For many years they celebrated their birthdays together, and such events were most interesting oc-casions, spiritual songs and gospel con-versations being features of the day. In a public meeting, held at Nauveo, April 28, 1842, Joseph Smith declared that Heber C, Kimball had ever re-mained true to him. The prophet or one occasion plunged his horse into a miry slough, and Mr. Kimball was one of the few that followed him, the others preferring to go around rather than get muddy. For the spirit shown on that day, Heber was chosen to an im-portant position. He was an eccentric man, and often put those with whora he came in contact to unique tests. His ng the oldest.
