

MUTUAL LIFE PAID SMALL SALARY

Care Taker of its Albany House,
Where Legislators Were Entertained Got $25 Per Month.

SIGNED LOTS OF VOUCHERS.

Metropolitan Life Co. Figures in Investigation—Prest, Hegeman Gets Same as McCall.

New York, Nov. 9.—The house in Albany, N. Y., which testimony before the insurance investigating committee has heretofore shown was for a number of years maintained by funds of the Mutual Life Insurance company, was again given some attention by Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the committee, when Michael P. Mullane, the caretaker of the house, was called today as a witness.

Mr. Mullane's testimony was in great part a corroboration of previous testimony that A. C. Fields, while employed as stationery agent of the Mutual also looked after legislative matters, and paid the rent for the Albany house.

Today a number of vouchers signed by Mullane were identified by the witnesses, who acknowledged receiving the money for them. Some purported to be for legal services, some for sundries and some for traveling expenses. Witnesses said he was not a lawyer and could not explain why vouchers were made out to that item.

J. M. Beck, counsel for the Mutual, however, took occasion to remind the counsel that all vouchers for the maintenance of this house, it had been testified, were charged to legal expenses. Mr. Hughes said that did not explain why some were for traveling expenses and some for sundries.

Mullane could not tell what the sundries were unless they were supplies. He had taken trips to New York to see Mr. Fields at the latter's suggestion. He did not know how many times he had been to New York. He sometimes bought tickets for Mr. Fields. Nineteen vouchers were identified by Mullane, for all of which he admitted he received the money, which aggregated $5,735. These were paid between March 7, 1904, and July 12, 1905.

Mullane said his salary was $25 a month. He had never carried any money to Albany from New York for Mr. Fields and had never paid out any money for Fields.

The greater part of the day William Barnes, Sr., formerly of Albany, but now living at Nantucket, Mass., sat in the committee room waiting to be called, but late in the afternoon he was excused for the day. Mr. Barnes figured in this investigation several weeks ago, when vouchers for legal services, bearing his signature, were produced, together with a letter signed by William Barnes, Jr., then in Albany, reminding the Mutual Life that his father's "honorarium" had not been received, and further asking that a check be forwarded.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company figured in the greater part of the day's proceedings. John R. Hegeman, president of the company, who was on the stand when adjournment was taken yesterday, was the first witness today, and the expenses of the company were further gone into. It was brought out that Mr. Hegeman's salary is the same as that of John A. McCall, president of the New York Life, $100,000. Previous to 1905, however, Mr. Hegeman received $90,000. The salary of Vice President Haley Pike is $75,000. George H. Gaston, second vice president, receives $35,000, and Frank O. Ayres, third vice president, receives $18,250.

The work of agents in the field and their compensation was taken up with Mr. Hegeman, and the fact that the actuary was called to supply details as to figures with which Mr. Hegeman was not familiar.

Late in the day, when Mr. Craig had been excused, Mr. Hegeman was again called, and the subject of the company's securities were taken up, but the interrogation had hardly begun when adjournment for the day was ordered.

PRESIDENT WOULD LIKE TO SEE TAKAHIRA AMBASSADOR

Washington, Nov. 9.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister here, had a long talk today with Secretary Root respecting the business of his mission, which this minister is making a preparation to departing for Japan on an extended leave of absence. While he is in Tokyo the minister will discuss with the foreign office officials the expediency of ranking the Japanese mission here to the rank of an embassy.

President Roosevelt would be glad to see this done, and he is particularly desirous that Mr. Takahira, for whom he has reserved the highest honor, should have the honor of being the first Japanese ambassador to America. But the president cannot initiate this movement because the existing statutes provide that he may erect the American legation at Tokyo into an embassy only after he has been advised that the Japanese government has taken such action in the case of its own diplomatic representation in Washington.

To carry this into effect the diet of Japan must first give its assent to the change, and that is the matter which Mr. Takahira will take up with the foreign officials when he reaches Japan. The diet does not convene until December, so that the change in the grade of the diplomatic posts at Washington and Tokyo, if it is made at all, probably cannot be made until early next year.

It is impossible at present to state whether or not Lloyd Garrison, the president of the American League at Tokyo, will be the first ambassador there. Mr. Garrison, according to cable dispatches, is leaving today to the governor of Japan, and it is not certain that he will return to Tokyo. He has been granted a leave of absence.

ISLAND OF MADEIRA: Great Britain Opposes German Claims to Part of It.

Lisbon, Nov. 9.—The development of the island of Madeira by Germany is causing a sharp diplomatic incident. A German company under Prince von Hohenlohe, a nephew of the former chancellor, is making extensive improvements in the island and sought to secure land claimed by the British. The German company is indirectly opposed the German acquisition of the island, thus bringing on a controversy.

Here Germany the German charge d'affaires here, declares there has been no settlement, but it is understood that he intended his intention to depart unless the German position was upheld.

Albert Smith, Gambler, Suicides.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 9.—Albert Smith, the gambler who shot and killed his wife and brother-in-law yesterday, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. He took a room at the Caribbea hotel last night and was found dead this morning, the room being forced open. The dead man was identified by a reporter of the Daily News. Smith lay on the floor with a bottle of carbolic acid by his side.

TREPOFF HAS BEEN REMOVED.

M. Witte Was Fully Aware That
His Retention in Office Was Causing Intense Hatred.

NOW FOR UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE

It is to be Granted Immediately—Result of Consultation With Constitutional Democrats.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 9, 5:30 p. m.—Hof and Count Witte and the emperor have made another surrender. Gen. Trepoft has been removed from the powerful position which he occupied, that of governor general of St. Petersburg and assistant minister of the interior, and Russia's premier has agreed to immediate universal suffrage.

Count Witte has been fully aware of the intense hatred Gen. Trepoft's retention in office was causing, but he never questioned the sincerity of the governor general's co-operation in the introduction of the new regime. Nevertheless he recognized the necessity of Trepoft's removal and the governor general and himself agreed that only his retirement would appease the popular wrath. The final obstacle was the emperor, who had come to believe that Trepoft alone was able to safeguard the life of himself and family, but his majesty at last yielded on the condition that Trepoft should become commandant of the palace, succeeding the late Lieut. Von Hesse, where his sole duty will be to take measures to protect the life of the emperor. The position of governor general of St. Petersburg ends with Trepoft's retirement, but the place of commander of the imperial guard has been assumed by the Grand Duke Nicholas.

The emperor, in agreeing to Trepoft's retirement, conferred on him the order of Alexander Nevski in diamonds.

The Russ and other radical papers which have been campaigning against Trepoft hail his removal with delight, as being the first victory for the free Russian press.

Gen. Trepoft claims to have been greatly misunderstood, and says that history must eventually acquit him of being in any way the instigator of the shedding of blood and all the other horrors which Russia has experienced during the last fortnight.

"I should think it unnecessary for me to deny that the government sought to inflame the passions of the people against each other," he said. "The manifesto seemed to rouse the elemental passions of the people. Different classes of the people did what they could to stifle and suppress the disturbances, but in many places the authorities were powerless to withstand the shock. The accusations against police made by enemies of the government who have demanded nothing short of miracles are largely inventions. The whole government cannot be transformed in a day, but in a single week wonders were accomplished. Amnesty was granted with freedom of the press, of which the press has taken so much advantage to calumniate me, the removal of the people are absurd. The removal of the people from the cities and the creation of a militia would mean civil war. The horrors of Tomsk were directly due to the militia, who fired on the people. We are living through a critical time, when the people are blinded by excitement and passion. As for myself, my own role will be recognized. I believe I shall be justified eventually if only by the measures to which my signature is attached."

The series of consultations which Count Witte has been holding with Constitutional Democrats, and even with the representatives of the conservative wing of the zemstovists, convinced him that it was useless to hold out longer if he was to continue seeking to secure the sympathy of the parties of the center. He therefore practically promised an immediate extension of the suffrage to include all classes of the population. The suffrage in the cities will be direct, and among the peasants indirect, through a single set of electors. Even upon these conditions, however, the Constitutional Democrats finally late last night decided definitely not to hold office in the present ministry. They take the high position that the ministry is only temporary, lasting until the national assembly or constituent assembly meets and they are not free to accept office until it is demonstrated that they have the support of the majority.

Prof. Nijukov, in explaining their position to Count Witte, advised the latter to take a ready-made constitution, like that of Belgium, to Petersburg.

hof and insist that the emperor promulgate it.
Dmitri Shioff, Michael Siskovich and M. Gulchok were present when a Hise Troubetsky informed Count

Witte that in deference to the wishes and program of his colleagues, it was impossible for him to take the portfolio of education.

The former, two of whom were slated for portfolios, declared that under the circumstances they also considered it wise to decline. It is generally believed, however, that they will not adhere to their resolution. If they do so Count Witte will content himself with minister d'affaires, in which place M. Menshikov or Mr. Prokoshin, professor of the Polytechnic institute, will hold the portfolio of education.

This is what the Democratic Constitutionalists desire. Until the people have spoken through a body elected by universal suffrage they will refuse all connection with bureaucracy. They have even declined to hold their convention at St. Petersburg upon Count Witte's invitation, considering it safer and wiser to meet at Moscow, where they are beyond the influence of the government, and they are confident that any universally elected body which meets to formulate the character of the new government will have a majority.

The violent program of the Social Democrats, who are now preaching armed rebellion if necessary, to secure a republic, will alienate those workmen who are still loyal to the emperor and church, Michael Siskovich, who is a prominent member of the party, together with Father Petroff, a Moscow priest who is regarded as being one of the most talented orators in Russia, and M. Abkhin, mayor of Kurek, are organizing a party within the Constitutional Democrats to appeal to the clerk. One of the planks of the platform will be the separation of church and state. Father Petroff being a believer in the ability of the church to support itself.

Eight reactionary governors have been removed. M. Milukof, who is well known in America, became editor of a newspaper in St. Petersburg, which will be the organ of the Constitutional Democrats.
