The Fourth Quorum of Elders will meet in the Seventh Ward next Monday evening.

COALIER & SNEEGROVE have just received a pretty variety of goods, "Only a Bluebell," words and music by Frank Howard.

The Home Dramatic Club will play "Out of the House" at the Theatre on Wednesday next, giving an afternoon and evening performance.

LAST Sunday night a saloon in Heber City was burglarized and $400 stolen. There is no clue to the thieves, for whom a reward of $100 is offered.

The Fourth Quorum of Seventies held their regular meeting in the Twenty-first Ward meeting house on Monday evening next, at half-past seven o'clock.

The Territorial Supreme Court met at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and took recess for one hour. At that time business connected with the suits against the Church was to come up.

FUNERAL SERVICES over the remains of Elder Benjamin Brown will be held in the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Rooms tomorrow, Sunday, at 10:30 a.m. There will be no Sunday school in that ward tomorrow.

In another column will be found the advertisement of a new real estate firm, Messrs. Raybould, Cronin & Co., the members of which are well known in the community. They will doubtless get a full share of patronage.

We are requested to publish the following: Christian Church—Services Sunday at 2 p.m., at 234 w. Third South Street. Regular services, permanent organization and other matters of importance will then be considered. All members in the city are requested to be present. Friends are cordially invited. By order of the committee.

FRED EVARTS was before Justice Pyper this morning for doing business without a license. He explained that he had made an application for a license as a restaurant keeper, but after two weeks' business found he was losing money, and stopped without paying for the license. He finally settled the matter.

HENRY CUMMINS was before Justice Pyper this morning for battery, committed upon his wife. The latter made the complaint last evening and told a woful story of the treatment her husband had given her, but she had evidently forgiven him this morning, for she refused to prosecute, and he was discharged on payment of costs.

THREE boys, Wm. Thomas, James Compton and Thomas King, were before Justice Pyper today for stealing three dozen bottles belonging to leader Morris. The first two pleaded guilty. Young King stated that he was near by at the time, but refused to have anything to do with the theft. The matter was postponed till this afternoon for further investigation.

ON Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the regular monthly meeting of the members of Mutual Improvement Associations will be held in the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Hall. The Seventh Ward Association will furnish the musical exercises, and the Eighth Ward the remainder of the evening's program. All interested in the mutual improvement work are invited. These meetings are very interesting and beneficial to the young people.

We are requested to publish for the Methodist Episcopal Church, 91 E. Third South Street, C. L. Libby, pastor: Sabbath School at 9:30 a.m.; preaching at 11 a.m.; young people's meeting at 6:30 p.m. At 7:30 the pastor will deliver the sermon of the future punishment of the wicked. The theme will be: "Could a God of love create a being that he knew would suffer eternally?" The subject will be treated philosophically, and the reasons for and against the proposition considered.

Pleaded Guilty.

In the Third District Court yesterday afternoon, Thomas Alopa was arraigned on charge of unlawful cohabitation, and pleaded guilty. Sentence was set for March 12th.

Samuel Worthen Dead.

On the 24th of February, Samuel Worthen, a highly respected resident of Panguitch, Garfield County, died at his home.

On the 25th of November last Brother Worthen was released from the Utah Penitentiary, at the end of six months' term for living with a car on one wife. He remained in this city working for a short time, and then left for home, where he arrived on January 31st. He was quite sick then; on the morning of Feb. 23d, about 5 o'clock, his throat began to sore, and late in the day his tongue became so swollen that he was unable to talk. Every attention possible was paid to him, but without avail, and he died that evening. He was born in Northwich, Cheshire, England, Dec. 21, 1825, and came to Utah in 1851.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

A Two-Year Old Child Cut to Pieces by the D. & R. G. W.

On Wednesday, the 8th of the present month, a shocking and fatal accident occurred at West Jordan, ten miles south of this city, by which a two-year old girl was cut in two and almost instantly killed by a D. & R. G. W. Railway train. Carl Anderson and his family have a small home at West Jordan, about 50 rods west of the D. & R. G. W. station at Bingham Junction. On the afternoon of the day named, Mrs. Anderson's little daughter, Hilda Maria, was out in the yard with her mother, and started for the house, as was supposed. Instead of going inside, she went out on the street and towards the school-house on the opposite side. The street is a narrow one, and in the centre is the D. & R. G. W. track to Bingham, the grade toward the river being quite heavy.

The unfortunate child had not been away from her mother more than two or three minutes, when a train of three loaded ore cars and a locomotive came down the grade, backing, at about nine miles per hour. As it approached the schoolhouse two boys on the street saw the child on the track a short distance ahead, and apparently too frightened to get, from between the rails. They signalled the engineer, who applied the brakes, but almost at the same instant the first car caught the little one and threw her on the rails. The entire train stopped over her body, at the hips, mangle it horribly.

The accident was observed by a number of school-children, school being in session at the time; and they came trooping out and beheld a terrible scene. Mrs. Anderson came to look for her babe as soon as she discovered that it was not in the house, and got on to the street just as the train passed over it. She rushed frantically forward and grasped the child, carrying the bleeding form into the schoolhouse. Then she discovered that she had picked up only the trunk of the body. One leg and the entrails were left on the track, from which other parties gathered them into a pan and conveyed them to the house.

The father had left some time before for his work at a mill. A messenger was dispatched after him, to convey the sad tidings, and it was a couple of hours before he got back to his home. In the meantime, an inquest had been held and the testimony of a number of eyewitnesses taken. The coroner's verdict is as follows:

EMERSON O. BARNES, Coroner.

West Jordan Precinct.

An inquest held at West Jordan, in the West Jordan Precinct, Salt Lake County, on the 15th day of February, 1888, before Isaac Harrison, justice of said precinct, upon the body of Hilda Anderson, there slain, and dead by the jurors whose names are hereto subscribed:

The said jurors upon their oaths do say that the said Hilda Anderson was killed by cars owned by the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railway, and that it was purely accidental, no blame being attached to the railway employees.

The said jurors further find and have hereto set their hands the day and year aforesaid.

JOSEPH HALL, J. M. BATEMAN, Jurors.

The funeral took place on Friday, February 11th. The family are plunged into grief over the terrible affair, and Mrs. Anderson is especially seriously affected. Every time a train passes the strain on her seems so great as to render her powerless to endure, and the bad effects do not appear to get less as time elapses. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire settlement where they live.

Feather-cleaning Machinery.

Leo Whitehead, of this city, has introduced a new and commendable industry to this part of the country. It is the cleaning and renovating of feather beds by machinery propelled by steam.

A noticeable feature of the apparatus is an improvement of his own invention which makes it more effective than the process used in the east for the same purpose. By its use the feathers are not only blown out and rendered as fluffy as when new, but are thoroughly dried with remarkable rapidity. The cleaning of the feathers done with such completeness that people who have their beds manipulated are astounded at the quantity of refuse matter eliminated, and pleased at the fact that the bulk of the feathers is largely increased. We have seen specimens of this work done by this feather-cleaning machinery, and can therefore speak understandingly on the subject. Not only is the matter of cleanliness involved in this subject, but likewise that of health, many cases of disease being engendered by the use of unclean feather beds. An advertisement in another column states that the orders can be left at the furniture establishment of S. B. Marks & Co.

Shot in the Leg.

Last night B. F. Whittemore, a saloon keeper at the Utah Central depot, was shot in the leg, but not seriously injured. From his account it appears that several parties were making a noise in his saloon, chief among the disturbers being Rose Gillespie. Mrs. Whittemore requested that they go out, but they refused. Whittemore then came in and ordered them out, and all went except Gillespie. Soon after, Whittemore's little boy went to Gillespie, who still continued the disturbance, and remarked that he had been requested to leave. The boy then pointed the boy in the face, and Whittemore senior came forward holding a revolver in his hand. The saloon keeper says he brought it to scare Gillespie, and in his own nervousness it was discharged, the bullet entering the calf of the right leg. Gillespie came up to the City Hall and said that Whittemore had attempted to shoot him, and that he had struck the reason down, the bullet wounding the saloonkeeper. He was notified to return him to the hospital, and he appeared. Whittemore will recover in a few days.

Murder.

At Anascondo, Montana, yesterday morning William Martin, proprietor of the "Planter's Home" restaurant, was murdered by the hands of Patrick Reardon, an employee of the Anascondo smelter. The two men were walking along the street together, and having some words about a bill which Reardon owed Martin for board. Suddenly they stopped, when Martin pulled his pocket knife, and Reardon pulled his. Both men were killed. Reardon was shot in the back, and Martin in the chest. Both died instantly, and made no escape. A posse of citizens started after him.

Death Notices.

Several times recently we have received, with a request that they be published, notices of the death of persons, the names of the deceased being omitted. In other instances there has been a failure to state the laws in which the deceased resided or died. Unless the facts necessary to constitute a record of the death of persons are furnished to us, we, as a matter of course, will be unable to gratify the family and friends by publishing them.

DANGEROUS FOOD.

Two Young Ladies Poisoned by Eating Canned Pie Plant.

James M. Pierce writes as follows from Springfield under date of the 10th inst.: By request, I herein report a well-defined case of poisoning by eating canned pie plant, which took place here in the family of the Newsums, Buickley, on Tuesday last. A tin can of this plant was opened by the daughter, Leonarda, who put it up last fall, as also some of the same kind put up in glass jars. The family had used out of the glass jars the contents of which were very nice. But in eating from the tin can at breakfast, the daughter and another young lady, Anna Holt, from Spanish Fork, partook freely. In an hour or two after eating breakfast, the daughter was taken violently sick. Her father came in and asked her what she had eaten. She showed him the can, and he saw that it had turned green on the inside, a can which was bright red in color when it was first opened. She vomited freely and was very sick. The other young lady recovered.

The unfortunate lady from Spanish Fork had started home soon after eating, but it was learned since that she also was taking sick, though not so violently. It was also ascertained that she had not eaten so freely of the plant.

It will also state that I have seen the can today, and the inside is covered with a thick coating of sea green material, as if emulsified.

Took Out His License.

John H. Linn was before Justice Pyper today for doing a real estate business without having complied with the ordinance requiring that a license be first procured. He took out the required permit, and the court dismissed the charge.

KARL G. MASER, Principal B. Y. A. Z.

Mrs. Ann Hickenlooper Dead.

Yesterday morning, at her home in North Ogden, Weber County, Sister Ann Hickenlooper, widow of the late Bishop Wm. H. Hickenlooper, of this city, died of dropsy. She was born in Dunskevil, Devonshire, England, Jan. 1, 1827, and came to Utah in 1856. She was in feeble health for some years previous to her demise. The remains will be laid to rest in the cemetery at North Ogden. She had lived a useful life, and died firm in the faith of the Gospel.

Anti-Shoddyism.

We take pleasure in inviting the attention of merchants and the public generally to the column advertisement of Goddard & Co's hats, trusting it may be the means of waking up some warm-hearted capitalists to come to their rescue with sufficient means to set their valuable machinery in motion, utilize rabbit fur, and turn out hat bodies by the million. It would supply this and the surrounding Territories with home made hats, to the exclusion of the many wool shoddy articles now imported.

Our Boarding House.

On Washington's Birthday, Wednesday next, the Dramatic Club will give two performances—afternoon and evening—in the Theatre. The holiday bill to be presented is the famous "Our Boarding House," in which Hobson & Crane achieved great success. There are five acts in the piece, which has been frequently cast with Mr. Wells as "Prof. Gratification Gulliver," Mr. Spencer as "Col. M. T. Elevator," Mr. Young as "Guiseppe Florenti," Mr. Hilditch as "Beatrice Mannheim," Mr. Charles as "Mrs. Colville," and all the other characters in good hands. It will doubtless draw well.

Zion's Choral Union.

On Monday evening next, Zion's Choral Union will meet in the Assembly Hall for the first time after an interval of nearly two months. It is hoped that the attendance will be full. It was the intention to re-commence rehearsals last Monday evening, but through a mistake the proper notice was not given for holding the rehearsal, so the meeting could not be held. All will be prepared on Monday, however, and the officers hope to see all the members whose names are enrolled. Some matters of importance will be presented, which it is desired that the members should decide upon. In resuming rehearsals, the members will take an active interest, and work with a determination to make the society a success.

Blown to Pieces.

Georgetown, Colo., Feb. 14.—A miner by the name of B. F. Benjamin, working on the Shenandoah Valley tunnel, Red Elephant mine, near Lawson, was found dead about 3 o'clock this afternoon. Benjamin was working alone in the breast of a 700-foot tunnel, and had returned to his work room after a short rest. He was found lying on his back, his head blown to pieces, and his body mangled. A small tin of dynamite was found near him, and it is believed that he was killed by the explosion of the mine. The body was removed to the hospital at that point and the treatment he received there caused a firm to grow over both eyes and he is now almost totally blind, having to be led about the house. A subscription was taken up to defray the expenses of the funeral, and a handsome sum realized which will be used to send the unfortunate young man east to receive treatment at the hands of an expert oculist.

Park City Notes.

Joseph Sander, son of Andrew Sander, who left for Montana last fall, returned to the Park Saturday last suffering from blindness. It seems that he was engaged in chopping wood in the timber above Anascondo, and became so blind that he was taken to the hospital at that point and the treatment he received there caused a firm to grow over both eyes and he is now almost totally blind, having to be led about the house. A subscription was taken up to defray the expenses of the funeral, and a handsome sum realized which will be used to send the unfortunate young man east to receive treatment at the hands of an expert oculist.
