

MONTANA BEAT UTAH CHAMPIONS

Logan Aggies Went Down to Defeat by Score of Five To Nothing.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR 'VARSITY.

College Team will have to Hurry Up to Get in the Same Class with the East Bench Eleven.

The Montana university football team gave the Logan Agricultural College team the Utah champions, a crushing defeat yesterday afternoon. The game ended with a score of 5 to 0.

The Aggies played worse than a poor team. As the Montana aggregation had no chance against the University of Utah, the Logan team had no chance against the visiting eleven.

Consider this, and remember that, on Thanksgiving day, the Aggies and the 'Varsity teams play for the state championship.

In yesterday afternoon's game no score was made in the first half. The Montana team did not do much better than the Aggies in the first half, but they certainly improved during the latter part of the contest and nearly every play resulted in big gains. There was a great deal of kicking on both sides. Not baseball kicking, but football kicking.

The teams lined up as follows:

Montana:
Packer L. E. Roberts
McClure L. E. Mortenson
Bumick L. E. Ebert
Harris R. G. Hansen
Greenough R. B. Olsen
Valley Q. B. Penn
Holmes L. H. Hansen
Murphy L. B. Madsen
Wille L. B. Campbell
Referee—Campbell.
Twenty minute halves.

It is surprising that the Logan team played in such poor form, especially in view of the fact that the team has a number of important games in view with outside teams, and the contest for the state championship with the U. of U. on Thanksgiving day.

The Logan boys will have to do a great deal of hard work if they expect to have even a "look in" with the Aggies in the championship struggle. Of course they will improve in the meantime, but the Aggies are the best eleven we have ever seen, and the date for the big game rolls around, they should be in condition to meet the championship back from the Agricultural College.

The 'Varsity team is practicing every day, and new material is showing up in good form. Sam Bennett and Dick Pinsky are the latest acquisitions to the eleven, and both give promise of doing great work for the team. They weigh in the neighborhood of 180 pounds each, and both show the real fighting spirit so necessary in the great college game.

and he gave "Young Corbett" a drubbing. Britt started his professional career by defeating Toby Irwin at Oklahoma in a ten-round fight. Outside of his battles with "Young Corbett," Britt's hardest fight was with Frank Erne, who was knocked out in the seventh round; Willie Fitzgerald, who lost to Britt in the twentieth; George Lavigne knockout; Tim Hagarty, twenty rounds; Charles Siger, twenty rounds; "Young Corbett," twenty rounds.

Britt has a wicked left blow to the body that has won for him all of his fights. He is a great fighter on the defensive and the way he handled Watson's swings to the body in their fight opened the eyes of those who saw those who follow the game closely.

The referee question is going to be a perplexing one. Al Herford, Gans' manager, wants an eastern referee, and when the time comes he will insist that his wishes be granted. On the other hand Britt is just as settled in his decision that the referee must be a local man.

"I'm going to stand out for an eastern referee," declares Manager Herford. "I am willing to stand for any referee, but I will not stand for a local man."

"I will insist that the referee be a local man," says Britt. "As long as we have to have the fight to select the referee, I think Gans and myself can come to an agreement."

Joe Walcott, Pugilist Shoots and Kills Nelson C. Hall, Colored.

Boston, Oct. 15.—Nelson C. Hall, colored, was killed and Joe Walcott, the colored pugilist, was shot through the right hand by the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of Walcott early this morning. The accident occurred in the ante-room of Union Park hall, on Washington street, south end, where a dance was in progress. Walcott was arrested and later sent to a hospital. The sound of the firing caused a panic in the dance hall.

Before Walcott had a chance to explain the shooting the crowd was in an uproar and it was some time before the police could restore order. They then placed Walcott under arrest and held him in the police station.

Mr. Hall, who had been shot in the chest, and this so added to the excitement that the pugilist narrowly escaped rough handling by the crowd. Walcott will never be able to fight again.

Walcott said he was exhibiting a magazine revolver of large caliber to Hall, when from some unknown cause it was discharged. The bullet passed through Walcott's hand and then pierced Hall's heart, killing him instantly.

Lafayette departed over Rothwell's program for an earlier fight in California, but the American declared it would make no difference out his plan to box Nelson first.

Bob Fitzsimmons tells a good story about his last fight with Choyinski. It was in Boston, Choyinski landed one on Fitzsimmons' chin.

His first sensation upon becoming conscious was surprise at seeing the chair in the gallery, pointing down at him like a water fall. That was an optical illusion, but Bob didn't know it.

While he lay there pondering this phenomenon, he heard a man say to his neighbor: "I told you Choyinski would knock him out."

That was the first thing to remind Bob that he was in a fight. He came back and he struggled to his feet in time to interrupt the count.

"Choyinski! he is 'arder than Jeff!" said Fitz when he related the tale.

On this page will be found an account of arrangements for two important pugilistic events which will take place in the city as a principal. The first will be with Matt Nelson at San Francisco next month, and the next will be with James White of London.

Young Corbett is going against the toughest man he ever met, not excepting Kid Broad. The latter never could take the walling, and he may possibly get hurt. In Corbett is his old time form, in as good condition as when he beat Hanson, he should win over Nelson. But this is not saying that Nelson is a good fighter.

prize of the first magnitude for any club to have.

Lafayette has no particular plan of battling. All curves look alike to him. High or low, in or out, they are all the same to him. This does not mean to imply that Lafayette is a change hitter, and will go after anything. On the contrary, he wants a ball near enough to the plate to allow him to meet it fairly with his bat. He is a real hitter, a ball, and seldom is caught "biting" at bad ones.

With reference to the coming fight between Aurelio Herrera and Kid Goodman, the Battle Inter-Mountain has the following to say:

If Corbett can win a fight there will be a double victory in the contest between Aurelio Herrera and "Kid" Goodman. The contestants are Aurelio Herrera from the old fields of Bakersfield, Cal., and also known as the "Pride of Montana," and one "Kid" Goodman from the land of the bean-eaters, known as the fighting "Kid" from Isoton. Herrera thinks he is sure to land one of his telling blows on Goodman. And Goodman feels equally confident that he will land the swarthy one's head into a pulp before 20 rounds.

Much doubt has been expressed by Goodman's friends about Herrera's ability to do anything to Goodman that would sway the referee's decision. They say that they never was in better condition and that in addition to his skill at footwork his surprising ducks and admirable blocking he has developed a punch that is capable of sending any of them to the dreamy stage for the Queensbury limit. They point with some degree of pride to the fact that Goodman has been knocking out a lot of men lately. Jimmy Briggs and the Hawaiian, known as the "Hawaiian" blows, while Jack McCallum practically was out-punched for accuracy and power in the recent go in St. Louis.

Herrera is a dinger. His coolness is the wonder of his local fight followers. He makes few false moves with his feet, standing upright in the center of the ring, waiting for advance from the opponent or slipping in with testing left hand in order to make some kind of an opening for his favorite right, which he whips over to the jaw with amazing force and accuracy. Knowing from experience that he will have to make a stern chase with Goodman he has developed his footwork better in the last week than in his previous ones. The weight agreement calls for 130 pounds at 3 o'clock on the day of the contest.
