

'WHAT DID EMPERORS' MEETING MEAN?

It Was Created Great Interest in Diplomatic Circles of Europe.

RUSSO-GERMAN ALLIANCE.

One is Hinted at—Kaiser is Believed to be Working to Counteract England's Policy.

St. Petersburg, July 24.—The picturesque meeting between the Russian and German emperors in the Gulf of Finland, according to private advices, ended this afternoon with a gala luncheon on board the German imperial yacht Hohenzollern, after which Emperor William's yacht sailed seaward, escorted for a short distance by the Russian imperial yacht Polaris Star. The two emperors saluted each other and returned to their respective yachts.

A flotilla of torpedo boats, torpedo destroyers and small cruisers hovered about the imperial yachts from the time they met until they parted.

Beyond the additional fact that Emperor William paid a visit to the Polar Star last night, and that subsequently Emperor Nicholas went on board the Hohenzollern and remained until long after midnight in the German emperor's cabin, no further details of the meeting are yet available.

The meeting of the two monarchs naturally created intense interest in diplomatic circles. In some quarters there is a disposition to attach the deepest political significance to it, and all sorts of theories are advanced. They are, however, largely speculation.

It is officially announced that the visit was only a "visit of courtesy" made by Emperor William on his brother monarch before leaving the Gulf of Bothnia, but under the circumstances the diplomats cannot believe that such a meeting was devoid of meaning to the world's political chessboard.

No matter what the ultimate result may be, however, all the diplomats agree that it is a fact which would mark a new era in the relations of the two empires.

Emperor William is said to be fully alive to the fact that the revolution in Russia could easily be communicated to Germany, and it is reported that he is anxious for that reason to see that reforms are granted which will restore tranquility in the territory of his eastern neighbor.

An afternoon paper quotes a significant editorial in the semi-official Berlin Post hinting that France has grown cold toward Russia, that the Russo-French alliance is on the verge of dissolution, and that there is an increasing feeling in Russia in favor of concluding an alliance with Germany, even at the cost of great sacrifices.

But the idea of a Russo-German alliance is distinctly rejected by the official German press, where, however, it is admitted that the officials have no specific information on the subject of the emperor's meeting, concerning which Minister Lamortier was not consulted, and at which no representative of the foreign office was present.

It is known, however, that a representative of Count Cassini, former minister of foreign affairs in the Russian cabinet, was present at the meeting, and that the Russian emperor's spokesman pointed out that the monarchs were personal friends and that they probably discussed many subjects, but he expressed the opinion that the exchange of views would have a more important bearing on the internal affairs of the two empires than on their external relations.

"The Socialistic movement," the representative of Count Cassini added, "has assumed great proportions in both countries, and it is a matter of most serious consideration of both monarchs."

In another quarter it was suggested that the German emperor may have asked Emperor Nicholas to support a German prince for the throne of Norway, King Oscar having announced that he would not permit a member of the house of Hohenzollern to assume the crown, and the only other candidate being Prince Charles of Denmark, who is married to an English princess.

The marshal of the court, Count Grendendorf, has sent the following from the island of Bjorkoe:

"At 11 o'clock in the evening of July 24 the German imperial yacht Hohenzollern dropped anchor in the anchorage of the Russian imperial yacht Polaris Star. Emperor William, accompanied by Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein and his suite, was rowed to the Polaris Star. Emperor Nicholas was received at the head of the ladder by Emperor William and Grand Duke Michael, and cordial greetings were exchanged. The German emperor reviewed the guard of honor and the yacht's crew and the two emperors were presented, after which their majesties retired to the saloon."

"At 11 o'clock at night Emperor Nicholas and Grand Duke Michael accompanied Emperor William to the Hohenzollern, where they remained until 1:30 in the morning."

INTERESTING LETTER

WRITTEN BY A NOTABLE WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Kellogg, of Denver, Color. Member of the Woman's Relief Corps Sends Thanks to Mrs. Pinkham.

The following letter was written by Mrs. Kellogg, of 1828 Lincoln Ave., Denver, Colo., to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—For five years I was troubled with a tumor, which kept growing, causing me great mental depression. I was unable to tend to my house work, and life became a burden to me. I was confined for days to my bed, lost my appetite, my courage and all hope. I could not get to sleep, and in my distress I tried every remedy which I thought would be of any use to me, and reading of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to sick women decided to give it a trial. I felt so discouraged that I had little hope of recovery, and when I began to feel better, after the second week, thought it only a temporary relief, but to my great surprise I found that I kept gaining, while the tumor lessened in size.

"The Compound continued to build up my general health and the tumor seemed to be absorbed, until, in seven months, the tumor was entirely gone and I a well woman. I am so thankful for my recovery that I ask you to publish my letter in newspapers, so other women may know of the wonderful curative powers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, at once removes such trouble."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, nervousness, disordered or obstructions of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember that there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, at once removes such trouble.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Health is too valuable to risk in experiments with unknown and untried medicines or methods of treatment. Remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow a druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

William and Nicholas will be followed by any starting developments. Although the officials here have no definite information about the object of the conference, they are inclined to attribute the meeting primarily to the German emperor's desire to remove the resentment which the foreign office here says is known to have been growing in Russia against Germany since the conference at the latter period of the Russo-Japanese war.

FRENCH COMMENT.
Paris, July 25.—The meeting between Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William excites the keenest curiosity and the newspapers this morning almost unanimously declare that the conference is of the highest importance, and that its fruits will shortly be felt throughout the world.

M. Jaures, the Socialist leader in the chamber of deputies, expresses the opinion that the conference constitutes an offense against Great Britain. The Russian emperor, he says, apparently is seeking an alliance with Germany, and the French government has a legitimate right to demand of Russia a clear explanation of its foreign policy.

The French Republic says: "The Russian emperor badly needed the sound advice of the German emperor, who will amply satisfy that need." Gabriel Hanotaux, former minister of foreign affairs in the Journal, paints a sombre picture of the general situation and expresses the hope that the initiative of President Roosevelt in the direction of peace will prove successful.

COUNT CASSINI SAYS PEACE DEPENDS ON JAPAN.
New York, July 25.—Count Cassini, formerly Russian ambassador at Washington, expresses the opinion, according to the Herald's Paris correspondent, that all now depends on the Japanese attitude. If their demands at the coming peace conference are reasonable peace is assured. Speaking of the Russian representative, M. Witte, Count Cassini said:

"I think this is an important task which could not have been entrusted to a better representative. He is a man of extraordinary capacity and of the finest character. He knows the far eastern question as few men know it, and is a patriot."

"Regarding internal difficulties, Russia has now reached a critical moment in her history, but America has such a moment; so has France. These difficulties will disappear and Russia will be stronger than ever. They are merely passing difficulties, and it would be unwise to attach too much importance to them."

Referring to the Chinese, Count Cassini said: "I like the Chinese. It takes years and years of worry and trouble to bring them around to your way of thinking or to induce them to enter into any undertaking, but once convinced they are loyal. A Chinaman's word is as good as his oath."

"I speak with all caution and circumspection, but, nevertheless, I am sure that at no very distant date England and America will have reason to regret this war. They may have more to fear from Japanese competition than from Russia."

A FOLLOWER OF OSTLER.
A Suicide Left Note Saying He Believed in His Theory.
St. Louis, July 24.—The body of an unidentified man about 60 years of age, who had committed suicide by poison, was found in Forest park today. In his pocket was a note saying he heartily agreed with Dr. Ostler. "An old man and a poor man has no business on earth."

A laundry mark on his collar bore the name of J. M. Booth.

ENGLAND'S POLICY TOWARDS FRANCE.

Would Welcome a Defensive Alliance as it Would Insure Long Continuance of Peace.

THE MOROCCAN CONTROVERSY.

When France Declined to Participate, Great Britain Did Likewise—No War is Wanted.

London, July 24.—From a high official of the foreign office the correspondent of the Associated Press obtained an interesting statement of the relations between Great Britain, France and Germany. Beginning with the declaration that Great Britain would welcome a defensive alliance with France because it would insure a long continuance of European peace by acting as a check to German ambitions, the official said the charges made in the German press against Great Britain of seeking to involve France in a war with Germany were absolutely contrary to the facts. He said:

"France certainly is not desirous of war with Germany, and if Great Britain, as alleged, urged France to fight, the French government and press would not now display that friendliness toward us which is apparent on all sides."

"When Germany created the controversy with France over Morocco, the British government informed the French government that it would support it in whatever policy it decided to pursue. According to Great Britain declined to participate in the international conference when France reconsidered its decision, but any charge that we sought to bring about war or failed to use our good offices to prevent a conflict is absolutely false. We would undoubtedly have stood by France in any conflict over the Moroccan question, but we do not want a conflict, and desire an understanding with France solely to insure peace."

"Great Britain at war would suffer infinitely greater commercial losses than her adversary. For one thing, our entire shipping would go to America, and the people would overthrow any government assuming an aggressive attitude."

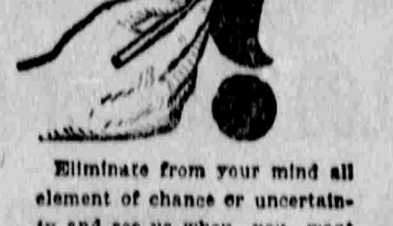

Regarding the diplomatic relations between Germany and Great Britain, the Associated Press was informed that they were not in the least strained, and that there never had been any serious difficulties between the two governments.

It has always been considered here that Germany's attack on the French Moroccan policy dealt directly with the Anglo-French entente, while well-informed opinions have been expressed that Germany would welcome an understanding with France on far eastern matters, in which the interests of the two countries are similar.

It would seem that France, instead of occupying a leading role, is the fortunate possessor of two suitors in the greatest rivals in Europe.

WHEN THE ELKS ARE ON PARADE.

Beginning of 'Purple Day' at The State Fair Grounds Next Week.

ANTLERED CROWD IS COMING.

Local Herd is Whooping Things up in Usual Enthusiastic Style and Expect Much from Their Work.

Following is the program for the Elks' parade next Wednesday night, as a preface to the big Purple Day at the State fair grounds and a great night at Salt Lake on the day following. The Elks are making preparations for the greatest event in the local Elks history, and with the town full of visiting members of the order from three to four states, and with special rates given by the roads, many other people will take occasion to visit Salt Lake City, and the day will certainly be a gala occasion. The detailed program is as follows:

ON WEDNESDAY.

Float: Another Hines Farmine. Ed Murly on the water wagon. Musical novelty (Elks' purple march).
Division: 25 Elks, canes and colors.
Unplaced features in the parade entailing fine line of march: Freaks, jays, would-frogs, Reubs, Indians, wear-ers, swappers, small-skins, and other happy lites which will certainly break monotony or anybody else; and alternating stationary light-burners will throw purple, green and red fire flashes over the moving line from vantage points throughout the march.

ROUTE.
The column will face south on State and move at the word of command to Third South on the east side of the street; Third South to Main on the south side of the street; Main north to the monument on the west side of the street; counter-march to Second South on the east side of Main; Second South to State on the north side of the street and counter-march on Second South, to West Temple on the south side of the street; First South on the west side of the street and First South to State on the north side of the street, where the column will break rank and stand refreshments at the club.

Every member of the B. P. O. E. in the city is urgently solicited to turn out for the parade. There will be a division to fit any suit an Elk may appear in, and the heartiest sort of a welcome for any wandering as well as home stag of the herd.

The line of march will be a little over a mile long. The column will move at 8:15 sharp. The duration of the parade will be 27 minutes.
This to all Elks.
