

SIDELIGHTS ON MAIL EARNINGS

Postal Cars Costing $6,000 Have Drawn Rentals of More
Than $100,000.

SOME STARTLING FIGURES.

Average of Railroad Mail Car is 15
Years, Making Net Earnings
Over $70,000.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., March 26.—There are cars in the railway mail service which, though costing $6,000 each, have drawn rentals over and above maintenance and repairs, of more than $100,000 each. This statement is perhaps so startling as to be incredible to some, and yet it is borne out by figures of the postoffice department.

An examination of the debates in the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses on the subject shows figures furnished by the department in this relation. According to these figures the average postal car costing $6,000 for the last fiscal year was $5,447. According to these same figures the average annual expenditure per car for maintenance, repairs, etc., per car was about $1,200. This leaves a net annual rental of $4,247 per car. Figures cited by Representative Tamm in the Fifty-ninth Congress show that there are cars which have been doing duty for 25 years, some, in fact, since 1871. A car in the service for 25 years would earn net rentals amounting to $104,175. Mr. Tamm also showed that the average life of a mail car is 15 years. On this basis the net earnings of a railway postal car costing $6,000 would be over $70,000, on an average.

These figures are over and above the rates paid for the transportation of the mails themselves, which are carried at a cost deemed excessive by many well informed people. Those who have studied the subject say that these rates, if they ought not to be lowered, ought at least to entitle the mails and those who handle them to every safeguard that can be provided. It is said that steel cars and electric lighting apparatus would render the mail practically immune from destruction from fire or other causes in case of wrecks, whereas when their mail is carried in wooden cars, which are often burnt up, represent many thousands of dollars in a single wreck.

RECESS APPOINTMENTS.

The three men whom the senate failed to confirm for state positions are to serve as recess appointments. Gov. Cutler has followed the precedent of many similar cases both in states and the nation, and named the men to serve until another legislature is in session, when their names will go in again for confirmation or rejection.

The three recess appointments announced are those of W. D. Candland and W. J. Lynch for the state land board, and that of Harry Joseph for the board of trustees of the state industrial school at Ogden.

W. D. Wedgewood, whose name was not submitted to the senate, is named as adjutant-general of the national guard, while H. M. H. Lund, one of the oldest officers in the organization, is named as adjutant-general of the state guard.

The text of the governor's proclamation making the appointments is as follows:

Whereas, Vacancies exist in appointive offices as follows: Adjutant-general of the National Guard of Utah, assistant adjutant-general, two members of the board of land commissioners for the two-year term, and one member of the board of trustees of the state industrial school for the four-year term; and

Whereas, The constitution and the law make it the duty of the governor to fill such vacancies by appointment;

Now, therefore, I, John C. Cutler, governor of the state of Utah, do hereby make the following appointments:

As adjutant-general of the National Guard of Utah, Colonel E. A. Wedgewood, of Salt Lake county;

As assistant adjutant-general, Colonel H. M. H. Lund, of Salt Lake county;

As members of the state board of land commissioners for a term of two years, William J. Lynch of Salt Lake county, W. D. Candland of Sanpete county;

As members of the board of trustees of the state industrial school for a term of four years, H. S. Joseph of Salt Lake county;

These appointments, regardless of the term for which the men are named, are good only until the next meeting of the legislature when they, or other names, must be submitted to the senate for its action.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—People who had forgotten how a light audience looked in the Salt Lake theater, had their memories refreshed last night. The threatening weather, a full week's engagement, and more than all, the general familiarity with "The Bonnie Brier Bush," made a small turnout inevitable.

Last night's company set for itself the hardest possible task, that of playing against the memory of a rendition which might almost be ranked among our theater's classics. "The Bonnie Brier Bush" has been done so often with Stoddard in the over-towering part of the minister, with the only Pax in the role of Posty, with our own Bob Easton heading the singing talent, and with the lesser parts in the best of hands, that any later presentation, short of perfection itself, could only be at a disadvantage. This was the case with last night's rendition. The presentation was as respectable throughout, and if the memory of the originals could have been banished, it would have been enjoyable. As it was, the audience could only sit and indulge in a sort of running fire of melancholy comparisons with the best work of the evening was done by Mr. Collins in the part of Lachlan, and he had several calls for the scene where he cast his daughter out. Mr. Bloomer was good as Posty. The others belong in the average class. The singing was sweet throughout and was warmly applauded. Mr. Phillips being a member of the quartet. The present company has rented the scenic production entire from its former owners, so that the scenic investment was excellent. The bill runs throughout the week.

Farrell Recital—The recital by Mr. A. L. Farrell, basso, occurs at the First Congregational church at 8:15 this evening.

Orpheum—The comedy act of the four vaudeville comedians at the Orpheum is so good that it puts the published headline into eclipse and drives the audience almost into hysterics with 10 minutes of incessant laughter. It would be almost impossible to live up to this one act, but fortunately the rest of the numbers are acceptable, so that the bill takes rank as one of the season's best.

Mr. August may possibly be forgiven some bad acting on the part of her male support, on the ground that she is advertised as "French," and her act is advertised as "French," and the suggestion in French suggestive. The lady herself is dainty in her pose and manner, but her act is not just "juggling." Cameron and Flanagan in "On and Off" are better in some spots than others. La Gette, who opens the bill, gives a trapeze performance of the usual sort, while Appleby, the symphony banjoist is one of the best in his class.

Aurie Dagwell, "the girl who sings the old songs," sings them well and before she gets through gives the audience a strain of almost every tune you ever loved. One Orpheum feature, not directly connected with the bill, but which is a growing cause for complaint, is the matter of programs. Time was when it was easy to get one to a couple of people, but for several weeks past the average has been less than that, and lately the supply has been almost exhausted. The program of the house was about four-fifths filled, or in some cases even less. The management should give an ample supply or resort to last year's program, which is still in the hands of the house on each side of the stage.

Grand—Murray and Mack, comedians who have been about 30 people, amused a large audience at the Grand last night. Those who have seen the pair during any of their many visits to Salt Lake, need not be told that the house was replete with fun and frolic. To persons who have no acquaintance with them, it may be said that Murray and Mack form a duo of comedians who are in the line of particular line. One joke follows fast upon the heels of another. Everything that is said is ludicrous, and the house is kept in a continuous uproar. The score of girls does some clever dancing and the chorus work is good. One of the best things of the evening was the singing of "Somewhere" by Gertrude Sandberg. Next to Murray and Mack as funmakers, were Bobby Harrington, Thomas T. Shea and Gladys Van, in the order named. The bill runs the whole week, and the promise is that it will draw a heavy patronage at every engagement, as it is of a nature most pleasing to a large portion of frequenters of the Grand.

Lyric—"How can they give such a good bill for the money?" The remark was made by one of the audience that filled out of the Lyric last evening at the conclusion of an interesting vaudeville performance. There are some really good ones in this week's bill, and any one of the best is worth the price of admission. The original monologue and songs by Bonnie Gaylord, who comes from the Orpheum circuit, made a big hit. Another interesting feature was the comedy sketch "Uncle Reuben Visits" by the Bryne Kenyon Four. Another lively little playlet is "The Thoroughbreds," by Harold, Kelly & Co.

The wooden shoe dancing by Purcell and Orbin is as good as any seen here and brought forth much applause. Some new jokes, the kind that make the laughs come, are sprung by day Rogers, the black face comedian. The bill ends with the Lyricoscope motion pictures which are decidedly interesting. There is a matinee every day and two performances each evening.

RALEIGH GETS HIS WISH.

Preliminary Hearing Will be Heard by District Court Judge.

Detective George Raleigh, who, with Chief of Police Sheets and several other defendants, is charged with conspiracy in connection with the robbery of the McWhirter brothers of $10,000 in this city last September, will have his preliminary hearing before a judge of the district court. Raleigh filed an affidavit asking for the transfer of his case from Judge Whitaker of the city court who bound Chief Sheets over, to some other judge, on the ground that the judge was prejudiced and would not give him a fair trial.

When the matter was brought up before Judge Whitaker today Atty. Thurman and Soren N. Christensen asked that the case be transferred to Judge Diehl for preliminary hearing. County Atty. Willard Hanson would not consent to the matter being heard by Judge Diehl so it was finally decided by the court to transfer to the district court. It is probable that Judge Armstrong will conduct the preliminary hearing although it may fall to the lot of some of the other judges of the district court to do so.

BANK IN GREAT DEPARTMENT STORE

Keith-O'Brien & Co. Inaugurate
a New Business Feature—
That of Private Banking.

FOR THE FIRM'S PATRONS.

Banking Facilities Offered, and Saving Encouraged by Special Method.

Vigorous preparations are under way for the opening of the Keith-O'Brien & Company Bank, the first department store bank to be established in Salt Lake following the great success of similar institutions in Eastern cities. Percy W. Garrett, late of the International Bank of New York, who will have charge of the new Salt Lake enterprise, has arrived in Salt Lake and will take charge of the banking offices as soon as everything is in readiness.

A deep local interest attaches to the undertaking and much favorable comment has already been voiced. The banking offices will be established on rear balcony of the department store, and will be elaborately fitted up. It is planned that the bank shall receive call deposits, and also time deposits drawing interest, and depositors will be solicited not only in Salt Lake, but throughout adjacent territory. The interest-bearing deposit method will embody many features beneficial to depositors. The bank will be of great convenience to ladies shopping in the Keith-O'Brien establishment, and, in addition, will offer a new and practical method of saving money, which is expected to commend itself to the house's patrons.

Advantages of Department Store Banks.

Keith-O'Brien & Co. make a clear and convincing statement of the merits of the new enterprise. It is explained that in the conduct of such a large business the company is necessarily placed in close relation with a great number of persons, whose requirements and wishes they are desirous of serving. It is pointed out that the possibilities of the business and trade conditions of Salt Lake, which have decided to engage in banking. The banking hours will be from 9 to 5:30 in the convenience of patrons. An especially active campaign will be made to set forth the manifold advantages and self-evident necessity of saving money. Mr. Garrett, who is thoroughly equipped as a banking authority, with the technical knowledge necessary to the conduct of such a business, interestingly explains the proposed method of assisting patrons to save money. What is known as the pocket bank plan is to be instituted in connection with the Keith-O'Brien bank. In connection with the receiving and handling of funds and accounts, as is common with banking concerns, Mr. Garrett points out, the Keith-O'Brien bank will introduce and install the pocket-bank plan of saving money. It is a system that has become a recognized feature in banking circles, and is in successful use by the various national, State and savings banks, as well as by trust companies and department stores in this country and Europe. To every adult who will agree to use it, a pocket bank, consisting of a strong steel tin about the size of a leather pocketbook, will be given. This is constructed to receive coins, which, when once placed in the receptacle cannot be removed. Keith-O'Brien & Co. bank holding the key. It is a constant reminder to save, and a person carrying such a bank will easily acquire the habit of putting into the pocket change that would otherwise be spent. When the savings amount to a dollar or so, the bank is taken to the office of Keith-O'Brien & Co. bank, and the amount so deposited are left for three months, interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, payable quarterly, will be credited.
