

WHY BRYAN IS RUNNING AGAIN

His Nomination Due to Fact That Ideas for Which He Stands Have Spread.

HE IS ON THE PEOPLE'S SIDE

Compares Conditions of 1896 With Those of Present Time—No One Fears Him Now.

Washington Park, N. J., Sept. 15.—"My nomination for a third time after two defeats, and with no president to help me with his patronage, has been due to one thing alone, and that is the growth of the ideas for which I stand, and the conviction among the people that I am on their side."

In these words, W. J. Bryan, addressing a multitude of people at this place, who cheered him loudly and long, founded the keynote of his first speech to the voters of New Jersey in the present campaign. The Democratic candidate never seemed in better form. From the opening to the close of his remarks the great throng, by their demonstrations of approval of his utterances, gave evidence of their encouragement and support. Mr. Bryan took note of this, and in his preliminary remarks assured his immense audience that, whether he was elected president or not, he would feel abundantly repaid for all that he had been able to do if down to the day of his death he could retain the confidence and affection of the American people.

Coming directly to the issues of the campaign Mr. Bryan declared that the period had been reached in the history of the Democratic party, "when the past and the future, the north and the south, can unite upon a platform." He was, he said, ready to defend that platform in New Jersey as he was in Nebraska, for, he said, "I believe that the measures which are outlined in the platform are just as good for the masses east of the Alleghenies as they are for the masses west of the Alleghenies, and your presence here today is evidence of your sympathy with our platform and with our cause, and I rejoice that conditions are so much more favorable to an understanding of our policies than they were 12 years ago."

Mr. Bryan then compared the difference between the conditions of 1896, and the present time. "When I spoke in the east in 1896," he said, "I recognized that there was an intense opposition. I recognized that there were people who feared that my election would be injurious to the country, and they communicated the fear to those who worked for them. Today there is no such fear."

In 1896, there were people so alarmed at what they thought was money in my candidacy that when the election was over honest and religious men felt and thanked God that the country had been saved."

He declared that no such feeling could be found today. "There are," he said, "no people who are fearful of money in my candidacy. The only people, he said, who would feel that they had been saved in case of his defeat were 'the kind that do not thank God for their safety.' The difference in the temper of the people he maintained, was apparent everywhere. Continuing, he said:

"In 1896 the clerks in the stores were many, if not most, cases given to understand that if I won there might be no business doing in the country for four years. Today the clerks in the stores are not being advertised by their employers as they were 12 years ago. The clerks in the stores are learning that under Republican rule there living expenses have increased more rapidly than their salaries."

He created shouts of laughter and applause when he remarked that if there was any clerk in the audience who did not know that he could ask his wife.

"There were," he said, "business men in 1896 who thought their business was jeopardized if I were elected. Today, however, they are not. The Democratic victory, but these business men in the last 12 years have learned enough about the trusts to know that their business has been jeopardized by the Republican rule, and that nothing but a Democratic victory can save their business. There were many small manufacturers who feared Democratic victory in 1896, but the smaller manufacturer knows today that his business is insecure so long as great trusts are permitted to stalk abroad and drive bankrupt men who refuse to sell out to them. In 1896 laboring men were threatened with a panic in case of my election, and they have learned that the Democratic party is the party of the masses. They have learned that the Republican party can bring on a panic as well as the Democratic party."

"No, my friends, no matter among what people you go, no matter in what section you are; no matter to whom you address your remarks, you find that today the people have a better understanding of what the Republican party stands for, and what its policies mean than they had a few years ago. And if you want to know why, after two defeats, I have been nominated with no president to help me with his patronage, it is due to one thing alone, and that is the growth of the ideas for which I stand, and the conviction among the people that I am on their side."

"I want to call attention to some evidences that the Democratic party meets the demands of the present and has the sympathetic support of a large majority of the people. My friends, when I am talking out here, I can prove to you that I could bring them up one at a time and put them on the platform and question them. I could prove by their own testimony that nine-tenths of them are Democrats and don't know it. Now, I don't know whether the proportion is as large down here or not, but I can prove to you that many, very many, who call themselves Republicans are nearer to us in their ideas than they are to the Republican leaders."

Mr. Bryan accidentally knocked over a glass of water and several men below were sprinkled. The crowd laughed and Mr. Bryan was quick to remark that those were just some Republicans.

Blood-Making Tonic Treatment

A Cure for Anaemic Conditions That Is Showing Remarkable Proofs. Of Cures in Stubbarn Cases.

When the body becomes run down, either as a result of overwork, worry or a severe illness, an examination of the blood would show it to be weak and watery. This condition is called anaemic which is the medical term for "bloodless." The common symptoms are paleness of the lips, gums and cheeks, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart after the slightest exertion, dull eyes and loss of appetite. Anaemia itself is a dangerous disease and it may gradually pass into consumption. It must be cured by treating its cause. The vital fluid must be made strong and healthy thereby enabling it to carry the necessary nourishment to every tissue of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest builders of rich, new blood and they have been curing anaemia and other blood diseases for nearly a generation, during which time they have come to be recognized as an invaluable household remedy. The statement of Mrs. Claud Moore, who lives about six miles from Defiance, shows how these pills cure cases that stubbornly resist ordinary methods of treatment. Mrs. Moore's address is R. F. D. No. 8, Defiance, Ohio. She says: "In 1904, when I was attending Defiance college I would come home all tired and become very weak. I had always had bright red cheeks but I seemed to lose my color and became deathly white. The physician at Defiance said I was all run down and I took his medicine but grew worse instead of better. My friends thought I was going into consumption. 'My mother had heard of a case that the doctors said was anaemia that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured and finally she said to me: 'The doctor's medicine don't seem to help you a particle and I feel sure you have some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.' She did and in a week's time I began to feel like myself again. I took in all seven boxes. They cured me and I feel now and am in good health. I have recommended the pills to several of our neighbors."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent by postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Persons who were being taken in and duped. The Democratic candidate then launched into a discussion of the tariff, the trusts, the guarantee of bank deposits and the labor criticism into Mr. Taft, whom he charged with running on President Roosevelt's record. At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Bryan left for Trenton.

PLAGUE IN AZORES FOLLOWED BY DISORDERS

Lisbon, Sept. 15.—Word has reached here that serious disorders have broken out in the Azores, where the plague is raging. The populations of the towns of Horta, on the island of Fayal and Angra, on the island of Terceira, madened by the failure of the government to take preventive measures against the disease, have indulged in violent rioting and the Portuguese government officers have been severely injured.

New cases of the plague are occurring daily and the epidemic threatens to spread throughout the entire government. The authorities are powerless to provide food or medical help for the stricken people. The commerce is completely paralyzed, the government having forbidden all communication with the infected islands. The Portuguese gunboat Patra has arrived at Fayal with a detachment of troops which will be stationed there to prevent further outbreaks.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 15.—Posses are scouring the country near Kelvin, a mining camp 100 miles east of here, in search of two Mexican highwaymen who employed an Apache method of torture after committing a highway robbery. James Martz, a prospector, 70 years of age, was taken to a cave, the body consisted of his weapons and a small amount of money. The Mexicans overpowered, bound and blindfolded him, but he managed to escape and started to run. After recapturing Martz, the Mexicans again bound him, fastened him to a stake and placed a can of water just beyond his reach. After hours of effort he managed to get out of his bonds and went to Kelvin, where he gave the alarm.

CELEBRATION OF LINCOLN-DOUGLAS DEBATE

Jonesboro, Ill., Sept. 15.—The semi-annual celebration of the great debate between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas attracted a large crowd yesterday. It is estimated that 10,000 persons attended the celebration, which was held in the Union county fair grounds in connection with the county fair. The crowd assembled under the same massive oak trees which sheltered the famous contestants and their audience 50 years ago.

A native boulder of white limestone, weighing 5,000 pounds, inscribed "September 15, 1858, Lincoln and Douglas debate, September 15, 1858, celebrated," had been erected on the exact spot where the debaters stood. The tablet was unveiled by Miss Lillian Lanier of Anna, Ill.

Addresses were made by Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma; Admiral A. I. Stevenson and others. There were present 50 persons who heard the original debate, 50 years ago, and who cherished a distinct memory of that occasion.

The greatest curiosity of the day was a small brass cannon which was used by the friends and supporters of Douglas at the time of the debate. It is well preserved and in excellent condition, and is owned by Capt. Williams of Cairo.

ATTEMPT MADE ON LIFE OF PRESIDENT CABRERA

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—According to reports brought by officers of the United States navy who arrived here yesterday, an attempt was made recently upon the life of President Cabrera of Guatemala, by means of an infernal machine. A bomb was thrown at the president's residence, but the information obtained the would-be assassin connected the machine with a telephone in the president's room in such a manner that it would be exploded when the connection was made. Answering a call, President Cabrera was flung from his chair against the wall by a deafening explosion and almost instantly he was killed. He was laid with a few bruises. Five Salvadorans were arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the plot, but were released after their execution was ordered and placed aboard the Para, which conveyed them to Acapulco. The officers believe that the American minister at Guatemala was instrumental in having their sentences commuted from death to banishment.

The Para brought news of the arrest of Frank Moore, an American accused of being a spy and having maps of Salvador in his possession. Moore had recently come from Amapala, Honduras. He was taken ashore by officers at Acapulco.

negro. After a long chase the negro was discovered hidden behind a log in a wood. Mrs. Reed called on the members of the posse to stand back, raised her gun and discharged both barrels into the negro, probably fatally wounding him. She began to reload her gun, when the sheriff and deputies rode up and took charge of the negro. Mrs. Reed, sobbing, begged the sheriff to let her finish Postick. WHEN CHILD IS INCORRIGIBLE HAVE THROAT EXAMINED

New York, Sept. 16.—"When a child is incorrigible, don't send him to the disciplinary schools off-hand. Have his throat examined by a health department physician. You will find that in many instances this incorrigibility and truancy can be traced to adenoid growths in the throat." That is what the superintendent of schools, Dr. W. H. Maxwell, told a hundred principals who went to the De Witt Clinton high school for a heart to heart talk about intimate school matters. Dr. Maxwell continued:

"No pupil should be sent to the school for discipline until he has been tried out in two schools and then I want such a one examined by health department physicians before he is sent."

FOR SALE BY F. J. HILL DRUG COMPANY, SALT LAKE CITY

Whitney's History of Utah at Half Price.

The Deseret News takes pleasure in announcing that it has secured the sole rights to the HISTORY OF UTAH, by Orson F. Whitney, originally published by the George Q. Cannon & Sons Co.

This work, which was begun in 1890, and printed in three large volumes (the fourth volume issued being biographical, and not a part of the direct history of Utah), is one of the largest and most exhaustive histories ever compiled of any western state. The three volumes bring the history of the state from the foundation down to the year 1890, at the time of the issuance of the manifesto, and includes the history of the Church from its organization in New York. The first ten chapters are devoted to this subject.

In the three volumes are included 235 full page steel plates, mostly portraits of leading figures in the history of the State, originally obtained at a cost of many thousands of dollars. The volumes each contain approximately 800 pages, a total of 2,351 pages in the three. The binding is quarto size, full morocco with gilt edges, no other style of binding being issued.

The three volumes were originally sold at $30.00, and several thousand sets were placed throughout the state at that figure. The "News" having obtained the unsold copies of the edition, will place them on the market at the coming October Conference and sell to the first comers at HALF THE ORIGINAL PRICE, OR $15.00 FOR THE THREE VOLUMES. No single volumes will be sold. Without doubt many libraries throughout the country will avail themselves of this rare opportunity, and Utah people who desire to add this work to their libraries are urged to call at the Deseret News book store and inspect the work during Conference.

The low price at which this rare work is offered will undoubtedly exhaust the edition in a short time. The work will then be out of print, so that every book-lover should avail himself of this last chance.

The original subscribers, who already have the first three volumes of the History of Utah are entitled to the fourth volume (containing individual biographies) free, by addressing George Q. Cannon & Sons Association.

The "News" has no interest in the fourth volume, the work being complete as above stated, in the three volumes, now offered at $15.00.
