NOTICE

ALL the members of Zion's Camp, who can conveniently come, are invited to attend the approaching Semi-Annual Conference, to be held in this city, October 6th, and to receive the hospitalities of Bishop Hunter and counselors at the Social Hall, at the close of the Conference.

THE MANIA FOR MONUMENTS.

EXTRAVAGANCE and love of display are among the most prominent follies of the times; this taste permeates all clue to the perpetrators.

Classes, hence it is as characteristic of the nation as of individuals. One of its outgrowths is the increasing disposition of the matter of the nation as of individuals. One of its outgrowths is the increasing disposition of the matter of the matter of the increasing disposition of the matter of the matter of the increasing disposition of the matter of the matter of the perpetrators.

In the times; this taste permeates all clue to the perpetrators.

In the case of John Franklin, and was successful in finding the skeletons of many of his many of his many of his many of the causing the Mount Hope and Erie boats. At King William's land Dr. President of the Bank announces that of the times; this taste permeates all to erect gorgeous and expensive monuents to the memories of the dead,-a disposition, which from its prevalence Griffin. at the present time, may not inapprocommon enough among the ancients to lantic and Pacific, as telegraphed from erect temples or monuments to their here. gods and oracles, and in honor of persons who had performed some real or imaginary feat of strength, valor or daring. But monuments are becoming so fashionable that extraordinary deeds babilities are great that an attempt will Jones, of this city, and adopted it. be made to perpetuate their memories destral of Scotch and Quincy granite, by means of an image of brass, bronze and will cost twenty thousand dollars, or stone, erected at the expense of the three-fourths of which sum are now in public. It is scarcely necessary even to die, to secure such a doubtful mark of to the State fair unprecedented in every honor and distinction, for monuments department; the fair promises to be the are now being erected in honor of some finest ever held in the Northwest. whose chief, if not only, claim to this empty honor is that they have been successful in amassing wealth.

Their works secure to them an everlasting remembrance; and while such individuals have no need of statues to perpetuate their memories, works of art of this description wills utterly fail to secure this, seemingly, much desired secure this, seemingly, much desired end, to all whose works fail to make them immortal.

The waste of means involved in the gratification of this mania is to be deprecated, for it might be used so as to benefit tens of thousands. It was stated the other day that the city of New York contains twenty thousand children who roam the streets and never attend school; the inference is that they are unable to do so, for it is not a supposable case that such a large number do it through choice. This evil is not confined to New York, other large cities have their full quota of the same class. If the sums expended in useless monuments were employed to found Charge d'Affairs of that kingdom. and endow schools and institutions where these Bedouins of civilized society could be educated and reared respectably, how much greater the beneficial results. If the $160,000 said to be now in the hands of the Lincoln Monument Fund Association were to be applied to the erection of an institution of the York.—The Episcopal Convention, of New York, will meet next this character, and named after the deceased President, the honor to his memory, through the good resulting, would be likely to far outshine that secured by the erection of a monument.

The memory of the late Secretary of War, Mr. Bawlins, it is said, is to be perpetuated by means of a monament; but if an attempt be made to carry out such a project, the means necessary to do so might be of much more benefit if applied so as to secure permanence, applied so as to secure permanence, comfort and education to his family, whom he, unfortunately, left unprovided for; and there can be no doubt whatever that such a course would afford him, supposing he can take whatever that auch a course would affect ford him, supposing he can take cognizance of human affairs, is finitely more gratification than the mere erection of an image to his memory.

The same line of reasoning is application of all such projects, and there are all such projects, and there are as ignorant children, widows, and help satisfied whiling field sates, on the 16th instance of the same should in the streets in public sentiment and so long is there an opportunity for the spilication of means to ensure give the positive of the application of means to ensure give the positive of the first officer of the reduction of the first officer of the reduction as in the country. The only question is whether they are in a condition to fight at all. If the possession of Cuba is made a point of honor, justice will help Spain better than force. Spain must consider whether she has a valid cause in the Antilles. However anxious Europe may be to recognize the validity of Spanish rights, she will have to inquire ring sea is unusually heavy the present season; the copper on the majority of the vessels is badly damaged.
