A strange but significant session of the chamber of deputies was held. De-jection sait on the face of almost every deputy. The members anxiously con-suited the foreign correspondents to as-certain the opinions held abroad. The new president, Ismael Kemel Bay, pro-posed that the chamber hold a short secret session. This was stormy and it was finally decided that a proclama-tion be published throughout the emm be published throughout the em-to that the house considers the claims the Ottoman soldiers, accepts the esignation of the cabinet and grants in addition the chamber agreed to sue assurances to the various constit-encies that order will be restored and the constitution maintained.

the constitution maintained. The whole attitude of the chamber to-day indicated its sense of deteat and lost influence. Few of the members dared to speak. Those more couragious were interrupted by the timid, who ap-parently were fearful that the next at-tack might be directed against them. The Modera downloated the cituation tack might be directed against them. The Hodgas dominated the situation and spoke imperatively. When the sitting became public sev-eral ministers took part. The minister of instruction declared that the new ministers have sworn to uphoid the constitution and would rather die than violate their ouths. He assured the chamber that nothing threatened the constitution and there was no need for alarm. This last phrase produced a storm of clice demanding to know who was causing the fight. The minister was greatly perturbed and sold he was Credit is given to Mrs. Taft for the idea of thansforming this spot into a gathering place for the people. where they can be entertained with music and anoresthemselves with games. The place formerly a bog, has been filled until now the ground is high and dry, and the peninsula is bordered with a benatiful drive. A band stand is to be built at the 'toe' of the peninsula, and back of it will be the rolo grounds, basebalt fields and tents courts. In connection with the speadway it is intended to make Pato-mac park one of the beauty spots of the country—the Hyde park of America. The concerts at the capitol and the White House have attracted much at-tention, but, there being no room for standing carriages at either place, the element of society was lacking. The explanate will attract the fushionable set because of the accommodiations for carriages. where they can be entertained with carriages.
