OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - DECEMBER 3, 1900.

Legal Matters.

In the absence of Judge Miller, who was at Salt Lake hearing the damage suit against the Auditor, Messrs. Smith and Judge Smith presided Saturday in the County district court when the following business was transacted:

Four indictments under the territorial laws were returned by the grand jury, and bench warrants were issued. James Mosey who recently made an attempt to kill Marvin H. Hays and who was indicted for the offense, was arraigned Saturday before his father, Judge Smith, to plead, but took the stationery time.

Myron Farrell, one of the four men indicted for cattle stealing at Elgin, was arraigned on the charge of grand larceny to which he pleaded not guilty. The case will be brought up for trial Tuesday, 11th. Evans & Hays are conducting the defense.

A. B. Nelson, an administrator of the estate of Charles Nelson, deceased, was given thirty days additional time for which to prepare and present statement for new trial.

Ernest Moody was arraigned under the indictment charging burglary, he took the station time to which he pleaded. James Cook was arraigned on an indictment charging grand larceny. He will stand today and the case will be heard on the 12th instant.

Wong Ah Long was arraigned on an indictment charging burglary with highway robbery. A. B. Hays was appointed by the court to defend him.

Local Jurisdiction.

Judge Hinton rendered his decision Saturday in the case of Annie E. Hays against her former husband, Edward Hays. The case was fairly given by the judge at the time the decision was rendered, which asked that the defendant be punished for contempt for his failure to pay the stipulated alimony when diverse proceedings were had.

A demand to make was filed by the defendant's attorney on the ground that the plaintiff had no jurisdiction in the case under the present law governing divorce matters. The demand was sustained.

Chamber of Commerce Building.

It is expected that a committee of gentlemen, members of the chamber of commerce, will meet with the city solicitor tonight, and ask for a temporary lease on a portion of city hall square for the purpose of erecting there a chamber of commerce building.

Notes.

Improvements are being made in the heating and ventilation of the central school building at a cost of $4,000.

Wm. Vanclay, the boy that was accused seriously hurt Saturday by being thrown from a horse while he was riding, is now doing as nicely as could be expected.

Marshall Egan and his family moved to their new home at night on Friday. Today they will bring an automobile of the latest make, of which will be placed on trial and the remaining part will be placed in charge of which they were released.

Yesterday the boys of the central fire station made a race, one of which was a fair alarm and the other for the four mile north of the city limits. This race was not reached.

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH, - DEC. 3, 1900.

Fire.

A fire occurred at Providence on Tuesday. The stable, which was being used by a German named Heller, burned down. On Friday evening, during the height of a terrific thunder storm, the sound of the fire bell was rendered doubly impressive by its mingling with the roar of the thunder. The fire indicated that the fire was in the seventh ward, and in spite of the heavy darkness and the falling torrents, firemen were sent on the way. The firemen dragged the pump several blocks through the mud before a team came to their aid. A lot of fire had been left to dry some clothes in Dr. Walker's house, and had not fire either in the clothes or the partition. Some members of the fire company had been called out ahead of the engine, and with the aid of citizens extinguished the flames before it killed. The partition and the house were burned, and a loss through the engine.

The Saturday evening there was another storm, the time in the seventh ward. The residence of Mr. P. N. Peterson. The convulsed engine and pump were sent on the road in the midst of the storm, but there was much snow for the service of water, as it was only a chimney on fire.
