Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. I am a specialist in Rheumatism, and have treated more cases than any oth-er physician, I think. For 16 years 1 made 2,000 experiments with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching the world for something bet-ter. Nine years ago I found a cosily chemical in Germany which, with my previous discoveries, gives me a certain previous discoveries, gives me a certain

According to the little girls story, she was left alone in the house for a few moments this afternoon and Latham called at the house to offer some ap-ples for sale. Finding that the child was alone he boldly pushed his way into the house and offering the child some apples made a shocking proposal to her. The child became frightened, and tried to escape but the fellow selzed her roughly by the arm and forced her her roughly by the arm and forced her into another room where he attempted an assault. The little girl screamed loudly for help several times, and La-tham became frightened and ran from the place.

There were five cases up before Judge Diehl this morning but they were disof in short order.

Al Frazier, W. C. Jacobson, Lou Wells and Charles Ferry, were each harged with grand larceny, and were to have been given a preliminary hear-ing this morning. All the defendants were present and ready for trial, but Assistant County Atty, Dana Smith asked that the cases be continued until May 2, owing to the fact that several material witnesses codd not be secured in time for this morning. The motion was granted and the accused released on their own recognizance. It is under-stood that the cases against the men are not very flattering from the prose-cution standpoint, and it is not unlikely that the action will be dismissed when

PUNY CHILDREN Fifty Cents a Head to Lagoon Here, _after-Railroad News.

With the advent of warmer weather the managements of the various resorts are commencing to take steps in the direction of getting ready for the opening days at the end of next month. At Saltair the painters have completed putting on a new coat to the roof and steel work and are now working on the front of the building. At Calder's park and the Salt Palace it is the same story, while out at Lagoon the florists are bestirring themselves. In connection with Lagoon Manager Critchlow announces that beginning with the opening day of the regular season, Sat-urday, May 30, the fare to Lagoon, in-cluding admission, will be raised to the price of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents price of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. In explanation of the move Mr. Critchlow states that Presi-dent Bamberger and his associates have gpent considerable money in im-provement of the roadbed, the laying of heavier ralls, the beautifying of the resort and a number of additions to the attractions at Lagoon and that in con-sequence the ralse in the fare was desequence the raise in the fare was de-cided upon.

passenger department of the Oregon Short Line announces that the an-nual summer vacation rates to all Idaho points will go into effect this season a month earlier with the result that the first excursion will leave Salt Lake Sat-urday, May 16. This innovation is made in consequence of the abolition of the homescekers' rate and the desire of numerous prospective colonists to visit ldaho. A rate on the basis of single fare for the round trip will prevail.

The board of governors of the Commer-The board of governors of the Commer-cial club meets this evening, when the proposition to exploit the city through the club will be brought up, and disdussed. One argument that will be advanced against the scheme is that Salt Lake is already the best advertised city in the United States, and doesn't need any spe-cial advertising. With only 4 per cent of the state under cultivation, and only 11 per cent at all susceptible of cultivation, it is argued that it would be foolish to rush thousands of people in here until more advantagious conditions prevail.

AMUSEMENTS Concer management

The New Thatcher Stock company made its bow in Salt Lake last night before a fair-sized house. The turnout would doubtless have been larger, had the company chosen a play less worn than "Moths." Notwithstanding the inevitable comparisons, the verdict was distinctly a favorable one, and the feel-ing is general that if the company can be kept together, and brought out again at the opening of a season, instead of walting till the tag end of one, it ought to become a permanent and a pleasant factor in our amusements. It was quite noticeable that the organization has had careful stage drilling, and the stage manager deserves decided credit. Several of the players must be ranked as distinctively above the anateur grade. These are Miss Boyer, whose Lady Dolly was excellently rendered, Miss Due, whose Vere was a decided surprise, even to those who thought they knew her talents. Miss Levy, who dresses handsomely and spoke her lines piquantly. Mr. Percival, who is out and out professional, and Mr. Swen. son who always plays with taste and feeling, despite something of a tendenc to the tragic in both voice and stride Mr. Cutler was not entirely happy in the part of the brute Zouroff, and Mr Morket, whatever he may be in other lines, showed that he is hardly at home in comedy. The play went through with promptitude, there were no drags or walts, and the final curtain fell soon after 10:30. The performance will be seen again this evening, and will re-

SUIT FOR INSURANCE.

Anna Manz Wins on Appeal to the Supreme Court.

In the case of Anna Munz, administratrix of the estate of Charles Meyer, deceased, appellant vs the Standard Life & Accident Insurance company, the supreme court has handed down an opinion reversing the judgment of the lower court and ordering the demurrer to the complaint overruled and the action proceeded with. The suit was brought in the Third district court to recover $500 on an insurance policy held in defendant company. Meyer was killed in Kemmerer, Wyo., on June 29 1960, and on October 1, 1991, plaintiff, who is a cousin of deceased, learned of his death. On Feb. 15, 1901, she obtained ressession of his personal effects and discovered that he had a policy in defendant company. A week later she gave notice to de-fendant of Meyer's death and demanded the payment of the policy, which was refused, because notice of death had not been given defendant "imme-diately" upon the death of Meyer and proof of death had not been furnished with in two months thereof, as required in the policy to make it effective was filed and indgment asked for $500 Defendant demurred to the complaint and Judge Morse sustained the same and ordered the complaint dismissed. Justice Bartch delivered the opinion of the supreme court, which holds that defendant's contention, that plaintiff did not comply with the provisions of the policy in regard to notice and proof of death, is not good, as the facts in the complaint, which are not denied by defendant, show that plaintiff did use due diligence and furnished the notice and proof within a reasonable time after she learned of the existence of the policy. The complaint, therefore, aid state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action and the demurrer should have been overruled. The opinion is concurred in by Chief Justice Baskin and Justice Bartch.
