed, it is thought the mason work of the building will be completed by the end of November.

A suggestion.—Bad weather is approaching and the streets will, in some portions of the city, soon be in a semi-impassable condition. In the winter and spring, teams with loaded wagons frequently get "stalled" at points where the water ditches cross the streets. This could be avoided by fluming. It would incur a large amount of expense to flume every ditch that crosses a street, but this is not absolutely necessary to make the roads passable for teams. A piece of flume, a rod or so in length, at each point where the street crosses the ditch would be sufficient. A large amount of fluming of the ditches has already been done, and it has greatly improved the location where it has been laid, and the suggestion as to whether it would not be well to do it sufficiently in other parts of the city to make the streets easy of travel for teams, is worthy of consideration.

Established House.—Last evening, by request, we made a tour through the extensive mercantile establishment of Wm. Jennings & Sons, generally known as the Eagle Emporium. It is splendidly situated for business, being on the corner of East Temple and First South Streets, in the very heart of the city. Jennings has always been a popular store, and the large additions made to the original building have given to it facilities which few houses in this region can boast.

The salesroom of the dry goods department with its elegant display window, admirable proportions and convenient arrangements, is one of the handsomest show-rooms in town. At the present time it offers unusual attractions to the ladies. The new goods recently purchased in the east by Mr. Thos. Jennings are temptingly displayed, and embrace many novelties, a few of which we will mention: A large stock of broad sash ribbons in various colors and designs, at a lower price than some common narrow ribbons, also a double-faced satin ribbon; cuffs and collars, new patterns; women's knit goods for ladies and children, warm and handsome, some small enough for head and body wear of infant; knit opera shawls and jackets; fancy ties; new patterns in flower; an immense stock of cloth jackets; new repellant and cloths of various kinds; the new cork corset, made to dispense with whalebone or cane support; the "Royal Globe" alpaca and mohair; besides a general assortment of dry goods, dress goods, fancy goods, jewelry, notions, hosiery, &c. Gollah's stocking hanging up as a sign of the latter big enough to attract all spectators.

The shoe room at the rear contains a large assortment of ladies and children's wear, among which are shoes specially made for this house, samples of the leather used in their manufacture, being on exhibition.

Passing through the shoe room, we come to the grocery and hardware departments, opening up to First South Street. Here all kinds of goods in that line are displayed, also glassware, crockeryware, hardware, tinware, firearms, fishing tackle, etc. Further west is the clothing department, containing an immense quantity of men's and boys' clothing, from three dollars a suit upwards, with overcoats, Ulsters, etc., in great variety, also gents' furnishing goods, hats, caps, umbrellas, boots and shoes, among the latter being special styles and makes for the Emporium.

Next to the rear is the stove room, containing new cook and heating stoves, ranges, etc. The newest design in heating stoves belong to the "base burner," a handsome piece of iron furniture which throws its main heat to the bottom and is a great economizer of fuel. This house has sold half a car load of stoves in thirty days.

Down in the basement, which extends under this large building, are stacks of goods of all kinds, which space forbids our particularizing, including tubs, brooms, bacon, cheese, crackers, nuts, candles and sugar, and where there are still cases of goods, ordered during Conference for the settlements and as far distant as Idaho and Montana, awaiting shipment in consequence of the pressure of trade.

Up stairs by the elevator to the second story, and we come to the wholesale department, where are dry goods, dress goods, shawls, from fifty cents upward, a most immense lot of Berlin wools in all colors, notions, lace curtains, ladies' hats, carpets, paperings, etc. In the third story are stacks of new goods stored away of all kinds, showing that the house does an immense business in all branches of general merchandising.

One other novelty we must mention—a clock which not only gives an alarm at any hour to which it may set, but which at the same time strikes a match and lights a lamp attached. The price is remarkably low.

We have given in this short sketch a very brief epitome of the attractions at this house, to wholesale and retail purchasers. The stock must be seen to be appreciated. One pleasant feature of this establishment is the courtesy and promptness of the clerks, who are always ready to attend to the wishes of its numerous patrons, and many of whom are experienced gentlemen, well known and respected.

The Eagle Emporium is one of the institutions of Salt Lake City, and its proprietors have an established commercial reputation in the great centres of trade, as well as throughout the Territory of Utah. We direct our readers to their advertisement in other columns.
