We trust that the investigation returns will be thoroughly exhaustive; any merchant or banker who deliberately defrauds the Government of his income return is not a whit better than he who is a defaulter on whisky or tobacco. When it comes to be understood that every doubtful return is to be investigated, and that inquiry will not necessarily end with the filing of a return in the Assessor's office, the receipts of the Government from this source will be largely increased.

CAST IRON WARE.—Mr. Aaron Smethurst, of Porterville, Morgan Co., writes in relation to the manufacture of what he calls "Cast iron, tinned, hollow ware," which he says commands a great trade in California and elsewhere. He thinks it could be successfully carried on here, as iron ore can be obtained and there are men in the Territory who understand the business.

We hope the day is not far distant when extensive iron manufactures will be carried on in this Territory. Coal is now being successfully mined in Sanpete and on the Weber, and iron ore of excellent quality abounds in Utah, and these are the great essentials necessary for the successful prosecution of iron manufactures.

Attempts have been made at various times since our settlement here to inaugurate this branch of industry, but hitherto all efforts to smelt the ore have met with very small success or complete failure.

Mr. Smethurst says "enough of the ore has been melted in a small furnace to prove that it is good." This looks nice enough on paper, but by works faith must be shown. If Mr. Smethurst and others in Morgan Co. can successfully work the ore let them demonstrate the fact to men of means, and the capital necessary to commence the business on a large scale will soon be forthcoming. The development and manufacture of iron would undoubtedly very greatly increase the material wealth and prosperity of the Territory, and he or they who successfully inaugurate these branches of industry amongst us will be entitled to the gratitude of the entire people.
