BURRIS MAY GET

Buris. As the worn out riders crept slowly over the tape last night, there was not a sound of applause to greet them. Their eyes were bloodshot, their arms and legs weary and sore and it was with difficulty that they got to their dressing rooms. The finish was even less than featureless. The riders hoped to make money out of the race, but disappointment could be seen on their faces as they dismounted from their wheels and gazed at the tiers of empty seals.

The riders who did not start in the long grind showed their good sense. One of them said he had reason to believe of them said he had reason to believe the affair would prove a rank failure, and such it did. Of the six who start-ed, only four finished. Palmer quit at-ter an hour's riding. He had a fail and injured his side. It was enough for him and he decided to pull out. About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Emery decided that he had had enough. Early in the race he had a fail and bruised one of his eyes badly. When he quit he was miles behind and had no earth-is chact to catch up. Those who finhe was miles behind and had no earth-is chance to catch up. Those who fin-ished were Samuelson, Burris, Turville and Leyland. Of these riders none made a more game fight than did Har-ry Leyland, the erstwhile amateur ril-er. Although he jost many miles i.e was game to the last, and when some of the other riders ridiculed him, he replied: "That's all right, I am the only one who has any nerve left." It is the first race of the kind he ever en-tered, and to take a chance against meu who have had experience in such events, shows that he is made of the right ma-terial. His ride, considering all, was a splendid one and he deserves great splendid one and he deserves great credit for it.

Up to 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Burris was in the lead, and every per-son at the track picked him as the lead-er. Time and time again both Turville er. Time and time again both Turville and Samuelson tried to shake Burris but were unable to. Finally the riders agreed to leave their wheels for a few moments rest, but Burris would not enter into the compact. The others dismounted, and Burris gained one mile over Samuelson. He already had a big lead over Turville. When the riders reappeared Turville and Samuelson be-fan their team work that shut Burris

In this manner Turville and Samuelson gradu. ally wore Burris out. They took turns in deliberately running him up the bank. He saw that it was useless to fight against two men and told them to be fair, but they ded not heed his protest.
