SUBSCRIPTION PRICES: (In Advance) One Year $8.00 Six Months $5.00 Three Months $2.75 One Month .50

Entered at the postoffice of Salt Lake City as second class matter according to Act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

SALT LAKE CITY, AUG. 3, 1909.

SOME FIGURES.

The new City directory gives to the city and suburbs, including Murray, Sandy, West Jordan and Garfield, a population of 166,230.

In 1906 the directory estimated the population of the City at 84,608. The United States census found only 53,531, a difference of 31,075.

The figures tell another tale worth considering. It has been claimed that Salt Lake has had no growth worth speaking of before the advent of the present administration.

But the tables show that the increase in actual names in the directory of 1902, over the previous year, was 2,348; the following year, 2,573, and 1905, 3,952.

But all this has nothing to do with the question at issue. The Texas brewers claim that more liquor is sold under prohibition than under license.

Notwithstanding the assuring dispatches from Madrid stating that the insurrection in Catalonia had been suppressed and the frantic efforts to prevent news from reaching the outside world, it is now said that a number of communes in the district have proclaimed a republic.

The milkmen have adopted as their motto, "not how much but how good." As to the first part they are having perfect success.

Half a dozen West Point cadets are to be dismissed for hazing. If they are to be reinstated, it would be better not to dismiss them, which would save the farce of a dismissal.

Cassler's Magazine for August contains several articles of timely interest, both for the engineer and for the general reader. Thus, the increasing production of gold.

The following are among the features of Harper's Bazar for August: "The Biography of a Boy," chapter II, Josephine Daskam Bacon.

concealment are necessary. And where the officers of the law perform their duty the evils of secret liquor selling are greatly reduced.

As for prohibition confiscating the property of retail liquor dealers, that is only true in the sense that the abolition of any nuisance is a confiscation of property.

But the chief point, in the communication is the reference to law-breaking. Our correspondent would have us believe that the self-respecting distiller, brewer, or dealer objects to prohibition because it puts his trade into the hands of law-breakers.

Now, that is almost funny. There may, of course, be santonkeepers who are not law-breakers, but they are few and far between.

It is better to strike the tariff bills than the "canned music" of a people. There is nothing so all-but-just-asked about a circus as the music, so called.

Provision is made for the ultimate consumer in the schedule on food stuffs. A backbone is of no use unless there is a good-sized, sensible brain at the top of it.

At Mellita it is the last sign of somebody besides the Moor that is being heard. If people loved their neighbors as they love themselves, the neighbors simply couldn't stand it.

There are no prudes these days but those who have taken their places are not an improvement. Tell your wife you are threatened with appendicitis and she will give you anything you want to eat.

Space will always be available for airships, aeroplanes and dirigible balloons no matter how many fill the air. The milkmen have adopted as their motto, "not how much but how good."

tariff burdens will augment the power of the people to do great things industrially. THE OPTIMIST'S CORNER By George F. Butler, A.M., M.D. Someone has said: "The majority of people are rather lonely but together they are a great power."

What you need to cultivate is a faith and trust in the God of our world, and the source of our world's unity of purpose that will not quail nor turn aside, a courage that never recognizes defeat.

When a man falls on a waxed floor he waxes wroth. The streets are very rarely in the limelight at night. One sometimes finds a bleached hair in bleached flour.

"Why do women marry?" asks an exchange. Because. Merry widows are produced every day in the local courts. Often the architect is the architect of the contractor's fortune.

As a letter writer the President is meeting with a good deal of success. It is better to strike the tariff bills than the "canned music" of a people.
