HEALTH IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Dr. T.B. Beatty Addresses Teachers on Ventilation, Quarantine and Sanitation, Religion Class Conference-Showman Arrested for Stealing Diamonds From Ogden School Girl.

Ogden, Feb. 17 .- A largely attended meeting of the public school teachers of Ogden was held Saturday afternoon at the county court house. Dr. T. B. Beatty addressed the assemblage on the important subject of good health and how to care for it.

He stated that there is less disease, especially contagion, in Ogden than in any other city in the state per capita. The weight of his testimony was that in the public school buildings more light and fresh air are necessary, as they are both excellent disinfectants. He advised the teachers to be watch-ful of the health of the pupils under their supervision. He suggested that the teachers give talks in the schols on pure air and proper ventilation in the schoel rooms and at the homes. He then spoke of ventilation in the chool room and said that in most cases oo little attention is paid to this imlight and fresh air are necessary, as school room and said that in most cases too little attention is paid to this im-portant factor of health, and that the time would come when they would have plenty of fresh air in the school room, even if they had to smash the win-dows out. He stated that moisture, darkness and impure air are the things had id disease grams to prognar and aid disease germs to prosper, and it is more easy to prevent con-on than to combat the disease in subtle individuals. He also said he believed the majority of conagious diseases were transmitted in the carly stages and before it was con-idered or diagnosed as a contagious

He held that teachers should become acquainted with petty diseases and that the question should be asked each morning whether or not any pu-plis present were ill with sore throat or such allments, and whether or not hey were indisposed in any way and mall cases send the pupil home until the disease had time to develop so that it could be determined what it was.

it could be determined what it was. Of much importance were the re-marks of Dr. Beatty with regard to pneumonia. He held that it was in-fetious and contagious and said that more than 100,000 people were destroyed is this country by this disease alone ach year. He made the statement that there were more deaths from this disease in Utah last month than in any previous month. He said that the greatest danger of contagion in preumonia cases lay in the expectora.

tion of infected persons, as in cases of inherculosis. He then said that many children were released from quarantine while still harboring disease germs, and talked against permitting children to expec-torate on the floors, also against their placing pencils, etc., in their mouths. He recommended the disinfecting of the floors and the opening of the windows of the buildings during the night. In dealing with the subject of per-sons who concealed contagious dis-cases from the health officers, he char-acterized their conduct as criminal in character. Once in the basement of the building they had no trouble in making their way to the dressingrooms on the stage. Through some one's carelessness the doors inside the build-ing had been left unlocked. A trunk ing had been left unlocked. A trunk belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Ira Rohert-son, who are playing an engagement at the house, appealed to the thieves and it was prompily broken open. Jewelry, an overcoat and other articles, valued at more than $150, were taken. The theft was not discovered until yesterday noon.

Before they could get into the main room of the Stimson cafe on Twenty-fifth street burglars were forced to smash three doors. Everything in the smash three doors. Everything in the place was turned topsy-turvy in a valu search for money. Twenty-five cents was all that was secured, as Mr. Stim-son had deposited his cash elsewhere before closing the place for the nicht. When the thieves finally decided that there was no cash in the place they re-paired to the kitchen and prepared and ato a meal. By way of showing their contempt for a man who would not leave a few dolars for a poor burglar they threw edibles of all kinds against the wall and upon the floor.

DIAMOND THIEF CAUGHT. Chester Blancy Arrested in East St.

Louis for Robbing Ogden Girl.

Louis for Robbing Ogden Girl. Ogden, Feb. 17.—Chester Blaney, alias Jack Manley, a vaudeville actor, is under arrest in East St. Louis, being wanted by the police here for the al-leged theft of a pair of diamond ear-rings valuel at $200 from Miss Ella Livingston, a High school student. The theft was committed during the early part of last summer, since which time the police have been searching for young Blaney. While here he was em-ployed as a singer of illustrated songs in a cheap playhouse. He was a dressy chap and soon became acquaint-with a number of the High schoo airls, among whom was Miss Living-ston. The girl was fascinated by Bla-ney's smooth talk and when he sug-gested that he take her dlamond ear-rings and have the stones placed in a brooch together with a third diamond which he would furnish she suspected nothing wrone.

which he would furnish she suspected nothing wrong. Shortly after receiving the precio-stones Blaney lett the city, without announcing his departure. Some time later the girl, who is the daughter of B. F. Livingston, a retired Ogden business man reported the loss of her diamonds to her father, who promptly acquainted the police with the case. Blaney was traced from here to several other towns, then to Nevada, but be-fore the officers could lay their hands upon him he left for the east. The fellow was next heard of in St. Louis. Chief T. E. Browning then appealed to the crief of that city, with the result that a man answering Blaney's description was located in East St. Louis. About the same time that this became known Blaney whote here for his trunk which he had left behind in his hurried departure from the city. His identification was thus made posi-tive and his arrest followed.
