EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Washington paper says, "When we look over the astounding number of assaults, highway robberies and attempts thereat in this city, and understand that it is owing to the small force of patrolmen allowed us, the propriety of citizens preparing themselves for self-defense seems to be not only advisable, but pertinent to be advised."

The Washington Star of March 5 says, "The city is full of burglars, pickpockets and sneak thieves, and is likely to be for some time to come. As our police force is too small for even ordinary times, and as its members cannot be ubiquitous in such an emergency as the present, we advise our citizens to keep their shot guns and revolvers in readiness, and to fire away at any fellow found prowling in or around their premises. If they bring him down, the chances are ten to one that he will prove to be a burglar, prepared and determined to take life, if need be, to carry his ends."

The name of the Catholic priest who preached on the torments of hell, and thus "undesignedly prepared his hearers for the terrible denouement that was to follow," in the recent fatal panic at the church of St. Francis Xavier, New York, is given, in New York papers, as the Rev. Father Langcake, S. J., or Society of Jesus, popularly known as Jesuits.

Between two fires, and bound to be scorched by at least one of them. The New York World inveighs against President Hayes for keeping troops in the South. On the other hand the New York Times warns the President that if he does remove the troops the Times will solemnly abandon him to his fate. It is difficult to tell whether the President is likely to be abused most by his friends or his enemies.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says, "The democratic party is now apparently in the condition of the old man who lost his wife. The neighbors came in to console and condole with him, and sympathetically inquired if his wife was willing to die. 'Willing,' said the old man, 'she was obliged to.'"

Says an eastern paper, "You must excuse me, gentlemen," said General Schenck, when chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, to a breakfast party to which he had been invited, "but grindstones and hair-pins attacked me before I was out of bed, and hoop-skirts are now upon the pavement watching for me to go out. He meant the several lobbies begging bounties from a paternal Congress."

Joaquin Miller says Washington is the handsomest city he ever saw, and he intends to make it his permanent residence.

Kentuckians seriously think upon the restoration of the whipping post. The Lexington Gazette says, "Our penitentiary is crowded to excess with convicts, sent there for such offences as the lash, and only the lash, will cure, and by restoring this Scriptural and humane punishment, that institution will not only be relieved, but many suffering families whose heads have been taken from them by a cruel law, will be restored to comparative comfort."

NEW LAND LAWS.

ONE of the laws affecting land, passed at the late session of Congress, and published in the News of March 15, is to provide for the sale of desert lands in the Rocky Mountain region. The bill provides that any citizen of the United States, or a person who may be entitled to become such and who has filed his declaration of intention, may enter as much as a section (a mile square) of 640 acres of desert land, surveyed or unsurveyed, but in compact form, by paying twenty-five cents per acre and making oath that he intends to reclaim it by conducting water upon it for irrigation within three years. On proving that he has so reclaimed the land, he can have a patent to it by paying one dollar an acre more for it, at any time within the three years.

By desert lands is meant all lands that will not produce some agricultural crop without irrigation.

If this law had been passed when this Territory was first settled, it would have applied to nearly all the land in the Territory, for there was none but a limited quantity of hay land that could not have been called desert land of the character meant in this law.

Another law passed last session is one providing for the entry and purchase of government land situated within the corporate boundaries of cities, yet outside of the limits fixed by Congress for the actual sites for such cities. A law of this kind was much needed. Heretofore, land included as above could not be pre-empted or homesteaded and a title obtained to it, a United States law forbidding it, though there was no United States law to prevent people from settling upon it and improving it. Under the present law such land can be pre-empted or homesteaded, and patents obtained accordingly.

The town or city authorities may choose what portion of the lands covered by the corporation limits shall be included in the extent of townsite allowed by law; and all outside of that and within the corporation limits is to be open for pre-emption or homestead entry, for which patent of title may be obtained as for other government lands.

Excitement about the massacre of the Chinese laborers.

SAN FRANCISCO, 16.—A Chicago dispatch says increased excitement prevails there over the massacre of the Chinese the night before last. To-day a public meeting was held, largely attended by the most influential citizens. Resolutions were passed denouncing the crime committed and pledging the citizens to use all means to bring the perpetrators to justice. A committee was appointed to further that end. The excitement was intensified by the discovery of a placard on the office door of what is known as the Keene machine, on the premises prior against employing on the peril of the destruction of his property, Chinese. Gardeners in the vicinity had had notices printed warning all persons about approaching their premises after dark, that they will be in danger from guards posted for their own protection. A San Francisco, to-day, the prospect of the Chinese companies $1,000 to be offered as a reward for the apprehension and conviction of the murderers. It has been asserted that the order of massacre was given by the Chinese in this vicinity, prompted by the action of the Sierra Flume Company, in discharging their employees, Chinese in their places, but the company state that no white men have been discharged in the last two months, and no extra Chinese employed. A strong disposition is evinced to hold the order of massacre at least morally, responsible for the outrage, though the members of the order strenuously deny any such responsibility, and assert their willingness to assist in the apprehension of the criminals. The job of clearing the land on which the murdered Chinamen were engaged had been offered to whites at $4 per acre more than the Chinamen demanded, but was declined.

In conformity with the orders of the Secretary of the Navy, the steam corvette Laetona will leave as soon as possible for Mazatlan to investigate the recent seizure and detention of the American steamer Albatross. The Eastern Troubles.

LONDON, 16.—In the House of Commons Sir Stafford Northcote said the present situation is, the British Government has received from Russia a proposal to join in a protocol whereby the views of the Powers as to the situation in the East. The drift of the protocol, as proposed by Russia and given to Lord Derby on Sunday, is better described by the words, "Modifications of the language were proposed, which amendments were placed in the hands of Count Schouvaloff, who could only receive them as references, and is awaiting instructions from Russia."

A St. Petersburg correspondent says when General Ignatieff submitted the proposed protocol for the Emperor's signature, he was asked, "What was there in it to commit anybody. It might be safely signed by every power in Europe from Russia to Monaco."

A Vienna dispatch says the Prince of Montenegro has ordered the troops to be sent to the frontier by Sunday.

Defence of Cassagnac on the Charge of Violating the Press Laws.

VERSAILLES, 16.—In the chamber of Deputies, to-day, the government for authority to prosecute deputy Paul De Cassagnac for violation of the press laws. Cassagnac made a speech declaring the republicans their devotion to liberty, but did not carry out its principles.

They merely acted as monarchists would do under the same circumstances. He denied that he had attacked the chamber in his journal. His attacks were directed only against individuals or parties; not had he made any attacks on the established government, which he would continue to respect until 1880. He censured Minister Simon, who formerly defended Rochefort. He said he would respectfully accept the decision of the chamber, but would again raise his head before the court of justice if he should be arraigned. The speech was frequently applauded by members of the Right.

Simon, replying, objected to Cassagnac's invoking the republican principles. If this was submitted to by the republicans they would eternally dupes. He declared himself still an advocate of liberty, but Cassagnac's offence was against the common law, viz., inciting civil war. He inveighed against the Bonapartists who were the cause of the belief that they could act with impunity, and strove to return to power by terrorism. The assailants of the republic would find men resolved to defend it.

The chamber divided and the government's request granted by 292 yeas to 147 nays. The minority was composed of extreme radicals and monarchists.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

EASTERN.

The "World" Denounces Hayes for Keeping the Troops in the South.

NEW YORK, 17.—The World's editorial says Hayes has no more constitutional right or authority to keep the troops in the State House of a sovereign State, when the Executive Standstill has been declared him to withdraw them, than he has against or without the request of the Governor of that State to send troops there. He is openly and flagrantly breaking the laws which he has sworn to support. He has asked the country to regard him as a statesman, not as a party politician, and his present conduct is not only stamping him irreconcilable as a politician, but bringing him into imminent danger of proving himself guilty of riot, bloodshed and revolution.

The "Times" Objects.

The Times Washington dispatches state that the President will withdraw the troops from the Southern States, and the Times editorially thereto, the Times says it hopes better counsels will prevail, but if the President persists, he and the Times will part company.

Unfavorable Weather for St. Patrick's Parade.

The weather is very disagreeable and unfavorable for St. Patrick's parade, to-day. There is about two inches of snow on the ground, and now, 3 a. m., it is raining, with no prospect of abatement.

Waiting for a Reward for Sharkey the Murderer.

The World says for sometime officials in the sheriff's office have known where Sharkey the murderer is, and insist that if a reward was offered, no doubt he would be forthcoming.

The Striking Miners of Scranton, Pa.—Address to the Mayor—Must Have Bread by Fair or Foul Means.

The World's Scranton special says serious trouble is apprehended with the striking miners. There is much excitement in town. A delegation waited on the mayor this evening, and their leader addressed him as follows: "We represent the starving workmen of Scranton. I have a family of eight children, who have lived on bread and water for two weeks. Now we have water, but the Lord only knows where the bread is coming from. We come to demand bread, and unless we have it within forty-eight hours, we shall take it by fair means if we can, but by foul if we cannot. The situation is certainly critical, notwithstanding the reports to the contrary circulated by merchants and others, who fear their credit will be affected."

Minister Davis Charged with Grave Offenses.

A Washington special says many Americans have filed complaints against Bancroft Davis, minister to Berlin, for discourtesy and grave offenses.

No Relations Wanted.

The Tribune's Washington special says among the unsuccessful candidates for United States Marshal for the northern district of Illinois was Amer Stillwell. He was admitted to a private audience with the President and presented his papers. The President looked at them all carefully through, and then looking Stillwell in the face said, "Your papers are unexceptionable. There is nothing in your record which does not seem to show that you are fully qualified for the position, but there is one insuperable objection to your appointment to office, and that is your wife is a favorite cousin of Mrs. Hayes. Stillwell left the presidential office convinced that the fact which many thought would insure his appointment, had rendered his defeat inevitable."

Celebration of St. Patrick's Day in New York.

The police commissioners gave orders that the streets be thoroughly cleaned for the processionists of to-day, but a snow storm coming up last evening and continuing throughout the night made the streets impossible to clean. The Irishmen in line, which is not as extended as that of previous years, are enthusiastic as ever. Neither bands nor banners are as numerous as of yore. The Union flag and Irish flags floated in unison from many flagstaffs. The day will be closed by balls and banquets.

Refused to Accept.

CHICAGO, 17.—When the passenger rates to New York from the West were announced by the passenger agents who met in St. Louis, the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad refused to accept the advance, and continued to sell tickets at the old rate, $15. This action was taken in defiance of the Vanderbilt policy in the New York Central competition. It was expected that the Lake Shore would side with the advance, but that not having been done, the other roads will undoubtedly return to the old figures in a few days.

St. Patrick's Day—Processions, etc.

St. Patrick's Day dawned bright and cheerful, and though the ground was covered with heavy snow, the processions formed in various parts of the city at an early hour, and after the church services had been held, paraded the streets to the number of about 8,000. Among the notable features of the procession were the second regiment and various Catholic temperance societies and civil organizations.

A Whisky Ring is Wanted its Fine Reduced.

The Journal's Washington special says A. C. Heesling, a whisky trader, is in Washington trying to get his fine reduced from $300,000 to $100,000. This will be made a test case.

Secretary Sherman Denies the Stories About Conant.

Wool Market.

BOSTON, 17.—Wool has been in fair demand during the past week, the sales comprising nearly 1,500,000 lbs. The market continues rather weak, and prices a shade easier for nearly all grades, as holders are now desirous to close up their stocks as fast as possible, and the responsible buyers present themselves they do not hesitate to make some slight concessions. Fleeces have attracted more attention this week. Sales of 500,000 lbs. of good lines of medium and No. 1 Ohio and Pennsylvanias at 40 @ 42; X 41 @ 43, with some very choice at 45 @ 46; some choice fine fleeces sold at 48 @ 52, but 45 is about all that can be obtained for the best lots. Wisconsin and Michigan fleeces sold at 38 @ 40, but the latter is now difficult to obtain, and sales of both Michigan and Wisconsin have been mostly at 35 good. The sales of the week have been considerably reduced. Stocks of combings and delaine fleeces have been in demand, particularly the latter, and for this description the prices continue to be sustained, as the stocks are sold up close. Delaines have been selling at from 44 @ 50, mostly from 45 @ 48; pulled wool has been in fair demand, but at rather low prices, particularly for low grades; sales of 181,000 lbs., at from 25 @ 30 for low super up to very choice; the principal sales having been in the range of 25 @ 35 for 45 super and X; the market continues to move off freely, some very choice lots being sold at 25 @ 27, but the bulk of the sales has been in the range of 15 @ 20; super 25 @ 30.

Eastern Affairs—The Protocol Appears to be Completed.

LONDON, 17.—The Times, in a leading editorial, evidently based on intelligence from official sources, says that General Ignatieff will return to Paris on Monday. He went to participate in the negotiation concerning the protocol, as that negotiation is practically ended. Its success appears to be complete. It is thought the assent of the Russian government to the modifications introduced by the British cabinet will be given by telegraph even before Ignatieff departs. When Russia's assent is given to the text of the protocol, as revised by Great Britain, the formal assent of the other powers will be signified. France and Germany have already declared the protocol unobjectionable. Italy's assent is certain. Ignatieff, on leaving London, proposed to the Vienna press that Vienna also certain that he will receive Austria's assent. The success of his mission will then be complete. All the states of Europe will declare their continued interest in the object to which the Russian government has devoted itself. They will engage to present this disposition of theirs to the Porte and to suggest the execution of the reform decided upon at the conference. This will be considered by Russia as sufficient guarantee for the cause of the Christians, as satisfying her interests and honor, and as relieving her from the necessity of making any further preparation for war. The Russian government, therefore, in pursuance of the stipulations of understanding of the protocol, will give an order for the demobilization of her forces.
