Stakes or counties in the interest of our children. Could some of those ladies travel with us and see how we live with our children; see their fond and cheerful greetings; their happy re-sponse to our kind requests they surely would not speak so unguardedly. How different it was when we were child that for the least misdemeanor we were told that for the least misdemeanor we would have to go to hell, there to burn forever. Night after night would sleep forsake our eyes because of those fearul thoughts. No, our little ones are happy because they are taught true principles of life, which tend to happify instead of discourage.

Then we have no poor among us, as other towns and cities who have no church organizations have: why should the childlern be sad? With pleasant homes, pienty to eat and wear; with parents who gather them around the family altar every night and morning and teach them to pray, and above all to have implicit faith in God their Eternal Father, what could make them happier?
