CROSS-EXAMINATION BEGUN.

It Promises to be a Great Duel Between Prosecution and Defense And Defendant's Wife,

New York, Feb. 19 -Evelyn Nesbit Thaw today entered on the ordeal of her cross-examination, and before Dist. Atty. Jerome had had the witness in charge for half an hour he had secured from the court a ruling which apparently opens the way for bringing into the trial of Harry K. Thaw all manner of evidence which may tend to discredit the defendant's wife. Heretofore it has been held that the rules of evihas been held that the rules of evi-dence protected young Mrs. Thaw and that, regardless of the fact that she had told it to her husband was the one es-sential point. Mrs. Thaw has been al-lowed to repeat the story so that the jury might judge as to its effect in unbalancing the mind of the man ora trial for the murder of Stanford White. Mr. Lerome by a simple question Mr. Jerome by a simple question opened the way for the introduction of testimony tending to show the truth or faisity of Mrs. Thaw's story. He asked the witness:

Was the story you told Mr. Thaw "It was," she replied, firmly.

DELMAS' OBJECTIONS VAIN.

DELMAS' OBJECTIONS VAIN, Mr. Delmas, Thaw's leading counsel, objected strongly to the question, but Justice Flizgerald held it to be com-petent as tending to show the credibil-lity of the witness. Whether Mr. Jo-rome intends to take advantage of the ruling in an attempt to throw doubt on the truth of the story, or whether Justice Flizgerald intended his ruling to cover the whole subject of Mrs. Thaw's evidence, the future conduct of the case alone can determine. Mr. Del-mas will continue to fight with constant objections the introduction of any teat-mony as to events in the young womony as to events in the young wo-man's life, but the subject of the cred-ibility of a witness is a wide one, and Justice Fitzgerald early today indicated

Justice Fitzgerald early today indicated that he would be liberal in his inter-pretation of the rules. He allowed Mr. Jerome to secure from Mrs. J. J. Caine of Boston, a friend of Mrs. Thaw, who took the wit-ness stand during the morning session, many material points as to the move-ments of Harry Thaw and Evelyn Nes-bit following their return from Europe in 1904, including the published inci-dent of their being ejected from the Hotel Cumberland in this city—the pro-prietor insisting that they should reg-sister as man and wife or laave their ister as man and wife or leave their suite, which adjoined. In bringing out these facts Mr. Jerome denied that he was attacking Mrs. Thaw, and sold he was simply testing the credibility of Mrs. Caine.

JEROME WOULD WAIT.

The district attorney seemed reluc-tant to begin the cross-examination of Miss. These today, desiring to have the matter postponed until Thursday morn-ing in order that he might determine whether or not a further examination of the witness was necessary on the issues involved in the case.

"After I have looked further into the matter I may decide to cross-examine Mrs. Thaw," Mr. Jerome stated to the court, "or I may waive my right. If when all the testimony as to the in-sanity of this defendant is in I shall be broastly of this defendant is in I shall be honestly of the opinion that he was in sane at the time this act was commit-ted. Mr. Delmas was later objecting to a question put by the prosecutor, when Mr. Jerome in-terrupted. Mr. Delmas turned and, with prosecutors m comarked. terrupted. Mr. Dennas chinen and with great sarcasm, remarked: "I have been told it is not courtesy in New York to interrupt when an ob-jection is being stated." Mr. Jerome sat down.

PROMISES LEGAL DUEL.

PROMISES LEGAL DUEL. Mrs. Thaw's cross-examination pro-mises a duel between the two attor-neys, as well as between Mr. Jerome and the wife of the defendant. Thaw seemed in a very cheerful frame of mind today, especially when Mr. Del-mas was inststing, that the crovs-ex-amination of his wife should proceed. The young man grew more sober-faced after Mr. Jerome had begun to ply his questions in a way that indi-cated a releatless search into Mrs. Thaw's past. Mr. Jerome did not even forget the incident of the cat and the conductor who wanted to put it off the train. Mrs. Thaw had tes-tified that she told her husband of this incident in her early life. Mr. Jerome also remembered, that Mrs. Thaw had told of eating chocolate celaires at her first dinner with Stan-ford White. ford White.

ford White. "It wasn't dinner," pouted the wit-ness; "it was supper." In completing her direct testimony, Mrs. Thaw had told of the conversa-tion she and her husband had regard-ing the fate of young women at the hands of Stanford White. One of these girls was known as the "Ple Girl." She was 15 years old, and wore only a gauze dress when she sprang from a big ple at a stage dinner. The witness declared that May Mac-Kenzie had told her that Stanford White, when told she and Harry were very happy together, had remarked: "Pooh, it won't last. I will get her back."

The district attorney again asked per-Mrs. Caine's cross-examination was Mrs. Calne's cross-examination was resumed when court reconvened. They had to do with her signatures to certain papers, some of which, the prosecutor declared were re-celpts for money Mrs. Thaw had drawn from the Mercantile Trust company in 1902, $25 a week. Mr. Delmas protest-ed against these statements and noted "Yes." Mrs. Caine's voice was low, but she answered quickly and briefly. Mrs. Thew's confidence grew as the cross-examination went on, and she was always ready with answers. Mr. Jerome, under the plea of testing her credibility, was allowed to ask many pertinent questions. He wanted to know when she first heard that she had been named as a co-respondent in the George W. WHY WE CURE where others fail: Our methods are up-to-date. We thoroughly understand our business and apply all our knowledge and skill on every case we undertake. We fulfill our promises and nev-er accept a case unless we believe we can cure it. We study the pecul-lar nature of every individual case and treat the causes, not symptoms. We teach our patients how to help get well—what to eat and drink during the course of treatment and what to avoid. Coupled with the fact that we have the most complete and perfectly equipped office in Salt Lake makes our statements rationally reasonable. If you are in doubt, call and see us, a few minutes' talk will cost you nothing and may be the means of restoring you to health.
