

STANDARD OIL CO. WOULD DICTATE Rockefeller Sends Telegram Against Anti-Trust Legislation.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS

President Determined to Have One For Purpose of Getting Needed Trust Laws Passed.

Washington, Feb. 7.—It can be stated upon authority that unless anti-trust legislation at least reasonably satisfactory to the administration is enacted by the present Congress, President Roosevelt on the 5th of March will call an extraordinary session of the Fifty-ninth Congress. The president himself has told members of Congress of his desires and of his determination in this regard. It is understood that the announcement was direct and unqualified.

It is further stated that the determination of the president was reached only after careful consideration of the enormous efforts being made to defeat an anti-trust legislation by Congress. These efforts have covered a wide range. They were characterized today by one prominent Republican leader, to quote him directly, as "the most remarkable which I have ever personally known during my public life."

These efforts culminated during the past 24 hours. It is now declared, in direct appeals from the Standard Oil Company, through its president, John D. Rockefeller, to members of the senate not to enact any anti-trust legislation at this time.

No less than six United States senators have received telegrams signed "John D. Rockefeller," urging that no anti-trust legislation be enacted. It has not been possible to obtain a copy of these dispatches, which it can be said are practically identical. Substantially they read as follows:

"We are opposed to any anti-trust legislation. Our counsel, Mr. —, will advise us. It must be stopped."

As stated, these telegrams (and it must be clear that only the substance and not the exact wording is here given) were signed "John D. Rockefeller."

Yesterday morning one of the counsel for the Standard Oil Company arrived in Washington and called immediately on members of the senate, as indicated in the telegrams. He did not remain long. Scarcely had he made known his business when he was informed, a bit curtly, that his presence here was undesirable, and he left with an intimation that he would return to New York.

During the afternoon, information concerning the receipt of the message leaked out and became the subject of some quiet discussion at the senate. The news also reached the house, some of the prominent representatives learning the gist of the dispatches.

Then it became known that this was not the first time the Standard Oil Company, through its attorneys, had endeavored to influence legislation in Congress at this session. The attorneys for the company, it is said, had endeavored to secure enactment of the measure submitted by Atty. Gen. Knox to the sub-committee of the house judiciary committee.

Subsequently, when what is known as the Littlefield bill was reported to the house it can be said on the best of authority that the Standard Oil Company counsel began to devote attention to the proposition, particularly to the Nelson amendment to section 5 of the department of commerce bill.

The amendment which contains practically the substance of the Standard Oil Company's objection to the bill, was incorporated in the measure and, it is stated, their utmost efforts to prevent its favorable consideration.

They were unsuccessful. The bill with that amendment was agreed upon unanimously today by the conferees of the two branches of Congress.

It is said by authority that the administration hopes that the Elkins veto bill, which was passed by the house this week, will be passed also by the senate. While this measure, it is opposed by those who are in favor of no trust legislation, the Standard Oil Company, because, it is explained, that corporation has many of such legislation might have been put into the hands of one man by another in an executive contest as of that telegram. If necessary, I will be in my place in the senate and read it. Then we will see whether any votes can be recorded against the legislation which these efforts are being made to defeat.

Tonight the efforts being made to defeat or emasculate pending anti-trust legislation formed the subject for some of the most interesting and important sessions in Congress. One of the recipients of the telegram signed by John D. Rockefeller said:

"No such formidable weapon ever has been put into the hands of one man by another in an executive contest as of that telegram. If necessary, I will be in my place in the senate and read it. Then we will see whether any votes can be recorded against the legislation which these efforts are being made to defeat."

RULERS OF THE WORLD.

Meat Eating Nations are the Leaders in Every Branch of Human Achievement.

The ruling nations of the world are meat eaters and history records that they always have been.

Vegetarians and food drunks may explain this in any way they choose, but the facts remain that the Americans, English, French, Russians and Germans are meat eating nations, and they are also the most energetic and most progressive.

The principal food of the heroic Boer soldier known as Biltong, is a sort of dried beef, affording a great deal of nourishment in a highly concentrated form.

The weak races of people are the rice eating Chinese, Hindus, and Siamese, regarded since the dawn of history as non-progressive, superstitious and inferior physically and mentally to the meat eating nations who dominate them.

The structure of the teeth plainly indicates that human beings should subsist upon a variety of food, meat, fruit and grains, and it is unhygienic to confine one's diet to any one of those classes to the exclusion of another.

Meat is the most concentrated and most easily digested of foods, but our manner of living is often so unnatural that the digestive organs refuse to properly digest meat, eggs and similar nutritious and wholesome food, but it is not because such food is unwholesome, but the real reason is that the stomach lacks, from disease or weakness, some necessary digestive element, hence arising indigestion and later on, chronic dyspepsia.

Nervous people should eat plenty of meat, convalescents should make meat the principal food, hard working people have to do so and brain workers and office men should eat, not so much meat but at least once a day and to insure its perfect digestion one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should be taken after each meal, because they supply the pepsin, diastase and fruit acids, lacking in every case of stomach trouble.

Nervous dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, gastritis, sour stomach, gas and acidity are only different names for indigestion, the failure to digest wholesome food, and the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets cures them all because by affording perfect digestion the stomach has a chance to rest and recover its natural tone and vigor.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the real household medicine; it is as safe and pleasant for the stomach as the food it lets induce is the habit of good digestion and consequently good health.

They are not a cathartic, but a digestive and no pill habit can ever follow their use; the only habit Stuart's Tablets induce is the habit of good digestion and consequently good health.

matter was prepared last summer. The honored old postmaster-general has resigned rather than sign the order. After a long interval a complacent applicant was found, whereupon the postmaster's secretary, whose signature was required, resigned his post, and no successor to him has yet been found.

PREPARATION OF THE PROTOCOLS

Representatives of Allies Busily at Work on Them.

WILL RAISE THE BLOCKADE

As Soon as They are Signed—Mr. Bowen is Very Anxious That They Shall be Identical.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The representatives of the allies here are busily engaged in the preparation of the protocols which are to be signed with Mr. Bowen, Venezuela's representative for reference to The Hague of the question whether the blockading powers shall be entitled to preferential treatment in the settlement of their claims. The blockade will be raised when the protocols are signed. They are in constant communication with their governments on this subject and are anxious to cover every detail which should be comprised in an instrument of this character.

Mr. Bowen also is anxious that the protocols shall be identical so far as this may be practicable and he is directing his efforts to that end, and also that they shall be signed on the same day. Minister Bowen was in communication with the English and Italian ambassadors and the German ambassador today. He saw Mr. Michael Herbert at the latter's home, the ambassador still having a disagreeable cold. From the law actions he has received Ambassador Herbert has prepared the draft of a protocol which he submitted to Minister Bowen. It is the first of the three protocols which have been prepared and the manner in which it was drawn was very satisfactory to Venezuela's representative.

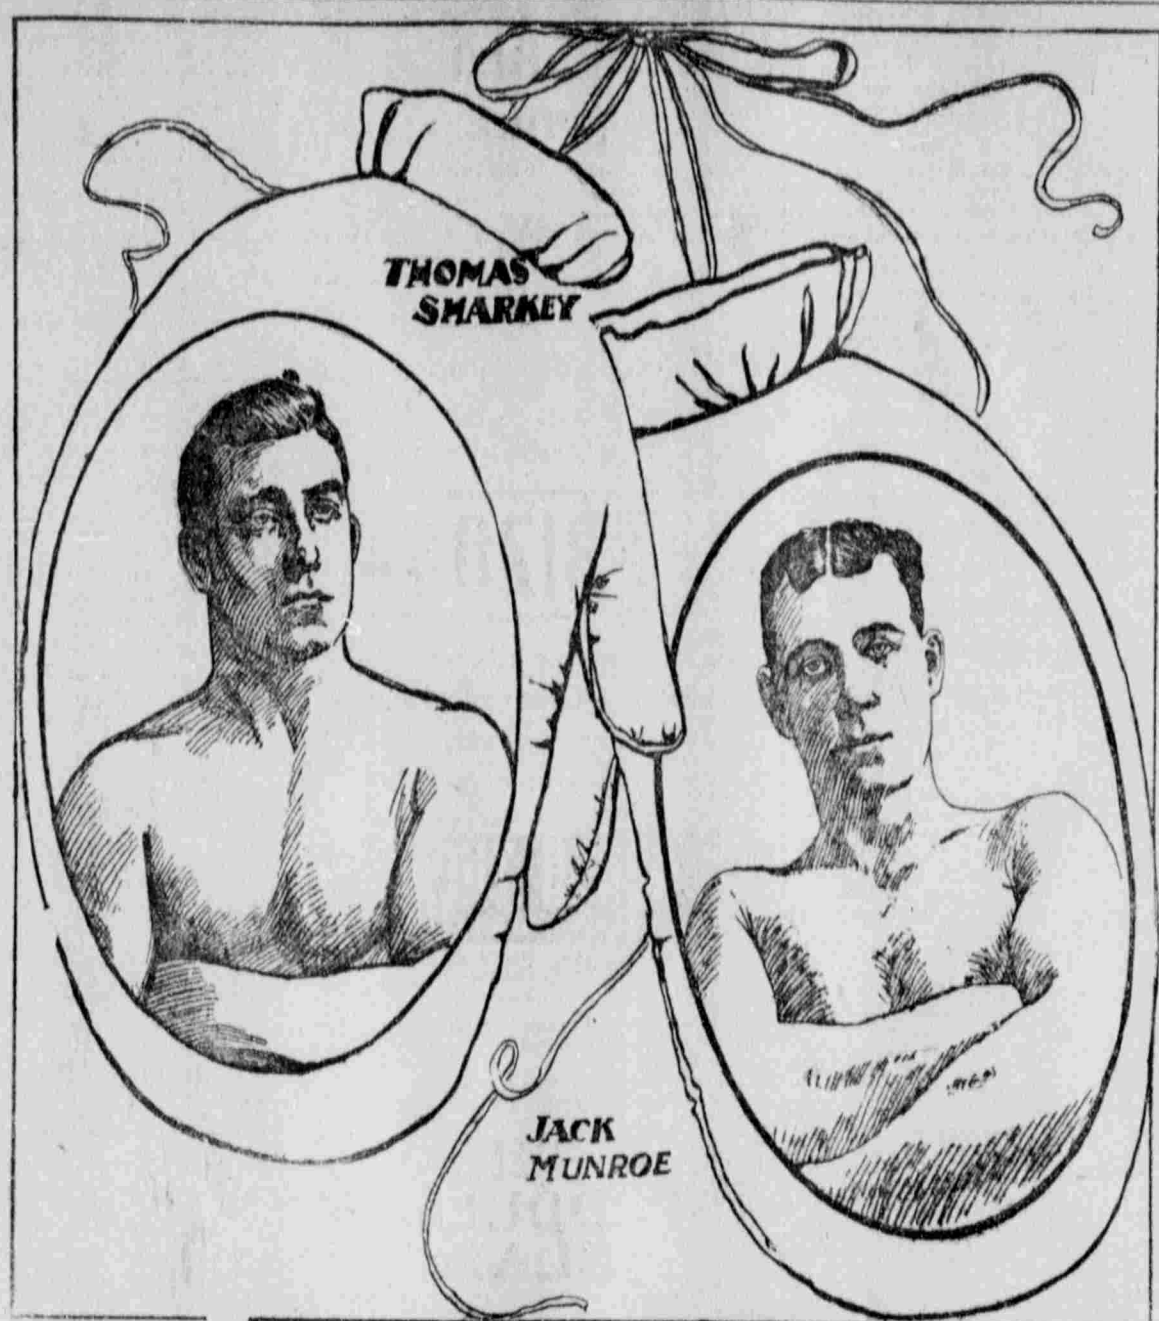

Nothing seriously objectionable had been inserted in its provisions and the minister found only one or two places where he felt called on to suggest any changes. He is convinced that the ambassador is making every effort to bring the vexatious matters to a close and to arrange a protocol which will be mutually satisfactory.

The Italian ambassador was at Mr. Bowen's apartments on two occasions today with reference to the terms of the protocol and the German minister is working diligently on the German protocol. He saw Mr. Bowen today for a conference regarding some feature of the instrument.

Mr. Bowen continues optimistic of an early settlement and speedily raising of the blockade. He is hopeful no perplexing or vexatious problems may intervene now that the matter has progressed so far and that it will not be long before the whole question is settled in its primary stages, the raising of the blockade, arbitration of the question of the preferential treatment and the settlement of the claims themselves, including those of the allied and of the unallied powers.

The British protocol provides for the reference of the contention of the allies for preferential treatment to The Hague for settlement for the payment by Venezuela to Great Britain of $5,000,000 and for the immediate raising of the blockade. The matter of the adjudication of the claims and the collection of the 30 per cent out of which those are to be paid has been left for the second protocol.

Italy, it has been learned, wishes to have inserted in her protocol an article providing for the change in her treaty of amity with Venezuela so as to can do nothing more in the protocol than recommend it as the matter is entirely irrelevant to the present controversy. There are also provisions in the Italian protocol which do not meet

TOM SHARKEY AND JACK MUNROE AND THEIR FORTHCOMING BATTLE IN THE RING.

Jack Munroe, who won fame by knocking Champion James Jeffries down, will have a chance to demonstrate his prowess as a fighter when he faces the veteran sailor pugilist Tom Sharkey. Munroe was amateur champion of the Pacific coast a few years ago and is now a professional ring.

THE approval of Mr. Bowen, and the Italian ambassador has called to Rome for permission to withdraw them. Regarding the German protocol little is known, except that it is along the general lines of the other two. Several changes have been made in it since yesterday, and other changes are likely to be made. The German protocol will be somewhat shorter and more concise than the British and probably will not contain more than eight articles of the same amount.

The fact develops today some other claimant powers are considering the matter of sharing the expense which will be put to carry the case to The Hague, since a difference would affect their claims.

TOLD A FAIRY TALE.
Strange Story of Reeves About the Dead Bandit.

M. V. Reeves, the miller who stated that the robber killed by Officer Hatch last Monday night was related to his wife, and that the man ate a meal at his home on the day of the robbery, was taken into custody early Sunday morning and a great part of the day yesterday was spent in trying to induce him to tell what he knows about the robbery. The man denies the greater part of his story but still adheres to some parts of it. His wife declares that her husband was merely laboring under a hallucination induced by bad whiskey when he made the statements. She denied absolutely that either he or her husband knows anything about Wilson or his companions, or that the dead bandit is a relative of hers that he ever ate a meal at her home. She says that she did not visit the morgue and never saw the dead man at all.

The detective received some information yesterday from John Haverton, a former short line conductor, which strengthens the theory that the men came from the southern part of the state. He said that about five weeks ago a car was broken into at Springfield by three men and a number of hats stolen. The description of the men tallies with that of the Salt Lake bandits and their hats were very much like those stolen from the car. It is said that about five weeks ago Wilson left Tintie and went to Elko, Nev.

A COMPOSITION ON WASHINGTON.
A little Brooklyn school girl who was told to write a composition on "The Father of His Country," turned in "Washington had a good mama she was always truthful and set her sun good example. They had some wild horses. One morning George wood train one he jump on its back and the horse was angry. It jump into the air and broke a blood vessel and fell dead. When George wood went into the house is mamma ask about the horse. George said, 'I killed him Mamma.' But she give him."—New York Times.

ONE WEEK.
Postum Coffee Remade the Dominie in a Week.

Where a person has no troubles excepting those caused by coffee Postum Food Coffee is faithfully used will usually act with remarkable quickness. Here is an example even where the coffee habit has been one of long standing.

"I had been a coffee drinker for 20 years and until recently regarded it as one of the 'stays of life,'" writes a Tennessee clergyman.

"About a year ago an attack of malaria impaired my digestion and I began to use more coffee than usual, thinking it would help my system throw off the malady. During that year I suffered indescribable agonies of nervous indigestion. Finally I noticed that every time I drank coffee or dinner or supper I was much worse.

"I told my wife I thought it was coffee and that I would quit it and use hot water. Then I thought I would try the Postum we had heard so much about.

"From the very day I left off coffee and introduced Postum I began to improve and at the end of one single week I did not have even the slightest symptom of nervousness and dyspepsia left. It is many weeks now since then and I have not only gained in flesh but am entirely free from indigestion and am strong and happy. My wife had been nervous and her stomach had been in condition and when she saw the change wrought in me followed my example, and after using Postum a short time extremely beneficial results followed.

MONEY FOR YALE.
Football a Paying Proposition for Sons of Old Eli.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 8.—The Yale Football association has held its annual meeting and elected the following officers for the coming season: President and manager, Herbert C. Miller of Bloomington, N. Y.; assistant manager, Edward E. Elbridge Spaulding of Lynn, Mass., and secretary, James J. Waring of Savannah, Ga.

Football at Yale, including putting up new equipment and repairs, the ones cost $23,322.55 last year, but as the annual receipts were $36,409.59, there was left a surplus of $13,087.04. Manager Fox explained the disposition of the surplus by stating that about $7,000 would be handed over to the crew, which cannot raise a cent of gate money at its races, and about $2,500 to the track team, which is also non-supporting.

The rest of the surplus is used to pay the running expenses of the Yale field.

Big Basketball Game.
Derby, Conn., Feb. 8.—In the second half of a basketball game between girls' teams from the Waterbury High school and the Boardman training high school, of New Haven, played in the Amerson gymnasium in New Haven, it is alleged that the roughest tactics ever witnessed in this state in such a contest were indulged in, the girls struck each other in the face, pulled hair, tripped and threw one another to the floor and lost all control of themselves.

Coaches and spectators tried to stop the fight, but failed. The girls were oblivious to all else and drove at each other with true ferocity. Time was sounded before the game was over and the players had to be almost dragged apart.

Both teams claimed they were obliged to adopt the tactics they did in self-defense.

The final score was: Waterbury, 12; New Haven, 10.

Tendency of the Times.
The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is too late. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is too late. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
