

BIG OFFER MADE TO JIMMY BRITT

Coffrath Wants Him to Meet
Durable Dane, Battling
Nelson

IN A FIFTY ROUND BATTLE.

Promises a Purse of $20,000 and an Additional $10,000 for Picture
Rights—Will Britt Accept?

Every possible effort is being made to pull Jimmy Britt into the ring with Battling Nelson for a finish fight, and ring followers all over the country are anxious for the men to meet again. But will Britt meet Nelson?

Here is what "Wally" Young, a former Salt Laker, says on the subject:

If there be such a thing as a change of fashion in static entertainments, it might be said that "summer and fall fairs, 1905" call for encounters to a finish. Battles to a limited number of rounds—providing the limit is so low as twenty—are now decidedly popular. What the followers of the game are hankering for is a greater, grander, more exciting finish fight between Battling Nelson and Jimmy Britt, for that would certainly be a good one.

Jimmy Corbett has opened the way. He has made an offer to the two prima donnas which looks to be the biggest thing which has been sprung anywhere in the realm of bantams for years. He offers a purse of $20,000 for a fifty-round battle, and he offers $10,000 in addition for the fighters' interest in the moving picture privilege. This makes a grand total of $30,000 which he hands up as the spoils of battle. The fighters' interest in the picture will give them 6 per cent of the gross receipts and let each keep his one-third interest in the moving pictures. There is a big offer. Will it be accepted? Nelson is willing. How about Britt?

WHAT WILL BRITT DO?

How about Britt?

Will Britt furnished a clever answer for the question of what he would do if he wrote yesterday. He called attention to the fact that Britt and Nelson are signed up for a fight in August before the Western Athletic club and that Harry Davis, president of the club, had written him from San Francisco, asking him to make a proposal to Britt and Britt to meet him in a fifty-round battle.

Until that is settled, I don't see how either Nelson or Britt can consider any other proposition. I met Sam Berger last night and he told me that if either Britt or Nelson broke faith with the Western club, he would take their rights or $5,000.

On the surface, this looks to be very plausible. It is quite evident that Britt and Nelson are bound to meet at the Western club in August and it is also true that they have their forfeits posted with Harry Corbett. But Sam Berger, the nominal head of the Western club, is a young man with a good record. His efforts to secure the coveted August date have been rolled so far and those "the know" aver that he hasn't a chance. This morning, however, the following Monday, the word of surprise came awarding the August permit to some one else. The possibility of its being given to the Western club, according to men close to the board, was a very slight. Suppose that Britt is turned down at a committee meeting of the board, will Britt then accept this fifty-round proposition of Corbett?

JAMES MAY WELCH.

No. He will say that there is more money in fighting twenty rounds in town than accepting Corbett's $20,000 or Coffrath's $10,000. He will point out that his fee is higher than Corbett's or even over $30,000. He will say that the house will be at least $30,000 and that 6 per cent of that will be $2,000, and that moving picture rights can also add to the fund. Let us assume that he gets $2,000 per round. According to the figures given out by the Hayes Valley club after the Britt-Battling fight, the total receipts were $2,200.60. This adds up to top prices $2 gallery and $20 box seats.

Every man who attended that historic battle will remember that the house was packed to its capacity. It seemed impossible to get in. The place was almost bursting, however, that last Friday night, and you have $30,000 not as the lowest figure, but as representing the total capacity of Woodsbury. In this case, the figures to stage the fight in Woodsbury pavilion, as Corbett has a lease on Mechanics'. If Berger should place a moving picture machine in Woodsbury, he would realize that the pavilion is filled with seats, as the picture machine is a very large and formidable affair, and with the bright electric lights necessary at night, would be a constant source of annoyances to the spectators. It would go back a little. Manager Willie Britt said that it would be impossible to consider Corbett a proposition because the Western Athletic club has Jim signed up and would not let him go. We will see up to the Western club? Sam Berger and Willie Britt are the moving spirits. Sam is matchmaker and Willie is admittedly a partner. Jim says that he is not a mover and Sam and Willie bear him out in this statement.

PUBLIC WANTS MATCH.

Even granting that Jimmey has no more interest in the club, it is all a family affair, and he need not be afraid that his
