LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Second of the Series.—The second chance of the 6th Ward series takes place Monday night. Fine time.

Lack of Space.—The press of other matter compels us this evening to surrender the space usually occupied by our editorial articles.

Holiday Monday.—As Monday, the 22d inst. is to be generally observed as a holiday, the News will follow the example of the leading business houses, and suspend until Tuesday evening.

Will Keep Open.—A few of the mercantile houses of the city have decided not to close on Monday, the 22d inst. Among these are Messrs. Wm. Jennings & Sons, and others who will open on that day as usual.

Bad Roads.—A gentleman informs us that the roads through the southern part of the Territory are at present almost impassable. Several days ago he started for St. George, but was obliged to return on account of the bad condition of the route.

The Woman's Bill Dead.—The bill to remove the political disabilities of the women of Utah, which passed both houses and was submitted for the Governor's approval, has not been heard from. It is now, therefore, a lifeless measure.

Legislature Over.—The prescribed period of 40 days, allowed the Territorial Legislature, for the transaction of its two years' business, expired at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Assembly was in session, however, until 7:15 p.m., awaiting a communication from the Governor. The members had been working steadily since 7 o'clock last night.

Wilbur, the Tramp.—W. F. Wilbur, the tramp arrested on Thursday night, by Officer Calder at the depot, for having stolen a ride from Ogden, and in whose possession a variety of supposedly stolen articles was afterward found, was fined yesterday, $30 for resisting the officer and $10 for profanity. This morning he was assigned to answer a charge of stealing the property in reference, from Mr. Joseph Stanford, a merchant of Ogden, who identified the jewelry, knives, clothing, etc., as well as the shirt and drawers on the person of the prisoner, as being among a lot stolen from his store, in Ogden, on the night of the 9th inst. Wilbur's defense was that he found the articles described, where some body else had left them, and knew nothing whatever of the stealing. At the conclusion of the examination he was fined $50 for vagrancy, and held to await the action of the grand jury.

Re-districting Bill.—The bill to re-district the representation of the Territory, which passed both houses of the Legislature, has been approved by the Governor. The representation is now apportioned as follows:

CONGRESSMEN.

Cedar and Rich.	1
San Vito and Weber.	1
Wasatch, Uinta, Summit and Morgan.	1
Salt Lake, Davis and Tooele.	1

Municipal Memorial.—Following the copy of the memorial of the Mayor and City Council of this city to the Legislature, presented to the Assembly last night, and lost:

To the Honorable Utah Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Utah:

Your memorialists, the Mayor and City Council of Salt Lake City, acting in behalf of the inhabitants of said city, respectfully represent that the present water supply of said city is entirely inadequate for the purposes of such inhabitants, many of whom having, in the driest seasons, suffered for the lack of water, even for domestic and culinary purposes. That the only means of making good this serious deficiency is by the construction and maintenance of a new water supply, and that the cost of such construction and maintenance will be a great burden upon the inhabitants and tax payers of said city unless assistance is obtained from other sources.

Your memorialists, therefore, believing that the interests of the Territory are sensitively affected by whatever adds to the prosperity of its chief city, respectfully pray your Honorable Body to appropriate to said city the sum of $25,000, one half of which to be payable in 1886, and the remainder in 1887, to be expended to assist in the construction of said canal, and as in duty bound your memorialists will ever pray.

CHARLES W. FENROSE.

Dangerous Pastime.

The following is from the Logan Leader of the 20th inst.:

"Last Monday night, two young men, named Hans Nielsen and James Nelson, each about 20 years of age, were playing a game of cards at the house of one of their neighbors in the Third Ward. About midnight their game was concluded, and a friendly scuffle began. Without stopping to reflect on the possible consequences of such a rash act, they seized two shot-guns, which were in the room, and began firing with them. The one who held the gun was known to be loaded; but all the parties present believed that no change was in the other. However, they were mistaken, for in the confusion, the latter, held by Nelson, was discharged, the load of No. 3 shot taking effect in the face, shoulder and breast of the companion. The youth was standing so near to the other that Nelson's face was badly burned by powder; but how, under such circumstances, the shot should have been so deadly, is something that nobody can understand. Doctor Ormsby was sent for immediately and visited the wounded man. After careful examination he found that the shot which entered Nelson's face, had gone in a slanting direction through his left cheek and had nearly all lodged almost at the base of his skull. The shot in the shoulder and breast, had not penetrated any vital part, but could not be touched by a probe. Doctor Ormsby did not think it advisable to proceed to extract the lead, as the necessary cutting might be followed by serious results. Although Nielsen has got a perfect lead mine in his person, he is comparatively comfortable and with careful treatment will probably recover."

Utah Southern Accident.—This morning, it was rumored around town that a train on the Utah Southern Extension had met with a serious accident. The rumor was well founded. The following dispatch, in relation to the matter, was received this morning. We reproduce it, by courtesy of Bishop John Sharp, the recipient:

DESERET, Feb. 21, 1886.

As the train was crossing No. 12 bridge, this morning about four a. m., one car of iron and a caboose jumped the track, the cars falling into the river. Foster, Carrington and Anderson were all in the caboose when it jumped. Foster is not hurt badly, but Carrington and Anderson are hurt more seriously. Please send a doctor. The men are at the section house, at Leanington. The bridge has been damaged considerably, several of the pilings being broken, and partly gone.

SHORT AND SHARP.

"Shall a husband keep his wife informed of his business affairs?" asks an innocent. "There is no necessity. He will find out five times as much as he knows himself, without much trouble."

"When a woman," says Mrs. Partington, "has once mixed with a congealing heart, and one that beats responsible to her own, she will never want to enter the maritime state again."

A man passing through a gate in the dark ran against a post. "I wish that post was in the lower region," was his angry remark. "Better wish it was somewhere else," said a bystander. "You might run against it again."

"You are my treasure after all," said an old reprobate, striving to placate his wife after abusing her for an hour or two. "Oh, yes," she sarcastically answered. "You are seeking to lay up your treasures in heaven."
