FRAGMENTS.

These sprinkles are very refreshing. The High Council meets at 7 o'clock to-night.

"UNCLE TOM" holds the rest of the week at the Opera House.

We regret to hear of the illness of President David O. Calder. He has been unable to leave the house, except for a short drive, for the last two or three days.

LOCAL NEWS.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."—The performance of this celebrated drama at the Opera House last evening, drew out a large audience, and the play, as presented by Smith's double manly combination, proved an excellent attraction. They repeat it to-night and to-morrow evening. It will be worth seeing. Matinee to-morrow at 2 p.m.

Expert Bicycling.—The extraordinary riding of Mr. Wilmot and the other experts, under the management of Lord Belmont, last evening, was by far the finest ever seen in this city. The remarkable succession of astonishing feats of dexterity as the best hall in America for such purposes. I was more than pleased, so were all our party from Evanston.

The Patti Concert.—Mr. O. C. Smith, writing from New York, says: "We had most excellent seats at the Tabernacle, could hear the most delicate tones, and were not crowded nor roasted as I have usually been at such places. In fact, I regard the Tabernacle as the best hall in America for such purposes. I was more than pleased, so were all our party from Evanston."

Third District Court.—Proceedings before Chief Justice Hunter on Friday, April 11th, 1884.

Guardian Conkling vs. Bevere Concentrating Company; default, reference, and judgment for plaintiff, as prayed.

Wm. H. H. Bowers vs. London Bank of Utah (Limited); motion of defendant to dissolve attachment made on arguments of counsel. Baskin & Van Home for defendant and J. B. Sutherland and Arthur Brown for plaintiff. Case proceeding this afternoon.

Obsequies.—We have received from Bishop D. H. Cannon, of St. George, a synopsis of the life of Sister Lydia G. Knight, an account of which, from other sources, we have already published. The funeral services, Brother Cannon states, were held in the Tabernacle at St. George, Saturday, April 10th, at 11 a.m. The esteem in which the deceased was held by the people, was manifested by the general attendance from St. George and the Santa Clara.

An Insane Murderer.—A special to the Butte Miner from Deer Lodge, Montana, dated April 8th says:

"Sheriff Berry, of Missoula county, came up to-day, having in charge John Harvey, committed to the Warm Springs Asylum. Harvey is proprietor of the Lower Bitter Root Ferry where he killed an entire stranger last Thursday morning, shooting him twice with a needle gun and tying his limbs with ropes after he was dead. The ferry is the spot where Halpine was mysteriously murdered last summer. It is thought his insanity is the result of his brooding over that tragedy."

The Water Pipes.—The extension of the city water pipes progresses. A block on Seventh Street, East, between First and Second Streets, South, and two blocks on Second Street, South, between Fifth and Eighth Streets, East, are now being furnished with the necessary piping. The department have on hand a reserve of piping sufficient for thirteen blocks, but owing to the difficulty of procuring the necessary three-fourths inch pipe from persons whose property is to be benefited, the work goes on more or less slowly.

Discourse on Plural Marriage.—On Sunday evening, by request, President George Q. Cannon will deliver a discourse in the Twelfth Ward Assembly Room. Subject—Is Plural Marriage a Tenet of the Religion of Faith of the Latter-day Saints, and, if so, can their Practice of it be Legally interfered with under the Constitution?

The hall will be seated to its full capacity for the occasion, and a cordial invitation is extended to all, especially to people not connected with the Church, who may desire to hear the question explained from the standpoint of a Latter-day Saint.

Services will begin at 7 o'clock.

H. B. CLAWSON, Bishop.

Robert Pringle's Death.—A brief item in the News, a few days ago, chronicled the death of Robert Pringle by drowning, while at work on the Oregon Short Line bridge, on the 4th of April. A letter to relatives in this city, from a friend of the deceased, gives a few particulars which were lacking in our former notice of the sad event.

The deceased was at work as a mason on the stone abutments for an iron bridge over the Snake River, and while crossing the river in a small boat from one pier to another, a distance of 600 or 700 feet, being alone at the time, the boat capsized on a wire suspended across the river and was upset. Robert was never seen afterwards. Search has been made for the body, but so far without avail. The deceased was aged 36 years and 6 months, and was a resident of the Twenty-first Ward of this city, where his widow and six children now reside. They have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their bereavement.

The Press in Russia.—A gentleman who traveled through Russia a few years ago, relates the following:

"While I was at Moscow, a quarto volume was published on the condition of the liberties of the subject. In this work the Czar was severely criticized and freely blamed for the intellect and venality of the administration of law was described in strong language. Such a book in such a country attracted general notice, and the offender was taken into custody. After being tried in a summary way, his production was determined to be a libel, and the writer condemned to eat his own words."

"I was induced to see this singular sentence put into execution. A scaffold was erected in one of the most public streets of the city; the imperial provost, the magistrate, the physicians, and surgeon of the Czar attended; the book was separated from its binding, the margin cut off, and every leaf rolled up into the form of a mortar-pestle, when taken out of the wheel at Guildhall. The author was then served with them, lead by lead, by the provost—who put them into his mouth, to the no small diversion of the spectators—and was obliged to swallow the pestles, a punishment more dreadful than death. When the medical gentlemen were of opinion that he had received enough into his stomach, as much as was at one time consistent with safety, the transgressor was sent back to prison, and the business resumed the following day. After three very hearty, but unpleasant meals, I am convinced, by ocular proof, that every leaf of the book was actually swallowed."

BISHOPS' MEETING.

LAST NIGHT'S PROCEEDINGS—THE MEETING ADJOURNS SINCE DUE.

The Bishops met in their regular semi-monthly meeting, at the Social Hall, last evening, at 7 o'clock, Presiding Bishop Wm. B. Preston, and Counselors presiding. There were present also of the Stake authorities, Presidents Angus M. Cannon and Jos. E. Taylor. After the usual opening exercises, with prayer by Counselor L. W. Hardy, the Presiding Bishop requested him to address the meeting.

Bishop Hardy stated that it had been deemed wisdom to discontinue these meetings from to-night, and as this was the last one of a long series under the auspices of the General Bishopric, he felt like saying a few words to his brethren before him. He referred to the changes that had taken place since the Bishops of this city used to meet in a little room, 12 feet by 12, which used to stand near the Council House, and each Bishop would take his turn in bringing tallow candles to light the house; whereas, they now had this commodious hall to meet in, with gas and all the modern improvements.

He said the records which had been kept by the clerk were among the most interesting in the Church. The First Presidency and Apostles had often met with the Bishops, and the books contained many of their choice sayings. The last meeting President Young ever attended in this life was the Bishops' meeting, he having been taken sick the very night with his final illness. The speaker had much enjoyed these meetings, and his long and intimate association with the late Presiding Bishop, and he was well satisfied with the appointment of Brother Preston as his successor. He felt to thank the Bishops for their long and arduous labor, and the respect shown him by all, and on this the last occasion of their assembling together, in this capacity, (since it had been deemed wisdom to transfer the business of these meetings to the monthly Priesthood meetings of the Stake) he felt to say with all his heart: "God bless the Bishops!"

Presiding Bishop Wm. B. Preston said he was glad to meet here with his brethren. He had often heard of the Bishops' meetings of Salt Lake City, and had attended some of them, whenever he had the opportunity, and had always been highly spoken of. They had subserved the end for which they were instituted, but a more perfect organization of the Stake of Zion now rendered them unnecessary. President Taylor and the Authorities were willing for them to be discontinued and this met his views. The business hitherto transacted here properly belonged to the monthly Priesthood meetings, where full liberty was given the Bishops to bring up any business that needed attention in a general way.

In regard to his recent calling to preside over the Bishops, he felt that if he had had his own will he would not be here, but he did not know that he was any more entitled to his own will in such matters, than "He who came not to do his own will, but the will of the Father who sent him," and therefore he felt satisfied with what had taken place, and while he did not wish to make any promises, he would say that he hoped always to be found standing in his lot and place, trying to do his duty as he saw it. He had sometimes contemplated the onerous duties of a Bishop, in which he had had experience since 1857, that it was a thankless office. Paul said, "He who destroyeth the office of a Bishop, destroyeth a good thing." He sometimes felt like adding to this "and a good deal of work." But God had always blessed him in trying to magnify his office, and in this was the secret of every Bishop's success and the enjoyment of his calling.

He showed the necessity of keeping up with the times, as Bishop Hunter used to say, and with the changes and improvements which would come about continually in the growth of the Kingdom of God under the counsels of His servants in authority. He cited an illustration often used by President George A. Smith, wherein he compared several three-fourths inch pipes from persons whose property is to be benefited, the work goes on more or less slowly.

"What is that?" one might ask, as the tender blade shot up from the sod. "That is a stalk of corn," would be the reply. Some time would elapse and the single blade would have grown into a stalk, with several large leaves hanging to it.

"What is that?" the same person would query. "That is a stalk of corn," "Impossible!" the querist would retort. "I know what a stalk of corn is, but this doesn't resemble it a particle." After a while the stalk would come forth, as the stalk continued to ripen, and unless the observer kept pace with the changes which growth and ripeness would bring about, he would be completely left in the background, as was the case with those who failed to appreciate the fact that the course of God's kingdom was onward and its progress never-ending.

The Bishops should not assume too much labor themselves, not try to be Bishop, Priest, Teacher and Deacon all at once, but should divide the labor and give each a chance to manifest his calling. Every quorum should be complete and in active working order, not alone to lighten the labor, but to get young men into the harness early, that they might grow up in discipline, form steady habits and be useful. It was not nearly so easy to break in a wild horse, five years old, as to take it when it was younger and more tractable. The humble, faithful Deacon who magnified his office, was more honored in the sight of God than the High Priest who did not honor his calling.

Counselor R. T. Burton reminded the Bishops to send in their reports as to local receipts and disbursements, together with a statement of the amount they needed from the General office to make up the deficit for the support of their quorum. It was the design to let each Bishop henceforth have the disbursing of funds needed from the General office for the relief of the poor of his Ward, and take this labor off the Presiding Bishopric, therefore a report of what would be needed, say in the next six months, as based upon the amount obtained from the general office during the past half year, was required of each Bishop, together with a brief report of Ward receipts and disbursements, such as in fast meetings, Relief Societies, etc.

President A. M. Cannon felt to welcome Bishop Preston to the position he had been called to. He had loved Bishop Edward Hunter as a father, and he was glad that so good and able a man had been appointed to succeed him. He testified that it was the Lord's will, and even before it was generally known who would be the presiding Bishop, he had been impressed by the Spirit that Brother Preston was the man. He dwelt upon the necessity of self-subjection, of honoring all men in their proper places, of the creation of labor for the poor, of home manufactures, and union and faithfulness among the people in promoting Zion's interests. Many other good things, which limited space precluded, were said, and the meeting was then adjourned sine die, benediction being pronounced by President Joseph B. Taylor.

Attained His Majority.—A large number of the friends of Mr. Henry Margetta, son of the late H. B. Margetta, gathered at the family residence in the 19th Ward, last evening, to wish him many happy returns of the day, the occasion being his 21st anniversary. After supper the evening was spent in social enjoyment.

"You can lead a horse to the water, but you can't make him drink," says the old saw. You can't make some men drink either if you took them to a hydrant. —Burlington Hawkeye.

Young farmer—Are you fond of bees, Miss Gusherton? Miss Gusherton. "Oh, really, Mr. Parker, if you mean that as a declaration, you must speak to mamma." —Detroit Post.

Some person reported to Tasso that a malicious enemy spoke ill of him to all the world. "Let him persevere," said Tasso; "this rumor gives me no pain. How much better is it that he should speak ill of me to all the world than that all the world should speak ill of me to him!"

As they were trudging along to school, a five-year-old Boston miss said to her companion, a lad of six summers: "Were you ever afflicted with the consummation of the world?" "No, forsooth," he replied; "I fear not the consummation of the creature, but dislike its consummation to an intimate propinquity."

"I wish I was a star," he said, smiling at his own poetic fancy. "I would rather you were a comet," she said, in a dreamy tone that made his pulse quicken with hope. "And why?" he asked, with suppressed anxiety. "Oh, she replied in a freezing tone, 'if you were a comet you would only come round once in a hundred years!'" —Detroit Free Press.

The new colors in spring dress goods are metallic grays and brownish drabs. These colors will be in demand for tailor dresses of cloth, which will be made with house hosiery, such as a horse-back rider's habit waist, and coat like a gentleman's single-breasted frock coat will be added for a wrap to wear on the promenade.

BRITANNIA STANDS UNREVALLED.

Those troubled with rheumatism, who have tried other remedies, are assured that they will certainly obtain relief within three days and generally within six hours by taking Britannia. This great remedy was discovered by an eminent English physician of great experience, and who has never lost a patient to whom this medicine was administered. Britannia is not a lotion; it is an external application capable of curing rheumatism, which is a disease of the blood. Britannia is prepared by the greatest skill, and a teaspoonful being taken in a wineglass of cold water immediately finds its way to the blood, where it corrects the painful causing element, removes it immediately by purifying the life-giving fluid, and gradually builds up the entire system. Persons who have used this valuable preparation in Utah, tell us that nothing ever helped them as Britannia has done. Many references to Salt Lake City and elsewhere can be given.

Z. C. M. I. drug department is the agent for Utah. A fresh supply daily arrived. Price, one dollar per bottle. Special rates to the trade.
