EDITORIAL NOTES.

—Emma Jones writes to the Cleveland Herald, "I wonder sometimes how we have any credit at all in Europe, with the whole matter of our currency and public faith at the mercy of an ever-changing horde of new men floated into brief authority on the veering tide of politics each alternate year."

—Speaking of the hanging of a negro for violating a woman while her husband was at church, the (Tex.) Impartial says, "This is the first occurrence of lynch law in Cass County, and it will be sustained by every man who has a soul in his body."

—Among recent death certificates sent to the Hartford city clerk by the physicians of that city are the following awful assigned causes of death—"Colic infantum, scholar (scrofula), sun stroke, apoplexy fit colic infantum, infusio infantile, abesse, dires, parietis shock, reumatism (rheumatism), general debility, heart disease, carpalis, log fever, paralysis, lung fever, spinal meningitis."

—George Ringold, the actor, advertises in England that he is "an enormous success" in America.

—Ex-congressman Frank A. Palmer went into the Chicago Inter-Ocean with $50,000. He has withdrawn, but we do not hear much of the $50,000.

—The good times seem to be going south, young man. As an evidence, nearly every southern city is gaining largely in population.

—The Washington Star says, "Whether the sparrows fill their contract in other cities or not, we notice that there are no caterpillars on the trees in Washington this summer."

—Credit the Albany Argus with the following—"Well, you see, said a republican politician to a lady at Long Branch the other day, the best evidence of strength and integrity in our party is its power of recuperation. If we find a rogue in the chair of state what do we do? Hurl him out. If a public servant dishonors his trust, what do we do? Cast him forth. If a President is incompetent, what do we do? Elect him twice," said the lady."

—A magistrate in Columbus, S. C., sentences juvenile offenders to be whipped, and appoints their parents executioners.

—Prof. Huxley says that since his arrival in America he has learned a great many things, more, he thinks, than ever before, in an equal space of time during his life in England. When he becomes acquainted with congressmen, high officials, and other American politicians, they will teach him a few things that he never dreamed of in England.

—Mlle. Marie Poisson, the daughter of a wealthy shipowner, was the affianced of Count de Perant, a French sub-lieut. of artillery. Both his legs were carried away by a cannonball at Sedan. But Marie insisted on marrying him notwithstanding.

—Henry S. Randall, of Cortland, New York, author of "Sheep Husbandry," "Life of Thomas Jefferson," and other works, and for some time on the editorial staff of the Bural New Yorker, died Aug. 11.

CONGRESSIONAL LEGISLATION FOR UTAH.

The Republican Congress while in power passed two bills of a special and proscriptive nature, designed to apply particularly to Utah—the anti-polygamy and confessional bill of 1862, and the Poland bill of 1874, the former passed under the presidency of President Lincoln, and the latter under the presidency of President Grant.

Though both these laws are exceedingly unjust, and one at least is grossly unconstitutional, yet neither of them is anything near so unjust and oppressive as those who most urge such proscriptive legislation desired it to be, and in this respect, from the beginning unto the present, the efforts of the enemies of "Mormonism" have proved futile, and the unprincipled persons who made the efforts have proved notable failures in their various crusades, more numerous than those most recently engaged in the business.

During the late session of Congress, which was not a Republican Congress, though much evil was intended toward Utah, nothing whatever was accomplished, and the gentlemen who were sent from Utah and supported at Washington to secure such legislation had to return and relate their own lack of success, a lack richly deserved, because what they sought was a congressional abandonment of the principles of free republican government.

The present is the fourth congress which has sat since President Grant first occupied the executive chair. He has repeatedly informed them of his desire to have something done for Utah, and some of them his great desire and almost anxiety that way. Yet we have seen the little that an overruling Providence has permitted to be done in return for that anxiety and those efforts, and that little has not materially injured the people of this Territory, though it was intended to do so.

President Grant, as Chief Magistrate, will see one more session of Congress before his term of office expires. That session will be a short one, beginning on the first Monday in December next, and ending by the 14th of March next year, about three months only. Since the President made his late visit to Utah, so far as we have seen, he has not been so anxious as formerly to press severe special legislation for Utah, his views of the situation here having apparently become considerably modified. As the laws of the next session are the last over which he will have any special influence, and as that will be a brief session, and there will be plenty for that body to do in the three months of the session, abbreviated by the holidays, it is hardly to be expected that either the President or Congress will be disposed to spend much time or thought expressly and particularly upon Utah, and more especially when we consider that both the President and Congress must have become pretty well convinced by this time that there is a great deal of humbug in the recurring cry for special legislation for this Territory.

Much interest is manifested, and at an early hour spectators began to assemble. During the morning the competing crews were seen pulling to and fro over the course as a final preparatory exercise. The day is a lovely one and could not have been more favorable for the contest.

In the first heat of the four-oared race between the Eureka, Argonaut, and Dublin universities, Eureka was first, Dublin second, time 5:23. Weather fine.

CANADA.

THUNDERBOLT, Ont., 28.—The flouring mill of T. J. Andrews was burned this morning; loss $18,000.

FOREIGN.

GERMANY.

A Short Armistice.

BERLIN, 28.—The Powers have agreed to the request of the Porte to accede to the suspension of hostilities. Turkey has resolved to grant only a short armistice for the purpose of accelerating the settlement of the terms of peace.

GREAT BRITAIN.

WAR NEWS.

LONDON, 28.—A Belgrade special says Tchernayeff and Hovotich drove the Turks from Bagjevisch and Stancia, and then joined their forces, which increases the army of Moravia to 10,000 men.

A dispatch from Dauchten reports that on Tuesday two columns of Servians, at Alexinzat, mistook each other for the enemy, and a serious fight took place before the error was discovered. Some Bulgarian volunteers shot their commander who ordered them to advance. The wounded men declined to have any operation performed by the English surgeons, although they knew death would follow refusal.

Bullion in Bank.

Amount of bullion gone into the Bank of England on balance to-day is £19,000.

War Items.

The Standard's correspondent with the Turkish army telegraphs, under date of Nissa, August 27, says yesterday's and to-day's fighting has been the severest, resulting in a complete Turkish victory. The Servians everywhere are driven back, and their loss must be very great.

The Times on the Bulgarian atrocities.

The Times this morning has an editorial on the Bulgarian atrocities, which concludes as follows: "Mr. Barling's report and the testimony of other official witnesses will have much practical value during the negotiations which must follow the close of the Servian war. They will give this country a good opportunity of clearly defining the position it holds with respect both to Turkey and the great powers. It has been said that the Turkish ministers are careless of the English remonstrances, because they think that England will and must support Turkey, however flagrantly she may be ruled, and hence it is argued that she is indirectly accountable for the Bulgarian massacres. But it is difficult to believe that so baseless an idea can mislead the shrewd men who direct the Turkish Empire. They know very little of this country if they think it could condone such atrocities as those of Bulgaria. Like some other states it has an interest in Turkey, and would be desirable to see her strong, but she cannot be strong without being well governed until she has reversed many parts of her present system. Turkish misrule means weakness, recurring rebellion and foreign war, and it carries with it a menace to the welfare of Europe. This country will be ready to join other states in devising such reforms as will protect the Christian population without regard to the convenience of the Porte."

FRANCE.

Election.

PARIS, 28.—Count Mun, whose election to the Chamber of Deputies was invalidated by that body on July 13th, on account of undue services, has been again elected for the position of republican candidate for the Chamber. M. Huon has been elected for the Government Department of the Cotes Du Nord over Prince De Luinge.
