

EVIDENCE IS INTRODUCED.

Taking of Testimony Commences in the Wade Murder Case This Morning.

D. H. BRIGHTON FIRST WITNESS

He Testifies That Defendant Shot the Chinese Cook Who Was Threatening Boy With Knife.

The introduction of evidence in the case of the State of Utah vs. James H. Wade, charged with the murder of Lee Quen Yui at Alta on Dec. 19, 1903, was commenced in the criminal division of the district court this morning. The opening statement to the jury was made by Atty. E. B. Critchlow and one witness was examined for the state before the noon recess was taken. Very little interest is being taken in the case by the public in general, practically the only spectators being present are Chinamen. There was nothing sensational or particularly interesting in the evidence introduced this morning, the witness examined merely telling of the killing as it has appeared in the papers heretofore.

Atty. E. B. Critchlow in the opening statement to the jury in behalf of the state said that the facts brought out in his testimony of the state would show that, on the day of the killing, a boy named Rudolph Aisen, who was engaged at the Alta-Quincy mine, became involved in some trouble with the Chinese cook, Lee Quen Yui, who was killed by the defendant in this case, and the Chinaman chased the boy with a long butcher knife and made some threatening remarks. Mr. Critchlow then told of the defendant in this case, and the Chinaman chased the boy with a long butcher knife and made some threatening remarks. Mr. Critchlow then told of the defendant in this case, and the Chinaman chased the boy with a long butcher knife and made some threatening remarks.

After Mr. Critchlow left at first, the trouble between the boy and the Chinaman was renewed and the latter again threatened to kill the boy with the knife, which he held in his hand. Wade who was there, got up and went into his bunkroom and got his gun and returned to the diningroom. The Chinaman was standing in the door with the knife and a shovel in his hands, but between him and the boy were several other men. Wade, without saying a word, fired at the Chinaman and killed him. It will be shown, said the attorney, that the Chinaman had no trouble with any one but the boy and had no thought of attacking any other person.

STORY OF SHOOTING.

D. H. Brighton was the first witness called by the state. He was employed at the mine on Dec. 19, 1903, the date of the shooting and witnessed the whole affair. In answer to questions by Attorney Critchlow he gave a description and measurements of the building in which the shooting occurred. He related in detail the quarrel between Quen and the Chinaman as set out in the opening statement of the attorney for the state, and said that the Chinaman had chased Quen with a long butcher knife, and he and the other men drove the former out of the diningroom with a shovel. Lee then picked up a shovel and with it and the butcher knife in his hands, was attempting to come back into the room, when Wade appeared at the door leading from the bunkroom

In the case of S. H. Moyes, guardian, vs. the Ogden Sewer Pipe & Clay company, appellant, the motion to amend the transcript was denied by the court without prejudice for want of reference to the statute upon which the mover relies. The motion to dismiss the appeal in the case of J. P. Paulson vs. A. E. Lyon, appellant, was granted by the court and the case was dismissed.

LOS ANGELES MAN'S SPREE

Went to the Hospital "Sick" and Then Saw "Snakes."

F. J. Anderson of Los Angeles arrived in this city Friday, with a drunk and amastodonic proportions. He hired a back and was taken immediately to the Holy Cross hospital, where he secured admission on the plea that he was violently ill. Anderson was put to bed and slept for two days, when he awoke to pass through the ordeal of delirium tremens, and it required two men to keep him from leaping out of the windows.

The sisters presently discovered what ailed the patient, and as they are not conducting a drunk-recovery establishment, they phoned the police, and Anderson was transferred to the city jail where he is regaining his senses.

LAID TO REST.

Touching Tribute Paid to the Memory of a Noble Woman.

Deeply impressive were the services held yesterday morning in Granite state tabernacle over the remains of Mrs. Annie J. Murphy, whose demise at her home in Granger was noted in the "News" several days ago. The services began at 11 a. m. and were presided over by Bishop Daniel McRae. Beautiful music was furnished as follows:

"O My Father," by Noel Pratt, Geo. M. Cannon, Jr., Nephi Cottam and Jas. T. Dunbar, who also sang "Go Bury Thy Sorrow."

Noel and Wood Pratt sang "Shall We Meet?" and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," was given as a solo by Miss Lillian Young.

The quartet named above also rendered, "Nearer My God to Thee."

The speakers were Bishop McRae, Mrs. Zina B. Cannon, Mrs. Elmina S. Taylor, President Frank Y. Taylor, Elder W. C. Winder, president of the Granite state Y. M. M. I. A., President John R. Winder, Elders Harvey C. Carlisle and Joseph E. Taylor. All had been intimately acquainted with the deceased and spoke in glowing terms of her energetic and faithful labors in the Mutual Improvement association, with which she had been closely connected for many years. The speakers paid high tribute to her worth as a Latter-day Saint and expressed the conviction that she had earned the reward of the just and would find a crown of glory awaiting her in the realms beyond.

There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, and the service was burdened with its weight of beautiful floral emblems. Interment was in the Salt Lake City cemetery.

Mrs. Clara E. S. Carlisle, a close friend of the deceased, presided at the Mill Creek meetinghouse this afternoon.

HOME FROM ST. LOUIS.

Governor Wells Thinks the World's Fair Will be Greatest in History.

Gov. Heber M. Wells returned yesterday from his trip to St. Louis, where he attended the opening of the great fair. The governor, like all others who have come from St. Louis, looks upon the exposition as the greatest of all world's fairs. But it will be six weeks, and the chief executive would not advise anybody who desires to witness the fair in its entirety to go there before that time. A source of great satisfaction to the governor was the discovery that Utah's exhibit, except for the educational feature of it, is entirely in place. Only two or three other states are as complete. Utah's record in this respect is likely to count in her favor when it comes to judging the various exhibits.

BACK FROM WASHINGTON.

President Angus M. Cannon Returns From the Seat of Government.

President Angus M. Cannon, who was summoned to Washington to testify in the Smoot case, returned from the east this morning, after an absence of something like three weeks. During his stay he visited relatives in New York, Wilmington, Canton and Cleveland, having an enjoyable time at each place. He returns home feeling well and says that so far as his experience at Washington is concerned, there is very little to be said that he was well received by the committee.

Amusements

The Utah State band, which scored so heavy a hit on its first appearance at the Fabernick, is to be heard at the theater tonight. The program will be as already printed in the "News," and is a very attractive one.

The final week of the Belleford company at the Grand tonight with a production of the great war play, "Shenandoah."

The approach of the summer season apparently had an effect on the attendance at the concert of Heide's band in the Grand Theater last night, though there was not much suggestion of summer in the atmospheric surroundings. However, there was a fair sized audience and both the band and the Orpheus club of Australia, had a generous reception. Of the latter organization two members did some very clever work—Bernard Walther, the violinist, and Miss De Vere, the pianiste. Each is an artist. The former was most heartily cheered. The band appeared to be in the best of spirits, and the "Lucia Sextette," won a hearty recall.

Miss Jessie Norton appeared with the Bellefords on Saturday night in the part of Mrs. McMonie in "Kidnapped," and she made a very good impression. Patrons of the Grand would be pleased to see her in other roles, as it is evident that she is an actress of considerable ability, particularly in comedy lines.

DOWN AT CALIENTES.

Strenuous Times in Railroad Camp—J. Ross Clark Arrives Next Week.

Special Correspondence.

Calientes, Nev., May 6.—A very serious affair occurred here yesterday between Austrian and Italian laborers on the railroad. In the morning when work train pulled out 20 Austrians attacked Italians and beat them seriously. The trouble arose from religious differences. The Austrians were all Greek Catholics, and were celebrating St. George's day by getting drunk. The Italians are Roman Catholics and this started the fight. On arriving in camp the trouble continued and a man named Kane, an ex-convict from Salt Lake penitentiary, later a resident of Panaca, got into the discussion and Austrians beat him, in a saloon, and shot him in the jaw, inflicting a painful but not fatal injury. At 6 p. m. 20 Austrians started out looking for Kane, who was trying to borrow a gun, and the police officers attempted to disarm them. The Austrians pulled knives and the officers ran and the Austrians started to run and refused to stop when ordered, the officers fired and shot one in the back of the neck, the bullet lodging in the man's chest. He was sent to Salt Lake on the evening train to the hospital. His wound is considered very dangerous. Sheriff Johnson and the district attorney came in today and arrested all participants, and the train left at 80 and 90 days. The rest will be tried at Panaca for assault with deadly weapons. The camp was patrolled all night by armed deputies, and many Italians are leaving camp. It is feared another war will break out any time, as the Austrians are a very dangerous class when in liquor.

General Foreman McDermott returned from Salt Lake yesterday. Mrs. Ferguson and daughter returned to Salt Lake today. They have been spending a few days with Conductor Ferguson here.

Mrs. J. J. Lee, who has been in Reno for the past two months, joined her husband here today.
