

STATE INSPECTOR PREDICTS FAMINE

Declares a Car Shortage Will Come Again This Winter.

THE MINES NEED MORE MEN.

Miners Are Scarce and Labor Troubles
Add to Other Confronting Companies.

The demands being made upon shipping facilities by sugar factories in creating a shortage of cars for the transportation of coal. These conditions obtain every year, yet the railroads make no provision for it. Those are the arguments of State Coal Mine Inspector J. E. Pettit by which he shows that this winter will again be marked by a coal famine. In his trips through the state's coal producing sections, Mr. Pettit has found the exact condition prevailing and has noted the effect it is sure to have on the coal situation in cities this year.

In other localities throughout the state, Mr. Pettit has found that consumers are storing coal. That is, they have stored three or four tons during the summer and hope to get two or three more tons during the winter. In this way they will escape the famine. This condition is marked more outside of the large cities than it is there.

MORE MEN NEEDED.

That the mines need more men is asserted by Mr. Pettit in another condition, more or less important in the consideration of the coal question. Fully one-third of the state's output goes into coke. Mr. Pettit declares, and much cooking coal is being sent to the market for domestic uses.

OUTPUT OF UTAH MINES.

Mr. Pettit furnishes the following table on the daily output of Utah's coal mines.

Mine	Tons
Sunnyvale	2,300
Castle Gate	970
Winter Quarters	1,350
Clear Creek	1,100
Utah mine	300
Union Pacific at Winter Quarters	600

STILL UNDER FIRE.

Willis Brown, Formerly of This City,
Criticized by Judge Lindsay.

The former judge of the Salt Lake juvenile court, Willis Brown, is still under fire, Judge Benjamin Lindsay of Denver, an erstwhile friend to Brown, being among the foremost of his critics. A recent issue of the Denver Rocky Mountain News contains a statement from Judge Lindsay, in which he quotes letters received by him from Utah, reflecting on the honesty and integrity of Judge Brown. Mr. Lindsay is quoted as saying:

"Governor Guichenot, idiosyncrasy of the hour dealers of Chicago and praised by the members of Denver, has now turned himself up with an imposter of juvenile court work." Judge Lindsay stated to a representative of the News that he had written from officials of Salt Lake denouncing Willis Brown as an "outcast among juvenile court workers Christian associations, mothers' clubs and others interested in the moral advancement of the country."

The following is taken from a letter written by Oscar L. Cox, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of this city, to Judge Lindsay of Denver and reproduced by the Denver paper:

"I regret to hear of the embarrassment which has come to you from having extended so many courtesies to Willis Brown. I have had somewhat similar experiences. After assisting him to secure the office of judge of the juvenile court in Salt Lake, I was finally forced to call him into my office and inform him that I could no longer back him, as I believed him intentionally or unintentionally dishonest. I was informed only a day or two back by a gentleman who had written to him concerning a dishonored check which Brown had issued, that his reply was largely devoted to a criticism of me. I mention this to show you that the man is without any sort of gratitude or honor. Should it be possible to induce Brown to adopt standards of ordinary honor, he would be a valuable man in some phases of boys' work."

"My close experience with him here for the last two years leads me to believe that he is absolutely unscrupulous in his dealings when he conceives his own interests to be at stake."

"Commenting on an interview from Judge Lindsay, the News says:

"On a recent lecture trip to the east, Brown, according to Judge Lindsay, represented himself to Mrs. Sarah Platt Becker, president of the National Federation of Women's clubs, as still judge of the juvenile court at Salt Lake, and said he was granted leave of absence to give a lecture course on juvenile court work." Judge Lindsay is said to have questioned the truth of this statement, and wrote to Governor Cutler. The following reply is said to have been written by the governor: "I have the honor to state that Willis Brown was never engaged by the juvenile court commission of Salt Lake City, under the law which went into effect on March 23, 1907. He is not judge of the Salt Lake juvenile court, and has not been since the old court went out of existence with the operation of the new law. Its decision was absolute that he does not possess the required qualifications for the juvenile court judgeship."

CHUKAS WILL NOT BREAK LAW AGAIN

Foreigner Spends Night in Jail to Learn Lesson About Court Orders.

FAILED TO FILE INVENTORY.

Did Not Fulfill Duty as Administrator
Of Brother's Estate, and Is Locked in Jail.

It is fairly safe to say that George P. Chukas will never again violate a court order. Chukas spent last night in a cell at the county jail for defaulting as administrator of the estate of his brother Spyros Chukas. This morning he appeared in court to answer and promised to be good.

Over a year ago Chukas was appointed administrator of the estate of his deceased brother. Both the men had come to this country from Greece. Chukas was given the job by the sheriff. Chukas was killed and upon his death he left behind him considerable property to be disposed of, most of it being cash saved from his earnings as a laborer. After the things had been made and Chukas appointed administrator of his brother's estate, the law says that within 30 days he should file his inventory. It was due almost a year ago. It has never been filed.

CHUKAS MAKES PROMISES.

On that showing made to the court, an order issued yesterday directing the body of Chukas be produced in court this morning at 9 o'clock. The order was given out to the sheriff for service. Chukas was found by a deputy sheriff and taken to the county jail, where he was confined over night, that he might surely grasp the court room this morning. When he appeared this morning in court, he promised to file the inventory and to pay the costs of the proceedings.

Chukas has long since completed his work as administrator for his brother's estate, all the money has been sent to Greece and he has come back to dig down in his own pockets to produce the costs demanded by the court. He will probably never again be in contempt of court.

DONALDSON SEEKS DELAY.

Because his attorneys have not completed their bill of exceptions, "Dr." Jim Donaldson asked Judge Armstrong yesterday to postpone the time for his conviction to Tuesday. The case is the anniversary of the McWhirter robbery that Donaldson appeared in court, for just one year ago yesterday the judge rendered his verdict against the defendant. Donaldson was charged with robbing a jury in Judge Armstrong's court yesterday. He was arrested after a running fight at Bingham Junction in company with Thomas Moore, who will be tried later.

FLEMMING FOUND GUILTY.

John Fleming, who was charged by Deputy Sheriff Ira Rockstead of Bingham Junction with having robbed him of his revolver in a somewhat sensational manner, was found guilty of robbery by a jury in Judge Armstrong's court yesterday. Fleming was arrested after a running fight at Bingham Junction in company with Thomas Moore, who will be tried later.

JEWETTS STAY TOGETHER.

Judge Morse Refuses to Grant Husband's Prayer for Divorce.

George W. Jewett was denied a divorce from his wife, Christina Jewett, by Judge Morse yesterday morning. Jewett filed his action supplemental to one filed by his wife, in which she alleged that he was earning a good living, but that she was deprived of the common law rights of a wife. The court, on motion of his attorney, the matter was continued until Monday next, at which time the accused will plead. McDonald has not yet furnished bail in the sum of $250.

GOES OVER UNTIL TUESDAY.

The case of the state vs. William Newton, the attorney charged with receiving stolen property, was set for this morning in the Third district court. The state is not being ready the matter went over until Tuesday next.

Sawyer, Almira Louisa Sawyer, Mary Augusta Sawyer, Susan Dorsey Sawyer, Joseph G. Sawyer, and Abiel P. Sawyer, Jr.

COURT NOTES.

Dr. C. E. Hefel has brought suit in the Third district court against Neah Brent, seeking to secure judgment for $400, with interest and costs of suit, claiming that the amount is due as the balance on an unpaid promissory note.

J. Ross Gowan, an administrator of the estate of J. Ross Gowan, has brought suit against the Utah Light and Railway company in which he is seeking $5,000 damages for the death of the deceased, claiming carelessness on the part of the company.

Joseph E. Faine and Max Jungahand have filed suit in the Third district court against Frank Hagahorah, alleging that he owes them $100.00 for the trustee of an option on the Ludlow Copper Mining company in Nevada.

George Reed has brought suit in the Third district court against the Success Mining Company, seeking to compel Elmer Williams, its secretary, to turn over to him 1,000 shares of the company's stock. He claims that the stock, which is said to be worth $5,000 was bought by him in March, but that it has been turned over to him.

JESSE W. PRICE KILLED BY TRAIN

Lewiston Man Struck While Crossing Railroad Track in Northern Cache.

HURLED DISTANCE OF 30 FEET

Skull Fractured by Fall, Death Resulting Instantly—Claimed No Warning Given.

(Special to the "News.")

Lewiston, Sept. 20.—Jesse W. Price, of Lewiston, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon, at the crossroads one mile north of Richmond, by the south-bound passenger train from Preston. The wagon on which he was riding was struck by the engine, he was hurled a distance of at least 30 feet, and his skull was fractured by the fall.

Mr. Price had been hauling grain at Merrill's spur, and was on his way home. The wagon road parallels the railroad track and on either side high sweet clover fringes the roadway. It was impossible for a person to see an oncoming train, and the down grade would occasion but little noise from the revolving wheels.

DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS.

Just as the front wheel of Mr. Price's wagon was on the track, as he attempted to cross to the west side, the engine struck the vehicle, with the result stated. It is doubtful if the victim knew what struck him, so suddenly did death come. One horse was killed outright, and the other was put to its existence by persons who arrived upon the scene. The wagon was demolished.

NEGLECTANCE CHARGED.

Much censure is expressed against those in charge of the train, of persons who were nearby at the time state that no whistles were sounded nor warnings given until the engine was almost upon the wagon and its occupants.

The deceased was about 46 years of age, and came to Lewiston about six years ago from other cities and the normal graduates are particularly efficient this year and the work they are doing is splendid. The pupils, too, seem to be well up in their work more so than in years past. This of course is adding materially in the progress of the classes.

"With all the crowding that is incident to the opening of school we find this year it is felt less than ever before. There is a good distribution of pupils and the general average throughout the city is high. The work in the grades is going right along with the other books and to make the change from one series to another will result in no loss in the grammar grades, and an attendance this year that is far ahead of all years past and the pupils making better progress than ever before.

He says the canyon never looked prettier than it does now with the leaves and trees turning in autumn tints. He is arranging to entertain those who make the trip to Ogden on the Rio Grande Sunday. Between 25,000 and 50,000 persons visited the canyon this season; this number includes only those who rode up in carriages. It is impossible to make an estimate of the others who went up by auto and on foot," he says. "The season is a little old but still they come, finding the 'big fire' welcome and jolly."

CITY'S SCHOOLS SHOW GOOD FORM

Regardless of Crowded Conditions Splendid Progress is Being Made.

PAST RECORDS ARE EXCELLED

Teachers and Pupils Appear to be Making Greater Headway Than Ever Before.

Reports received by Superintendent D. H. Christensen of the city schools show the conditions existing locally to far exceed those of any previous year. He completed a tour of the city schools this week, which showed to him that they are running more smoothly after a two weeks' start than they have done previously in a month or more. In every school in the city these conditions were found by Mr. Christensen.

"We have been particularly fortunate this year in securing good teachers," said Mr. Christensen, today. "The experienced teachers who have come to us from other cities and the normal graduates are particularly efficient this year and the work they are doing is splendid. The pupils, too, seem to be well up in their work more so than in years past. This of course is adding materially in the progress of the classes."

"With all the crowding that is incident to the opening of school we find this year it is felt less than ever before. SCHOOLS NOT HAMPERED.—Mr. Christensen says that the work of the schools is not hampered to any appreciable extent by the lack of text books. In the high school, where the new books are available in fewer numbers than in the grammar grades, the work is usually conducted mostly by lectures for the first month. The shortage in books, therefore affects the progress of the work.

According to the rules the flag must be held by three selected men from each class, and the classes, lined up at each end of the field are given a signal to march, and only a free for all scrimmage for 10 minutes.

The men named this year were for the sophomores, Christensen, Groves, and Tracy, the last named being a member of the football squad. Those representing the freshmen were Dave Peterson and Home, all football aspirants.

CANNING FACTORY IS VISITED TODAY

A distinguished automobile party invaded Davis county this morning and visited the Woods Cross Canning factory where operations are now in full swing. Among the interested spectators who left this city early were President Joseph F. Smith, President Anthon H. Lund, Hon. John Henry Smith, William Spivey, James H. Anderson, Thomas Hall, George and John Stringham.

The party was met at the factory by Manager Stringham who explained the workings of the various automatic machines which passed the tomatoes along until they were canned, cooked, labeled and boxed. Not the least interesting sight was the various tables along both sides of which were ranged girls who peeled the steaming tomatoes, and the various machines which cut and boxed the cans.
