The Beaver Woolen Mills stand idle as a monument to somebody's incapacity or to the want of appreciation of the public, who were not patriotic enough to give these mills their support. It is regrettable that this large amount of capital should lie idle, while people want employment and the country produces and exports such vast amounts of wool. Here is a chance for some one of manufacturing ability and business tact to create a for-tune and make employment for his fel-lows. COALVILLE.

IRRIGATION LITIGATION.

IRRIGATION LITIGATION. Beaver people are preparing to contend in the lawsuit brought by their neigh-bors of Minersville to adjust their irri-gating differences. Perhaps if the means that will be spent in the lawsuit was ex-pended in reservoirs it would more effec-tually and more thoroughly settle the dif-ficulty. Minersville has a small reservoir now and an excellent site for another and the dam partially completed, while Beaver has several natural sites, and as yet but little done to develop them. A united ef-fort on the part of the people of Beaver could greatly increase their irrigating fa-cilities.
