LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

FEDERAL OFFICERS FOR CALIF. By reference to our dispatches, it will be seen that J. B. McKean has been appointed Chief Justice of California, and C. C. Crowe, Secretary.

STEAM COOKER. We had a call this morning from Mr. J. O. Clay and Mr. E. Tufts, the former the patentee of a new steam cooker which he is desirous of introducing into use. Mr. Clay has a model of his invention with which he is able to explain the modus operandi of cooking by steam. The patent is being tested by H. L. Southworth, at his hotel, and is said to give satisfaction. The merits claimed for this invention are that a meal is prepared in one-fourth less time, and with one-fourth less fuel than by the ordinary method, and that there is no over-heating and scorching of the food; no escape of odors to fill the house; no impregnation of one article of food by the flavor of another steamed in the same vessel; no loss of nutriment; no boiling of tea and coffee; no spilling or breaking of stewed fruit; but just such an arrangement as is adapted for the kitchen, the dining-room, or bedroom; or for the use of travelers in camping out. Mr. Clay has sold the right to the Territory to two gentlemen, who will take measures to give publicity to the invention.

DROWNED.—By a special dispatch from Eagle Rock, Idaho, June 10th, we are informed that a painful accident occurred at the ferry on Snake River, about thirty miles below this place, yesterday evening. The ferryman, in endeavoring to cross his swamped his boat and was washed down the river. His wife witnessed the sad scene from the shore. His body has not been recovered.

LIVELY.—East Temple street presented a very lively appearance to-day, unusual even for Saturday, by the many teams and crowds of our country cousins in visiting us. We do not notice such an amount of trading, though, as we were wont to in seasons past, and the absence, in our streets, of wagons loaded with vegetables, from Bountiful and other adjacent settlements, indicate plainly that those fruitful places have not been exempt from the visitations of the general pest, the "hoppers."

FLOWERS.—On entering our office this morning we found a monster bouquet standing on the table, the delightful fragrance of which filled the room. It was from the garden of Brother Thomas Fenton, of the 6th Ward, whose skill in the culture of roses is well known. In this bouquet there were no fewer than fifty varieties of roses, and these do not comprise all the kinds which his garden contains! The Sixth Ward must either be favorable to the production of flowers, or taste for them has been developed there; for we notice that our compositors who reside in that quarter generally have flowers in the button-holes of their coats when they come to the office of a morning, and not infrequently their frames are adorned with beautiful flowers, which diffuse an odor that is much more gratifying to the senses than the stench of tobacco smoke, with which the atmosphere of composing rooms is so commonly impregnated. If the culture of and fondness for flowers have a humanizing effect upon man, and give evidence of a pleasant, artistic nature, then we have cause to appreciate the employees of this office; for, besides the compositors of which we have spoken, we have a machineman who grows rapturous over flowers; he has furnished us with any number of beautiful bouquets this season, and he does not upon every new species that he sees or obtains with an enthusiasm bordering on ecstasy. The apprentices partake of the prevalent taste, and they eagerly avail themselves of every opportunity to obtain flower roots.

TROUT.—Now that it is the spawning season, trout, usually such a delicious dish, is comparatively tasteless and the flesh is soft and flabby. This would be a sufficient reason for many to desist from catching the fish until the spawning season shall be past and it be in the condition which fishermen call "clean." There is another consideration, however, that ought to be sufficient to deter all from taking trout from the streams at this season, namely, that in killing one spawning fish, some thousands of others, in embryo, are destroyed. Those who destroy fish at this season are guilty of a wanton wrong, which, in some countries, is punishable by fine and otherwise. The people here, however, ought to have sufficient sound sense, without the aid of any other law, to deter them from impoverishing the streams and thus injuring their own as well as the interests of others. These remarks have been called forth by seeing a large amount of trout, full of spawn, offered for sale. Parents should prohibit their boys from fishing till the spawning season is over.

BOLD.—The Territorial Enterprise (Virginia Nev.) contains an account of a bold robbery committed near there. Two masked men went to the office of the Devil's Gate toll road, presented cocked revolvers at Captain Taylor, the agent and half owner of the road, and demanded the keys of the safe. The safe happened to be open, and one of the robbers appropriated what money it contained, $807.50, and made off with it, while the other stood with his revolver leveled at Mr. Taylor, threatening to blow his brains out if he moved or gave the alarm. After the man with the money had had sufficient time to get out of the way, the second made tracks. Although a crowd soon gathered and search was made, no trace could be found of the robbers.

DIED. in this city, at 5 a.m., on Friday, June 17th, James McGaw Slade, the son of Wm. R. and Julia Slade, who reside at Pine Valley.

The deceased was born April 29th, 1830, at Harris County, Texas. The funeral services were attended to at the residence of Bishop A. O. Smoot, in this city, on Friday afternoon.

THIRTEENTH WARD ASSEMBLY ROOMS.—We are requested to state that Elder George Teasdale will deliver a discourse at the 13th Ward Assembly Rooms, at half past seven to-morrow (Sunday) evening.

STRAWBERRIES.—The present year strawberries are indeed a luxury; in the upper wards of the city, where in past years they have been raised in such abundance, there are none the present season. In some of the lower wards, however, the grasshoppers have not injured them much; and those who happen to have good patches are fortunate. The finest strawberry patch we have seen this season is in the garden of A. M. Cannon, 15th Ward, and we were told last evening that for some time past half a bushel of the luscious fruit had been gathered from it every day. This is encouraging to the people of the lower wards.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

Various bills and resolutions.
The House bill to extend the provisions of the homestead act to soldiers, and the House joint resolution, giving pay from the date of commission of officers in command while in rebel prisons, passed.

Stark called up a bill to prohibit the introduction of servile labor and remarked that he did not want servile labor to compete with free labor in this country, if it could be prevented. The bill was considered, various amendments suggested and laid aside for a day or two.

The bill for a pension to Mrs. Lincoln was called up and opposed by Edwards and dropped at the expiration of the morning hour.

The Post Office appropriation was considered and the amendment of the committee on appropriations, striking out the clause respecting a free delivery of letters to cities of over 40,000 inhabitants, was concurred in. Ramsey moved, as an amendment, the House bill abolishing the franking privilege. Stewart reviewed the amendment of Drake, continuing provisions of law for a free transmission of newspapers. Morrill moved Ramsey's amendment continuing the franking privilege to the Executive and Agricultural departments. Ramsey gave notice of an amendment, which was referred to the committee on appropriations, providing for a system of stamped envelopes for the use of Congress and the Departments, and make an appropriation to defray expenses. Sumner moved, as an amendment, his penny postage proposition. In the evening session Williams, from the committee on lands, reported an amended bill, continuing the St. Paul and Sioux City railroad across the Territory of Dakota to Yankton and for land grants in aid of the same. The nomination of Ackerman has been referred to the committee on judiciary by the Senate to-day. James B. McKean was confirmed Chief Justice of Utah and C. C. Crowe Secretary of Utah; Benj. F. Pierrott, of California, having been nominated for Consul at Bucharest.

HOUSE.

Reports.

In the House the report of the election committee, in favor of McKean, the sitting member from Virginia, was agreed to. Cobb, reported from the military committee, a bill equalizing the bounties to soldiers and non-commissioned officers mustered for six months' service between the 12th of April, 1861, and the 9th of May 1866, deducting the United States bounty already paid, which was passed. A bill granting the Yerba Buena island to the Western Pacific Railroad, was rejected.

WASHINGTON.

The Cuban Bonds Investigation.
Inquiries from various sources as to the truth of the rumor made to-day concerning the Cabinet changes state that they are well founded. The House select committee on the Cuban bonds business closed its investigations to-day, and make up its report on Monday. Fitch testified that he never had seen Taylor and McCormick, and said, though he occupied a room in Taylor's house, he never conversed with him on public matters, and he denies such matters as are stated in the report.

A Will Overruled—Irish Land Bill—Approves of Punishing the Fenian Invaders.

LONDON.—Lord Penrose Rice has given a decision invalidating the will of the late Samuel Morton, of Liverpool, who left his fortune to Dr. Goessman, the Catholic Bishop, ruling that the proofs of incapacity of the deceased to make a will were conclusive. In the Lords, last evening, the consideration of the Irish land bill was resumed. Cairns said it gave an advantage to tenants which is unknown in England or Scotland and demonstrated at length the defects of the measure. Grey and Halifax opposed the bill. Derby approved of the principles on which it was based, but was adverse to granting a compensation for disturbance of tenure, regarding it as equivalent to buying an imaginary right; he admitted, however, that agrarianism can only be checked by concession. Argyle and Abercorn supported the bill as considered in committee. Gladstone explained some changes the government proposed to make in the bill. The House adjourned to the second reading.

of the extradition bill and the revenue bill.

The Dublin Freeman approves of the treating of the Fenian raiders on Canada with all legal severity, if an American jury can be found to convict them. They should be sentenced to the utmost penalty of the law; three months imprisonment would practically be nothing.

A Pesth journal says that the Pope intends to make a compromise on the question of infallibility, which he hopes will receive the support of the Council.

Celebration.

MADRID.—The feast of Corpus Christi was celebrated here to-day with the customary ceremonies, but the procession was a very tame compared with former years.

FRANCE.

Jerome Napoleon Dead.—Senators Dead.—To Restore Exiles.—Too Liberal.—The Napoleons are well.—New Minister to Washington.

PARIS.—Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte died this morning, aged 67. Ferdinand Barratt and Chas. Eustache Carte, Senators, are dead. In the Corps Legislatif, to-day, Val-drome, Minister of the Interior, declared that an early dissolution of the Chambers is not contemplated by the government.

Deputy Rossini submitted an interpellation on the return of the Orleans princes and members of the Bourbon family and the restoration of their property.

Durvee and Elders of the People, and Frances, of the Court Journal, have resigned, because, according to the declaration of Durvee, their policy is too liberal and bold to suit their journal. There is a report, however, that the cause is a disagreement between Olivier and Durvee.

The Journal Officiel contradicts the reports of the illness of the Emperor and Prince Napoleon and states that both are in good health. Provost Cardenas, the new minister to Washington, with his family and secretaries, sail from Brest, July 24, for New York.

Correspondence.

SODA SPRINGS, June 11, 1870.

Bro. Cannon:—Dear Sir,—An express leaves here this morning and I have only time to write a few lines. On June 6th we drove to Bear River City, crossed the ferry and held a meeting in the morning; this settlement contains sixty-five families. The meeting was addressed by President Young and D. H. Wells, and Elder B. Young, Jun.; much good instruction was given to the people. We then drove to Bear River bridge, where we partook of the hospitality of Bro. Ben. Hampton, by eating an excellent dinner. We then drove to Portage and held a meeting. D. H. Wells, John Taylor, W. Woodruff, F. D. Richards and President Young spoke to the people.

On the 7th we drove to Malad City and held a meeting in the bower, when the people were addressed by D. H. Wells, W. Woodruff, J. Taylor, B. Young, Jun., and President Young, at the close of the meeting we dined and drove to Portage, where we spent the night.

On the 8th we drove to the top of the mountain dividing the Malad from Cache valley, where we had a splendid view of the Malad valley. We then descended into Cache valley and arrived at Newton at 12 o'clock. We held a meeting at Newton, when Lorenzo Snow and John Taylor spoke to the people. We then drove to Clarkston and held a meeting with the people, who were addressed by President Young upon the subject of their settlements and gave much good counsel. At the close of the meeting we returned to Newton and held another meeting in the bower, when D. B. Huntington, President Young and Bro. Penrose addressed the people.

On the 9th we left Newton, drove about six miles and visited a strange well, surrounded by a rough stone wall, about forty feet in diameter, ten feet deep, containing a specimen of a strange fish or reptile, from five to eight inches in length; it had four legs like a lizard, the head was encircled with something that looked like horns in the water, but folded back when out of water; it had much the appearance of a fish in the New England waters called Pouts, or Bull Heads; we caught several with a hook and examined them and threw them back; the water was of a greenish cast with an oily surface. We left the well and drove to Weston, ten miles and a half from the well. We held a meeting at Weston, when the people were addressed by Presidents Young and D. H. Wells. We dined and drove to Clifton and stopped a few moments, and then drove to Oxford and held a meeting, when the people were addressed by L. Snow, W. Woodruff, J. Taylor, R. T. Burton, D. H. Wells and President Young.

There are seventeen settlements in Cache valley, and the settlements we have thus far visited in Cache are on the west side of the valley and these we have not before visited.

On the 10th we left Oxford at 6 o'clock and drove six hours over a big rough mountain road, and nooned on a stream called Little Portneus Creek; we stopped here two hours, and then drove three and a half hours more and arrived at the Soda Springs at 6.30 in the evening, having traveled 65 miles over about the roughest and most mountainous road that we ever traveled in this Territory, but men and teams stood it very well. We had in our company some twenty-three carriages and wagons, with about 50 persons in the company.

When we arrived at the Soda Springs we met with Elders Rich and David P. Kimball, with 50 men, seven baggage wagons and a brass band. There were two large tents and a good hewn log house, erected by President Young, 22 x 18 feet, with a good floor, doors, windows and shingle roof, which makes it very convenient for a dining room for President Young and company, who expect to tarry until next Monday morning.

We have passed so far upon our journey with no harm or accident to any of the company, and all are enjoying good health. When I left home I was quite poorly with a cold and sore throat, but soon recovered, and I now feel well.

Our road was measured with an Odometer until it gave out.

The teachings upon the journey have been the same as given to the Saints in other settlements; the Spirit of the Lord has been with us and we have been instructed, edified and much blessed and prospered upon our journey. The Bear Lake Monsters are an established fact in the minds of all who are acquainted with the various circumstances under which they have been seen. A few days since, three of the brethren in a boat, came near running on to one in the Lake, lying quiet in the water.

We shall hold a meeting to-morrow. W. WOODRUFF.
