NEW YORK, 5.-A workman named Marcus says there was nothing in or about the place to check a dre-neither hose, extinguishers nor fire escape. This is the third time fire has occurred on the premises. Milo Hines, who occupied the top floor for the manufac-ture of buttons, states: "At 9 o'clock was in my room directing the work of my employes, of whom there were 40, mostly women. The first we heard of the accident was when we heard i crash, and this was followed by part of the flooring giving way. In one corner of my room there was a ladder leading to the roof, and all the employes made a rush for it. There was a panic among the women for a time, and two or three of them fainted; but the foreman soon succeeded in restoring order. Then, in single file, the employes climbed the ladder and gained the roof. The girls marched out in good order, gained the roof of the adjoining building and reached the street by descending the ire escapes.

THE SCENE AT THE POLICE STATION, where the three dead bodies which were removed from the ruins were con-veyed, was a pitiful one. A bed quilt called to see if they could not recognize the undistinguishable mass. All failed, however, and all statements were simply guesswork. One of the bodies legs was burned to the knees, the places. A friendly halfbreed arrived and the two arms to the elbows. The other bodies were merely a mass of black cinders. The bodies are all those of men. When the father of the missing boy, John McGrath, went to the police station he fainted twice, and when he was able gave vent to the most sinabolne that a large body of Indians pitiful moans. "Oh, Sergeant," he were moving north of Cypress Hills, cried, "do tell me my poor boy, my only support, is not dead. Oh, bring him back to me." The man was getting delirious and had to be removed. CHICAGO, 5 .- Onite a sensation sulted less than a month ago from the supposed elopement of Mrs. Annie Steinriede, wife of a prominent Memphis physician, with a colored servant of the family. Detectives here have never ceased to be on the watch for her, and this afternoon Wm. Pinkerton of the Pinkerton detective agency, received a letter from Dr. Steinriede begging him to find his wife and return him. Shortly after receiving the letter Mr. Pinkerton happened to be in the city detective department of the city hall when a handsome, but careworn woman entered and asked to be shown a detective. To Mr. Pinkerton and others she explained that she was Mrs. Annie Steinriede; that she was destitute and wished to give herself up. She said she had not been unup. She said she nad not but left him faithful to her husband, but left him because of his cruelty toward her, and in St. Louis came across a former negro servant by accident, which meeting, it is supposed, gave rise to the clopement story. Coming to Chicago she had worked since as an ordinary domestic. Mrs. Steinriede was placed in the witness' cell at the Armory and J., 5.—At 11 o'clock this morning Lucy Gilchrist, wife of John Gilchrist, while insane from drink, seized her six-months old baby, and placing it on a block, chopped its head neck and body with an axe, killing it instantly. Another of her children gave the alarm, and neighbors rushed in, but too late to save the baby. The woman is without doubt insane. She says she did the deed because the spirits told her to do so, and because she must save Ireland. When her husband ar-rived, soon after the child was killed, t was with great difficulty he was restrained from attacking her. The woman is 30 years old, and has three remaining children—aged 14, 11 and 5 years. She was taken in custody.
