Patrick was informed today in his cell New York state court of appeals, sustaining the judgment of conviction of murder in the first degree, in causing the death of William Marsh Rice, The first intimation that the court had de-cided against him was conveyed to Patrick by the warden while Patrick Patrick by the warden while Patrick was cating his breakfast in the death house. The warden sold afterwards that the news did not seem to have the slightest effect on Patrick's appe-tite or spirits. He was not only cool, but was even cheerful and did not ap-pear to think the court's decision was by any means final. He told the war-den that he included to have a reastby any means final. He told the war-den that he intended to have a re-ar-gument of the case, and that a motion for a new trial would be made to the appellate division, and probably also to the court of appeals. The action, he said, would be based on the ground of newly discovered evidence and errors at the former trial has been achieved and now it is merely a question whether the results will be the peace "for which the whole civil-ized world will pray." It is a diplomatic triumph of the first magnitude and the diplomats here first magnitude and the diplomats here make no attempt to conceal their ad-miration for the new world brand of diplomacy which acts while the remain-der of the world thinks. The formal replies of Russia and Japan are expected to be transmitted through Count Cassini, the Russian am-bassador at Washington, and M. Taka-hira, the Japanese minister at Wash-ington, but the situation is such at this hour as to leave no doubt of the ac-ceptance of both, and that the guesceptance of both, and that the ques-tion of the selection of plenipotentiaries and the place of meeting will follow, President Roosevelt's urgent expresclusically between the belligerents points straight to the battlefield in Manchuria as the scene of the negotia-Manchuria as the scene of the negotia-tions and the diplomats generally here entertain the view that Russia and Japan had best settle their quarrel there beyond the range of possible out-side influence. To the policy of non-interference practically all the powers are commit-ed. Great Britain, it is felt here in diplomatic circles, will not complete the realization of what the president had begun by restraining her ally and had begun by restraining her ally and inducing Japan to proffer moderate terms which Russia can accept.

Charles Astin Sends a Bullet Into John Corbett's Collar Bone.

There was a little gun play at the Highland Boy mine at Bingham yesterday between two miners, in which John day between two miners, in which John Corbett received a slight builet wound from a gun in the hands of Charles Astin. Fortunately the builet struck the collar bone and glanced upward, pussing through the rim of Corbett's hat and barely missing his ear. Several miners witnessed the shooting and took the gun away from Astin before he could fire a second shot. Corbett's wound is not at all serious.

wound is not at all serious. According to the facts as related by the men who saw the affair, Corbett accused Astin of stealing his pocket book, which contained several dollars in cash and the latter resented the charge. Later Corbett found the pock-et book, which had been misplaced. Astin then commenced to abuse Cor-bett and the latter knocked him down. Astin then pocked bin down. DIPLOMATS PRAISE MANNER.

London, June 10, 12:40 p. m.-The keence: interest is manifested in Presi-dent Roosevelt's note endeavoring to bring Japan and Russia to an under-stabiling. While the British govern-ment is not taking any part in the ne-rotations if the strains the mean congotiations, it is giving the most cor-dial support to the provident, of whose actiona in the matter it has been kept fully informed. Diplomatic and official circles speak in the highest terms of the diplomatic manner in which the president handled the matter and are fully in accord with what they con-sidered to be the only way in which the difficulty could be overcome. The United states, not being entangled in any way was really the only output any way, was really the only country which could take action, but even Prest Roosevelt could not do more than en-denvor to start direct negotiations between the belligerents. Japan, it can be stated, refused to start the negotistions until fully assured of the carnest. ness of Russia and that her proposals wauld be seriously considered. Her demands will include an indemnity, the amount of which point the presdent is urging lentent treatment. It is considered here that Japan is entitled considered here that Japan is chilled to an indemnity and it is pointed out that while the payment of an indemi-nity might offect the standing of Rus-sia among the powers, it is not so ser-ious as the loss of territory, besides the payment of an indemnity would be forgotten sconer than the loss of terri-tory and would hears or facility for to forgotten scener than the loss of terri-tory and would leave no feeling for re-venge. Financial circles in London are of the opinion that the Japanese will demand an indemnity amounting to about a thousand million, that being their estimate of the cost to the Japa-nese of the 16 months fighting. This is considered in some quarters to be tee large an estimate of the expenditures which are thought to be nearer $600.000. which are thought to be nearer $600,000, Diplomatic circles in London are closely concerned about the present movement and are of the opinion that the plentipotentiaries will meet in Washington, Baron Rosen, (who is to succeed Count Cassini as Russian am-bassador to the United States), prob-ably representing Russia. It is also understood that Fussia now admits in principles that the demand for an In-demnity is justified. It is suggested that the terms of Japan will probably also include the acknowledgement of a Japanese protectorate over Koren, the Diplomatic circles in London -nre also include the acknowledgement of a Japanese protectorate over Korea, the total Russian evacuation of Manchuria, the handing over of Russian interests on the Liao Tung perinsula and at Port Arthur to Japan, and the cession of the railroad from Port Arthur to Harbin. The question of the Island of Sakhalin will also be raised. It is thought that the amount of the in-demnity which will be demanded by Japan will depend in some measure on other conditions. If these are consid-
