London, March 3.-It is learned by the Associated Press that the British government intends in the near future to remove the halfpenny per pound duty which is now imposed on West Indian sugar. This will afford the West, Indies the relief they have demanded until the Brussels convention comes in force. Between now and Septembr, 1903, according to the terms of the convention. Great Britain can take any steps she deems advisable to safe-guard the industry. The abatement of the sugar duty from the West Indies is tantamount to giving it preferential treatment over all other sugars, though, of course, ceases the moment

For the first time 'Tommy' with everything found and higher pay, will be in a better position than his agwill be in a better pad from that class ricultural brother, and from that class we ought now to get the best instead of the worst. Yes, it may hurt the agricultural interest, or what is left of it in Engand, but I do not believe that this demonstration will be as serious as the evils which the change will correct. Not only is it interesting to note the nfluence of the American system in hese sweeping changes, but they will have a tremendous negative import-ance. Last year the government clearr indicated its fears that it might have to resort to conscription. The present move banishes all possibility of this, for I understand Mr. Brodrick is willing to go even further in copying the United States' excellent treatment of enlisted men, and by liberal finance build up the standard of the army. The build up the standard of the army. The increase in pay means an additional annual cost of about £2,000.000, but I maintain that it will be a direct sav-ing of money, for the better class of men secured will mean fever men in the hospitals and prisons as well as obviating other forms of wastage and will quickly make up for the additional initial outlay.
