

MRS. WHITE HAD THE PARK CHECKS

Entered as Evidence in Divorce Suit Brought by Her in Court.

HER HUSBAND'S DRINK BILL.

She Showed He Spent $800 for Liquor And Was Generally an Undesirable Companion.

Judge Moore has granted Edith May White a divorce from Thomas C. White on the grounds of drunkenness and non-support. They were married on Dec. 16, 1897, and Mrs. White testified that for the past five years her husband has been an habitual drunkard and has spent most of his money for liquor instead of supporting her. She produced checks given by White to saloon men amounting to about $800 as evidence of the money her husband has spent for liquor in the past few years.

White was not present in court but was represented by an attorney and undertook to secure their home valued at about $2,100. Mrs. White stated that during the first three years of their married life she saved $1,000 from her husband's earnings and finished paying for the home. The court decided that she was entitled to the property and awarded it to her as alimony. She was also awarded the custody of their child.

PANTER WAS PREMATURE.

Mrs. Marriott Files Cross-Petition for Letters of Administration.

A cross-petition for letters of administration of the estate of George Marriott, who died on April 27, 1907, has been filed in the probate division of the district court by Levis S. P. Marriott, the widow of deceased. The day after the funeral William J. Pantier, died a few days later of letters of administration of the Marriott estate claiming that he was a creditor of the estate and that the heirs had consented to having him appointed. Mrs. Marriott alleged in her cross-petition that Pantier's action was premature and wholly without authority and she asks that his petition be denied and that she be appointed administratrix. The estate consists of real and personal property valued at about $1,000.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Dr. Peter S. Mussigbrodt of Warm Springs, Mont., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Mussigbrodt, and Miss Charlotte Crandall of Berlin, Germany, is registered at the Knutsford. Dr. Mussigbrodt has now, and for the past 30 years has had the contract for the state insane asylum, located at Warm Springs, about 25 miles north from Butte. "The state finds it cheaper and better to contract the care of its insane patients, than to conduct the institution itself," said Dr. Mussigbrodt, "and the same is true of the state penitentiary, which is also contracted out by the state of Montana. For 20 years past the mental hospital has been conducted by my family, and I have yet to hear the first complaint, either from the people or from the state. I am also interested somewhat in mining and am doing what I can to develop the Garnet gold camp, in Montana. My brother, Herr M. S. Mussigbrodt, was up to recently an engineer in the torpedo department of the German navy, and he is now retired from the service, and with his wife and my sister, Mrs. Gremer, is touring the United States for pleasure. We are all delighted with Salt Lake, and enjoyed very much the great organ festival yesterday. I am well acquainted with your townsmen, Ben Tibbey, who was formerly superintendent of the Parrot Mining company. My brother and party will go on to the coast before returning home, but I expect to return to Montana from Salt Lake."

Dr. J. W. S. Emerson of Shoshone, Idaho, is at the Wilson. Dr. Emerson is in Salt Lake on business combined with pleasure, and is pleased with business conditions in this vicinity. The doctor's home town reminds the tourist on the Idaho sagebrush plains of an oasis in Sahara, so beautiful and green is Shoshone in comparison with the sagebrush surrounding the town. "All that did it was water," said the doctor, "and we are getting more water onto the land every year, and sometime the great part of the Gem state will bloom out like Shoshone does now."

W. C. Hyde of New York is at the Knutsford. The gentleman's specialty is lace curtains, and he says the demand for this class of house decoration was never better. Hattenburg, point lace and other delicate effects are very popular, and generally a better class of curtains is being used all over the country than ever before, according to Mr. Hyde.

"Capt. Gordon Cassidy, British Army," the inscription on the Kenyon hotel, registers, indicating the presence in Salt Lake of one of his majesty's trusty soldiers. Capt. Cassidy's command is stationed in India, where he has served during the last four years. He is now traveling on leave for recuperation and pleasure, and is headed toward the Jamestown exposition. THE AMERICAN HABIT

One in Every Three Affected.

Of the 75,000,000 people in the United States, it is estimated that 25,000,000, or one in every three, is partially disabled from a broken down nervous system. America is the greatest consumer of coffee in the world. Can you draw the correct inference from these two facts?

Many a person will exclaim, "Non-sense!" It is easy to say that a person to jump at a conclusion that a philosopher would study carefully over before reaching. Think of the members of your own family. How many of them are perfectly and completely well in every respect? How many of your friends are perfectly healthy? How many of them and you will be surprised to learn that the average of one in every three, who are sick, in the main, stands true. Health depends, primarily, upon a perfectly poisoned nervous system, and the greatest known enemy to the nervous system is coffee. Its active principle is caffeine, which is a pronounced nerve destroyer. The action is, first, to attack the stomach, then the pharynx, the stomach and which is directly connected with the brain.

The diseased condition passes thence from the brain to all parts of the body, and in some it will show in trepidation (well-known nervous condition); in others this is hidden, but the work goes on from day to day, until the accumulation of forces climaxes in some organic disease. It may be the kidneys become affected and Bright's disease sets up, it may be weak eyes, may be a stomach, stomach trouble, palpitation and heart failure, (which is becoming more and more noticeable among Americans.)

Somewhere you have depended upon this work will show forth in the form of disease. It may become so fixed and chronic that it can not be thrown off. It is hard to induce a man or woman to give up coffee when they have become addicted to its use, but if such people can be given Postum Food Coffee they will quickly change for the better, for the food drink, when properly made, has the color and the delicious, toothsome flavor of old government Java of the milder and higher priced grades.

The work of reorganization begins at once, for the tearing down element of coffee has been eliminated, and in its place the strong rebuilding effects of the elements contained in Postum go directly to work to rebuild the broken-down and delicate gray matter in the nerve centers and brain. This is just plain, old-fashioned common sense that any thoughtful person can make use of; in fact, hundreds of thousands of brain workers in America have already discovered the fact and are using Postum Food Coffee to their very great benefit and relief. "FESTIVAL OF PHUN."

Fifth Ward Carnival Opens With Due éclat—Some Features.

The Fifth ward carnival, advertised as the "Festival of Phun," had its opening last evening, and was very largely attended. The booths where articles were sold and refreshments served were liberally patronized, and everything went on a merry and amusing way, to those having the enterprise in hand.

Auxiliary organizations have in charge the various departments, the Relief society looking after the refreshments, the Y. M. C. A. and Primary associations conducting the booths where useful articles for the most part, fancy work are placed on sale. Then there was an entertaining program rendered and a vaudeville performance given. One of the features of the festival, which has yet three nights to run, is the voting contest for the most popular person in the ward. The vote last night stood for the four highest as follows: Herman Griffiths, 726; Annie Griffiths, 726; Jacob Reiser, 740; G. E. Burbridge, 122.

PRAISE FOR UTAH SCHOOLS.

Dr. R. G. Boone, Prominent Ohio Educator, Says Some Pleading Things.

"I have found but three normal schools in the United States that come up to what I would deem proper requirements. One of these three is west of the Missouri river, and is the University of Utah Normal School."

So spoke Dr. R. G. Boone, a prominent Ohio educator, yesterday, after he had paid a visit to the normal department of the U. of U. He was much pleased with the school in general, and expressed himself freely as to the splendid work being done in the section presided over by Prof. W. M. Stewart. Dr. Boone addressed the students briefly, and among other things he said:

"Education in its broader sense is not secured alone from books. There is something greater and larger than arithmetic, grammar and spelling. This is an education of ideas. Many men store their minds with book learning leaving out the essential parts of applying their knowledge, and as a result are as bad off as the poorest educated man. What we want is not knowledge, but the application of the greatest men I have known have had but a small portion of book learning, but they could apply it to the world, and application and these two traits alone have placed them in the highest rank in the land. The school form is the best way that could be secured to make practical boys and girls. Here they see things as they actually exist and are able to apply the science to their own lives, arithmetic and in fact any part of education."

CUNNINGHAM TO RESIGN.

Chairman of Democratic County Committee to Retire From Politics.

Next Friday evening at 8 o'clock Chairman M. F. Cunningham will call the city members of the Democratic county committee to order, in the law office of James H. Moyle, and will there officially lay down upon the committee the responsibility of the chairmanship, together with an announcement that there is a vacancy in the secretaryship. Vice Rollin W. Hale, resigned.

Chairman Cunningham is now too busy with his business affairs to undertake the duties of another campaign, and consequently the city committee will be asked by him to name a successor, and this will probably be done with the view of getting into shape for the next election. Among the eligibles being considered are Will C. Farnell, Richard J. Moore, W. H. Dale and Frank B. Stephens.

He has no relatives in these parts, except an uncle, Antonios Ronotes.

FAIR LASCELLES MARRIED OFTEN

Father of One Girl Died of Grief When Bogus Lord Was Exposed.

METHODS RESEMBLED HOPE'S

But Salt Lakers Still Have Doubts as to Whether the Identity of the Two Men is the Same.

The question of whether or not Lord Beresford Hope of Salt Lake notoriety, is the Sidney Lascelles, who recently died at Asheville, N. C., is still unsettled in the minds of those who knew him while posing here as an English capitalist and promoter.

A copy of the New York Herald of recent date reviews the career of Lascelles, the man found dead at Asheville, and gives no description of him. It is given, it is apparent from the article that his methods were very similar to those used by Beresford Hope in this city. No mention of the western epistolary is made, however, either of the ways of the English aristocracy, who the man posed as Dr. Kingsley. The way he died, however, was true to the character of Lord Hope, for he hired a doctor, a doctor, and promised them much in the way of payment, which promises were never fulfilled. When Hope first disappeared, his disappearance was checked with that of Lascelles, and it was decided he was not the man.

The review of the life of Lascelles, as given by the New York paper in a dispatch from Asheville, N. C., follows: Sidney Lascelles, a swindler known to the police of two continents, and who operated under the name of Lord Beresford Hope, a dozen other aliases, was shot dead at Asheville, N. C., by a local undertaker for identification. W. T. Cheney of Rome, Ga., from where he operated extensively, positively identified him today as the notorious swindler.

Sidney Lascelles, alias Lord Walter S. Beresford, alias Claude Lascelles, alias James A. La Salle, alias Robert Turnbull, was a notorious international swindler, who could steal a woman's heart with the same ease that he could pass a worthless check, and had been a source of annoyance to the police for the last 15 years.

SON OF GAMEKEEPER.

Son of a gamekeeper on the estate of the Duke of Devonshire, he studied the ways of the English aristocracy, and this was invaluable to him when he began his swindling career. His record in this country dates back to 1891, when after he had duped his own countrymen, he came to this country, representing himself as Lord Walter S. Beresford, a nephew of the British admiral, and was received in the homes of prominent persons. At the time he was in New York, he was a wealthy lumberman, and borrowed thousands of dollars from the friends he made with his suave manners.

He met Miss Maude Littenthal, daughter of a wealthy tobacco manufacturer, of Yonkers, followed her to this country and eloped with her. She afterward obtained a divorce from him. He was in New York, and was in the moment in Georgia for passing worthless checks, but was pardoned by Gov. Atkinson on his promise to reform. He immediately married Miss Pilky, daughter of a wealthy lumberman, and borrowed thousands of dollars from the friends he made with his suave manners.

Under his different aliases he went from place to place, making love to women and marrying them when necessary to obtain their money, and passing checks, some of which bore the Beresford coat of arms. Under the name of Turnbull he swindled many members of the American colony in Mexico. His last conviction was in Boston a few years ago on a charge of larceny, and since that time he had been in the south, which was a favorite place for him to operate. Detectives were looking for him in this city two years ago, but he disappeared after he was reported here.

CAR STRUCK BY ENGINE.

Entire Official Force of Salt Lake Valley Line Injured.

For several hours last night the system of the Salt Lake Valley Rapid Transit company was out of commission, but another supply of rolling stock was put into operation this morning, and the service resumed. The cause of the trouble was that the car owned and operated by the company, when it is in its best working condition, was struck by a Salt Lake train on Second west between Ninth and Tenth South streets.

The injured car, L. Wright, conductor, was scratched; J. L. Wright, motor-man, back bruised; J. L. Wright, chief dispatcher, leg bruised; L. Wright, traveling passenger agent, ankle bruised. Mr. Wright was removed in a hack, and his car was intercepted by a truck in which Dr. Landeberger attended him, and dressed the injured leg, which was found to be broken.

When the accident occurred the car was on its way up town, and stopped at the crossing to allow a freight train to pass. Not looking for a second train, Conductor Wright signalled to Motorman Wright to proceed, and the car ran on the track just in time to have his forward platform scraped off by a switch engine following close behind the train. Three passengers in the car were shaken up but not otherwise injured.

The West street car has had accidents of this kind before. At one time the trolley slipped off while the car was bouncing over the railroad crossing and the engine struck the rear platform. The appendage was yanked up and the road a few hundred yards, and in place with a rope.

Nothing I Ate Agreed With Me.

MRS. LENORA BODENHAMER.

Mrs. Lenora Bodenhamer, R. F. D. 1, Box 19, Kernersville, N. C., writes:

"I suffered with stomach trouble and indigestion for some time, and nothing that I ate agreed with me. I was very nervous and experienced a continual feeling of uneasiness and fear. I took medicines from the doctor, but it did me no good."

"I found in one of your Peruna books a description of my symptoms. I then wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He said I had catarrh of the stomach. I took Peruna and Manalin and followed his directions, and can now say that I feel as well as I ever did."

"I hope that all who are afflicted with the same symptoms will take Peruna, as it has certainly cured me."

The above is only one of hundreds who have written similar letters to Dr. Hartman. Just one such case as this entitles Peruna to the candid consideration of every one similarly afflicted. If this be true of the testimony of one person what ought to be the testimony of hundreds, yes thousands, of honest, sincere people. We have in our files a great many other testimonials.

and the car went on its way bubbling over bumps to the end of the line.

Recently a movement of patrons on the line has been developing to either force better service or have the franchise snuffed, but it was decided to allow the company to die a natural death by the expiration of its franchise in three years.

PILGRIMAGE OF THE UTAH PIONEERS

SIXTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

SATURDAY, MAY 15, 1847.

The weather still remained cool, the thermometer standing at 6:30 a. m. at 49 degrees F. A moderate wind was blowing from the north, thick clouds overcast the sky. The most of the forenoon was rainy. The pioneers again set out upon their westward course, and three-quarters of a mile brought them to the sandy bluff, where they were again obliged to wend their way through the sand for three-quarters of a mile. They then descended upon the bottom—crossed a small stream of swiftly running water, proceeding from springs among the hills; and finding an abundance of good grass, they halted for noon. The rain ceased about 11 o'clock. Fresh tracks of Indians were discovered in the sand. It was their custom frequently to follow emigrants hundreds of miles, keeping themselves secreted during the day, and watching the best opportunities for stealing during the night.

Generally the wagons of the pioneers were organized in the circumference of a circle, the forward wheel of another, forming a circular fortification, in the interior of which their horses were well secured during the night, while the whole camp was strongly guarded by a sufficient number of men. During the day, while their teams were grazing, about 14 men usually encircled them on all sides, to prevent them from straying or being suddenly frightened away in case of any sudden incursion of Indians, accompanied by their hostile yells, which they frequently practiced on purpose to scatter the horses and cattle of emigrants, and afterwards hunt them themselves at their leisure, and in case small parties of two or three went in search of them, they were sometimes fallen upon and robbed of their clothing, and of their saddle horses, if they had any. If they were so fortunate as to escape with their lives, they returned to camp naked and in a sad forlorn condition. These were scenes which frequently befell the pioneers. In these savage and inhospitable wilds, traces of but-fairly were rather more numerous than for a few days past; deer, antelope, geese, ducks, etc., were still plentiful, and the pioneer hunters generally supplied the whole camp with all the meat required. The pioneers encamped for the night, after having traveled but seven miles. No timber for several days; flood water, and buffalo excrement had been their food.
