

ADMIRAL UCHI WILL ENTERTAIN

Will Receive Guests on Flagship
Aso and Give Dinner to Rear
Admiral Swinburne.

HAS BEEN ROYALLY TREATED

Officers and Midshipmen from Squadron Sent Around Bay in a Special Train.

San Francisco, May 7.—Civic and commercial San Francisco closed its formal entertainment to the officers and men of the Japanese training cruisers Aso and Soya today, by sending the entire complement of 185 midshipmen and 20 of the officers of the training squadron on an all-day trip around the bay in a special train, which made lengthy stops at the various points of interest along the line of the Southern Pacific railroad, while some 200 of the enlisted men, comprising those who remained on board the vessels yesterday, were taken a sight-seeing tour through the city in special trolley cars.

Meanwhile Capt. T. A. Phelps, commanding the Mare Island navy yard, entertained Rear Admiral Uchi and five of his officers at luncheon at the famous naval station, where Rear Admiral Swinburne and his staff of the United States Pacific fleet completed the list of invited guests.

The party of Japanese midshipmen and officers steamed out of the coast guard station at 3 o'clock. The first stop was made at Palo Alto, where for two hours the merry party wandered about the grounds and through the buildings of Stanford university.

A second stop was made at San Jose, where lunch was taken. As the train sped through the famous Santa Clara valley, the Japanese visitors expressed surprise and delight at the miles upon miles of prime orchards through which the railroad winds its way.

Returning northward up the east shore of the bay, the party left its train and took the trolley line to Mills seminary, from which point the last lap of the home-bound trip was made.

Tonight the ward room and junior officers of the Aso and Soya gave dinners on board their respective vessels to the ward room and junior officers of the United States cruisers West Virginia, California, Pennsylvania and Tennessee. Toasts of an international character were drunk, and renewed pledges of good will were made between the rising generation of sea fighters of the two friendly nations represented.

Tomorrow Rear Admiral Uchi will entertain a large number of Japanese and American civilian guests at a reception on board the flagship Aso, and on Sunday evening he will give a dinner to Rear Admiral Swinburne aboard the Aso.

SENATE VOTES TO RETAIN DINGLEY DUTY ON LEAD

Washington, May 7.—The senate voted today to retain the duty on lead contained in lead ore at 1 1/2 cents a pound which is the rate of the Dingley law, and of the pending bill as it was passed by the house.

Fifty-three senators, including all Republicans present, and Senators Hughes of Colorado, McHenry of Louisiana, Deussen of Ohio and Owen of Oklahoma voted against it. The vote was not significant.

During the day Senator Clapp of Minnesota spoke at length in favor of lowering the tariff duties, and Senator Owen of Oklahoma upheld the constitutionality of an income tax.

EVELYN NESBIT THAW WALKED UP AND PAID FINE

New York, May 7.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw did not go to jail today. Instead, representatives of her counsel paid the receiver appointed to take charge of Mrs. Thaw's affairs the amount of $250, the fine imposed for contempt in failure to appear in supplementary proceedings. This sum is to be applied to the extinction of the judgment for $253 obtained by a milliner. There still remains to be paid nearly $100, made up of costs, before Mrs. Thaw can have her affairs taken out of the hands of the receiver.

KILLED BY MOONSHINE.

Hugo, Okla., May 7.—In a battle between a posse and a band of moonshiners near Turkey creek today United States Deputy Marshal Lon Holden, was killed. The band was routed. Three of the moonshiners were captured.

REPORT ON NAVIGABILITY OF GREEN AND GRAND RIVERS

Los Angeles, May 7.—Lieut. L. C. Easton, assistant to Capt. Fries, government engineer here, returned today from an exploration of the Grand and Green rivers in Utah and Arizona, and reported that as a result of the trip a report will be sent to Washington declaring these two rivers navigable, or many miles above their junction where they meet and form the Colorado river.

SYMPATHY AND LAW AGAINST PARIS TELEGRAPHER

Paris, May 7.—Both public sympathy and the law seem today to be clearly against the posts, telegraphs and telephones employees' association, which yesterday threw down the gauntlet to the government by transforming itself into a syndicate

EDWARD P. WESTON.

Mr. Weston started on his seventy-first birthday, March 15, to walk from New York to San Francisco, a 4,300-mile journey, which he expects to cover in 100 days, Sundays excluded. Mr. Weston has already crossed the continent twice.

or union, under the laws of 1884. This action placed the association on the same footing as the workmen's unions, and was calculated to give it the right to strike against its employer, the state.

The newspaper this morning with the exception of the extreme socialist organs are unsparing in their denunciation of the stand taken by the association as an act of rebellion and they urge the government to proceed with energy and crush the insurrection before the movement engulfs the other categories of state employees.

Evidence accumulated today that the formation of this union yesterday was only the first step in a far reaching plan to place the entire machinery of the government at its mercy. The law of 1884 limits unions to professional and trades engaged in "competitive industry" and the attorney-general of the republic is expected to decide summarily that the syndicate is illegal and order its dissolution.

As soon as this is done the organizers of the movement will be subject to heavy fines and imprisonment if they persist in meeting.

"BUCKET SHOP" MEN.

Six Convicted of Using Mails for Purpose of Defrauding.
Cincinnati, May 7.—The jury in the case of Louis W. Fover and five others who were charged with using the mails to defraud in the running of a so-called "bucket shop," returned a verdict of guilty in the U. S. district court here today.

The men found guilty are: Louis W. Fover, John Gorman, W. J. Campbell, A. C. Baldwin, John M. Scott and Ed. W. F. Hell.

The penalty is a fine of from $1,000 to $5,000, 18 months in the penitentiary, or both.

Motion for a new trial will be filed.

CALHOUN TRIAL.

San Francisco, May 7.—The prosecution devoted the greater part of the morning session of the trial of Patrick Calhoun, when the case was resumed today, to the further examination of George Francis, clerk and private secretary to Thayer L. Ford, general counsel of the United Railroad.

The question asked today were directed to an effort to draw from the witness a connected story of a visit of Abraham Ruef to Ford's office in the latter part of the summer of 1906. Francis recalled the visit and stated that he saw Ruef go into Ford's private office, but did not see him.

U. P. TUNNEL INTO TACOMA DELAYED

Portland, Or., May 7.—Considerable delay and large additional expenditure will be involved in the construction of the Union Pacific tunnel into Tacoma as the result of an engineering error which caused two shafts at the river near the middle of the tunnel to miss meeting by eight feet, according to special.

Two shafts were sunk to a depth of 60 feet and the underground curve in the big bore. The shafts are about 80 feet apart. Forces of workmen excavating in opposite directions from the two shafts met Wednesday when it was found that one of the lines, deviating from the original survey only a few inches at a starting point, had widened until it was eight feet from the proper survey. It is said that it will cost several thousand dollars to re-excavate the section of the tunnel along the proper lines.

LOVER SHOT HIMSELF.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 7.—Frank Moore, an aeronaut and animal trainer, who also goes under the name of Frank Leroy, shot and seriously wounded himself last night while talking to William Lyons, gatekeeper at Chutes park.

Moore, it is said, was infuriated with Lyons' sister, Anna, a girl about 16 years old, who also is an aeronaut. He was going to a party last night given by the management of Chutes park to employees and Moore remonstrated with her for wanting to go. She paid no attention to him and left him talking with her brother.

Moore told Lyons soon afterward that his body sent east and with that shot himself in the left breast. The bullet lodging just above his heart. He has a father and mother living in Lima, O.

HISTORY MAY REPEAT ITSELF.

In the days just before gunpowder came into general use the armors of Europe were very busy people. For a hundred years the coats of mail and plate worn by knights and men-at-arms had been getting heavier and heavier. The swords, lances, maces and battle-axes had also been getting heavier and heavier, until some of them became of an almost incredible weight and size. A heavier corselet called for a heavier ax to crush it; the heavier ax demanded a new wrinkle in the construction of corselets. And so on, until the man-at-arms, at the latest period, during which complete armor was used, was incased in such a heavy shell that once unhorsed and on his back he was

FRENCH ARE NOT PARTIAL TO FROGS

Consul-General Heric Lee Washington of Marseille furnishes the following information as to the proper way for artificially raising frogs for market: explains their very limited consumption throughout France, and furnishes formulas for cooking them:

Upon being directed to prepare a report on the subject of the raising and marketing of frogs in France, the first result obtained on general inquiry into the subject, viz., that frogs are not either largely or generally used as an article of food in France, and therefore are not bred to any important extent, caused some surprise, as being contrary to the idea which prevails in the United States. A French authority, M. Larbaletrier, in his pamphlet on frogs, calls attention to this, and states that a greater demand exists in the United States than in the markets of New York can supply from the native product. In this southern section of France the demand is very limited, only a small quantity being consumed, and that generally in the summer time, when it is consumed here is said to come from the neighborhood of Lyon. Nothing shows the small demand for this article of food here in Marseille more than the fact that in the wholesale fish market the director states that "the sale of frogs is entirely unknown." If a commerce of the slightest importance existed in this article it would be evidenced by sales in the wholesale market. Recently a list of gastronomic specialties in France appeared in a Marseille paper, and it is as follows: Oysters of Arcachon, Caviare and Arcachon; madeleines of Commercy; haricot beans of Solissons; truffles of Perigord; prunes of Agen; vinegar of Orleans; chitterlings of Troyes; shrimp of Clamart; Bayonne ham; Nancy macaroons; chestnuts of La Garde; melons of Cavallion; nonnettes (small cakes) of Dijon; saucissons of Arles and Lyons; charcuterie of Montmorency; butter from Igny; Rheims biscuits; white grapes from Fontainebleau; the wines of Champagne, Burgundy and Bordeaux; the cold almonds of Verdun; macarons of Bar-le-Duc; apple sirup of Rouen; snails of Burgundy; not a mention of "grenouilles"—frogs.

GREAT WARS FROM TRIFLES.

Great wars, pregnant with bloodshed and all the horrors accruing thereto, have very often been the outcome of trivial causes. Of this kind, had they been treated properly, have been smoothed over and the slaughter averted. More often was this the case in earlier times than it is now. Every one knows that William the Conqueror lost his life in France through his horse treading on a red-hot cinder while he was superintending the building of a castle. But few people know the fact which gave rise to the campaign that cost William his life.

During the latter part of his reign he became abnormally stout and consequently the laughingstock of not only his subjects, but his neighbors across the water. Of this kind, had they been treated properly, have been smoothed over and the slaughter averted. More often was this the case in earlier times than it is now. CLERK OR BRICKLAYER?

"You often hear clerks say that they would rather be bricklayers on account of the pay, but they don't know what they're talking about. Clerking has, bricklaying every day, in the week and twice on Sunday."

He took another cheese sandwich in his long, pale, ink stained fingers and, peached on the lunch counter's high stool, declaimed warmly:

"Clerks, however poor, are popular with the ladies on account of their fine clothes, but bricklayers, when they go sparring, get the cold shoulder."

"A bricklayer, no matter how much he makes, has trouble in getting into small boarding houses for his home, so the fine furniture, but a clerk, with his white hands, is welcome in any house he can afford."

"I know what I'm talking about, for I bricklaid two years before I took to clerking. And you'll find lots of young bricklayers forsaking the shovel and trowel for the pen, though often say bitterly that they'd rather lay bricks than push a pen, they don't really mean it—they never turn."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

GESTURES PART OF TALK.

There is a man who lives in a very early age in the United States where Spanish is the almost universal tongue. From force of this training he speaks Spanish perfectly. He has not the slightest trace of an English accent, and persons who do not know that he is of American parentage are willing to believe he is a Spaniard, merely from hearing him talk. He is so perfectly bilingual that it shows even in his gestures. When talking with English speaking persons he sits quietly and his conversing with his mouth alone. Only in case of making a point most emphatically does he use a gesture. But the moment he drops into Spanish his every word is accompanied by a movement of the hands or arms. It is interesting to watch the changes from the English to the Spanish side of him, because it comes so suddenly. He can't speak Spanish without gesturing.—New York Sun.

SOME SLANG WORDS.

A remarkable fact is that many slang words have a classical origin.

For example, the word "mull" a vulgarism for a fight, is traceable to the Greek word "hamilla," which means a combat. "Uncle," the affectionate term for a pawnbroker, is derived from the Latin "uncus," a hook on which the article pledged was hung. To go before "the beak" is a distinct reference to the old Roman custom of adorning the platform from which justice dispensed with the beaks of ships, which platform came to be called the rostrum, that being the Latin for a beak or prow.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if you children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.
