MISS ADA BOWLES,
Queen of the Teton Valley Carnival.

The vigor with which the people of Teton stake, out on the frontiers in Idaho and Wyoming, have gone to work to build a stake tabernacle and the success attending their efforts is one of the astonishing things of the day. The people of that district arranged for a carnival lasting six days, commencing July 4th. Thousands attended and one of the events was the voting at Driggs for the queen of the carnival. The rivalry was so keen that the surprising total of $950.00 was received on the votes, all of which goes into the fund for the erection of the stake tabernacle.

The above picture shows the successful contestant, Miss Ada Bowles, of Victor. The parade on July 4th is described by traveling men who were present, as something wonderful, considering the facilities in the Teton valley. Every ward had a float and some of them were of striking originality.
