FROM

COL. L. T. FOSTER,

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 10th, 1882.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Gents:—I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt that I prized very highly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame. I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express. I determined at once to try it and got our druggists here to send for it, they ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial, I used it according to directions and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame and the lumps have disappeared. I used all one bottle and the colt's limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles who are now using it. Very respectfully,

L. T. FOSTER.

Kendall's Spavin Cure

Is sure in its effects, mild in its actions as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargements, such as spavins, splints, curbs, ringbones, callous, swellings and any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or for rheumatism in man or for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mildly and yet certainly in its effects.

Send address for illustrated circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All Druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, 29.—The Chief of Police has issued orders to prevent the sparring match between Mace and Slade, set down for to-night.

New York, 28.—Harry Egerton, of Long Island, Friday, ate on a wager, thirty-seven hard boiled eggs, two mince pies, and drank two quarts of ale in one hour and thirty minutes.

New York, 28.—The anniversary of the birth of Tom Paine was celebrated to-night in the German Masonic Temple. Addresses were made advocating free thought.

New York, 29.—Tribune: Mace and Slade go to England April 10th, after a sparring tour through the east and south, and will exhibit in Liverpool, Manchester and London. It is Mace's intention to bring his children back with him to this country, which he will hereafter make his home. Fox will endeavor to find a place in New York where Mace can establish a liquor store and gymnasium, which shall be among the finest in the city. In case a match with Sullivan shall have been made, Slade will go into training immediately upon the return of the party from England.

Little Rock, 28.—From information received to day from the Indian Nation, it is learned great grief is felt over the sudden and unexpected death of the noted and intelligent chief, White Shield, of the Cheyenne tribe.

Artificial Child Incubation.

The report of some remarkable experiments in so-called artificial child incubation comes from France. The Glasgow Mail says that the immense success which has attended the artificial incubation of chickens in France recently attracted the attention of Dr. Tavernier, a learned and ingenius physician. He was attached to a hospital for foundlings and was annoyed at the large number of foundlings who died within the first six months of their life. The majority of those admitted to the hospital were weak and sickly and he resolved to try what artificial incubation would accomplish if applied to infants. The doctor constructed a child incubator on precisely the same model of the ordinary chicken incubator. It was a box covered with a glass slide furnished with a soft woolen bed and kept at the temperature of 96 degrees, Fahrenheit, by the aid of hot water. He selected as the subject of his first experiment a miserably made infant, one that had come into the world at an injudiciously early period. This infant was placed in the incubator, provided with a nursing bottle and kept in a dark room. To the surprise of the doctor, it ceased to cry on the second day it was placed in the incubator, and although it had previously been a preternaturally sleepless child, it sank into a deep and quiet sleep. The child remained in the incubator for about eight weeks, during which time it never once cried, and never remained awake except when taking nourishment. It grew rapidly, and when, at the expiration of sixty days, it was removed from the incubator, it presented the appearance of a healthy infant of at least a year old. Delighted with the success of the experiment, Dr. Tavernier next selected an ordinary six-months-old infant addicted to the usual pains and colic, and exhibiting the usual fretfulness of French infants. This child conducted itself while in the incubator precisely as its predecessor had done. It never cried, it spent its whole time in sleep, and it grew as if it had made up its mind to embrace the career of a professional giant. After a six weeks' stay in the incubator it was removed and weighed; during this brief period it had doubled its weight. It had become so strong and healthy that it resembled a child three years old, and it could actually walk when holding on to a convenient piece of furniture. These two experiments satisfied Dr. Tavernier of the vast advantages of artificial child incubation. He immediately proceeded, with the permission of the authorities of the hospital to construct an incubator of the capacity of four hundred infants, and in this he placed every one of the three hundred and sixty infants who were in the hospital on the tenth day of February last. With the exception of one who died of congenital hydrocephalus, and another who was claimed by its repentant parents, the infants were kept continuously in the incubator for six months, when they were removed in consequence of having outgrown their narrow beds. The result will seem almost incredible to persons who are unfamiliar with the reputation of Dr. Tavernier, and have not seen the report made to the French government on this subject by a select committee of twelve. The average age of the infants last February was eight months and three days—the youngest being less than twelve hours old and the eldest not more than eleven months. Their average weight was sixteen pounds, only one of the entire 360 having attained a weight of thirty-two pounds. At the end of six months of artificial incubation the average weight of each infant was twenty-four pounds, and there was not one who would not have been supposed by a casual observer to be at least three years old. In other words, six months of artificial incubation did as much in the way of developing Dr. Tavernier's foundlings as three years of ordinary life would have done. The infants were strong and healthy as well as big; they walked within a week of leaving the incubator, and most of them have since learned to talk. These results surpassed Dr. Tavernier's most enthusiastic expectations, and there can be no doubt that his system of artificial child incubation will be adopted not only in every child's hospital in France, but in every private family throughout the civilized world.

Causes and Cure of Rheumatism.

Common rheumatism is a disease which affects the joints, the hinges of the body, in such a way that the slightest motion of the ailing parts gives pain. A creaking hinge is dry and works hard. A single drop of oil to moisten it makes a wonderful change, and it instantly moves on itself with the utmost facility. All kinds of rheumatism are an inflammation of the surface of the joints. Inflammation is heat; this heat dries their surfaces; hence, the very slightest effort at motion gives piercing pain. In a healthy condition of the parts, nature is constantly throwing off a lubricating oil, which keeps the joints in a perfectly smooth and easy-working condition. Rheumatism is almost always caused—indeed, it may be nearer the truth to say that it is always the result of a cold dampness. A dry cold or a warm dampness does not induce rheumatism. A garment wetted by perspiration, or rain or water in any other form about a joint, and allowed to dry while the person is in a state of rest is the most common way of causing rheumatism. A partial wetting of a garment is more apt to induce rheumatism than if the entire clothing were wetted; because, in the latter case, it would be certainly and speedily exchanged for dry garments. There are two very certain methods of preventing rheumatism: The very moment a garment is wetted, in whole or in part, change it, or keep in motion sufficient to maintain a very slight perspiration until the clothing is perfectly dried. The failure to wear woolen flannel next the skin is the most frequent cause of rheumatism; for a common muslin or linen or silk shirt of a person in a perspiration becomes damp and cold the instant a puff of air strikes it even in midsummer. This is not the case when woolen flannel is worn next the skin. The easiest most certain and least hurtful way of curing this troublesome affection, is, first, to keep the joints affected wound around with several folds of woolen flannel; second, live entirely on the lightest kind of food, such as coarse breads, ripe fruits, berries, boiled turnips, stewed apples and the like. If such things were eaten to the extent of keeping the system freely open, and exercise were freely taken, so that a slight moisture should be on the surface of the skin all the time, or if in bed the same thing were accomplished by hot teas and plentiful bed clothing, a grateful relief and ultimate cure will very certainly result in a short time. Without this soft and moist and warm condition of the skin and an open state of the system, the disease will continue to torture for weeks and months and years. Inflammatory rheumatism may, for all practical purposes, be regarded as an aggravated form of the common kind, extended to all the joints of the body, instead of implicating only one or two. For all kinds, time, flannel, warmth, and a light and cooling diet, are the great remedies.—Hall's Journal of Health.

A Leetle More.

One of the stockholders of a new Western railroad was a farmer who had accumulated his money by hard toil, and when he had put in an appearance at the meeting to elect a board of directors he felt it his duty to remark:

"Gentlemen, as I understand this thing we elect the board and the board elects the officers."

Some one said that he was right, and he continued:

"I don't go a cent on high salaries, and I want it understood. I am in favor of paying our President a good living salary and no more."

"How much do you call a good living salary?" asked one of the crowd.

"Well, two dollars a day is the going wages, but ——"

Here the meeting began to roar, and it was two or three minutes before the orator had a chance to conclude:

"But of course we want a man who can run an engine, switch a train, handle freight, keep books and lick anybody who won't pay fare, and so I shall not object to two and a half a day!"

A Vision of 1884.

John W. Benson, a colored doctor residing in Philadelphia, has had a vision which he insists portends bloody times for 1884. The doctor says his vision appeared to him at 4 o'clock in the morning, and he describes it as follows: I was neither awake nor asleep, so it was not a dream. It seemed to be about ten o'clock in the morning and two suns appeared in the sky. The under sun was blood red and seemed stationary. The sky was all in a blaze and I saw a vast army of white men gathering in the southwest. A minute later a colored army appeared, and at its head was General Grant, on whose saddle cloth were the figures "1884." Firing began and a terrible battle ensued, at the close of which the white army stacked their arms. Hundreds of colored women and children now appeared, and in their midst rose a beautiful woman bearing a banner on which appeared a figure of the Goddess of Liberty. Just then a terrible storm arose and the vision was swept away. Dr. Benson says his vision portends a terrible war in 1884—that he has never been mistaken yet.
