

FRAGMENTS.

This famous Bullion-Beck Champion mining suit has been settled by a compromise.

JACK REESE was fined $50 for striking Sam Newton on the head with a pick handle last Tuesday.

Mr. JOHN HARTER, of the Ninth Ward, has purchased for a sample of fine raspberries grown in his garden.

The "Cattle King" occupies the boards at the Theatre tonight, being presented by J. H. Wallick's company.

The officers of the Primary Association of the Salt Lake Stake will hold their monthly meeting tomorrow at 2 p. m., at No. 22 First East Street.

The Twenty-first Quorum of Seventies will hold their regular monthly meeting this evening in the Seventh Ward Assembly Rooms, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. A full and punctual attendance is desired.

The committee appointed by the Secretary of the Interior to visit the new penitentiary and report whether the work has been done according to contract, expect to perform that duty by the end of the week.

The talented actress Miss Jefferys Lewis comes to the Theatre for four nights next week, opening her engagement with "The Blue Bird." "Pop-get-me-not" will follow, then "Clothes," and the closing performance will be Miss Lewis' new version of "East Lynne."

This morning we had the pleasure of meeting Brother Thomas Adams, of Parowan, Iron County, who has been undergoing a course of studies at Ann Arbor, Michigan, during the last three years. He took the law degree besides studying successfully in mathematics and engineering.

This many friends of Brother John Gabbott, of Farmer's Ward, will be surprised and grieved to learn that death has overtaken his amiable wife, who has been suffering from heart disease. This is the second bereavement of the kind Brother Gabbott has been called to bear. He has our sympathy.

At 4:30 p. m. on Tuesday, "Grandma" Bourne as she was familiarly called, the mother of Geo. E. Bourne, Esq., died after a long illness. Margaret Evans Bourne was born March 24, 1871, in Bristol, England, and was very highly respected. The funeral was announced to take place at her late residence, 236 W. South Temple Street, at 2 p. m. today.

A Well-Preserved Veteran.

Brother Wm. Knox, of the 7th Ward, is celebrating the 73rd anniversary of his birth today, and considering the great age he has attained to, is remarkable for the vigor of his mind and body. He bids fair to live and be counted as a full hand at the carpenter trade a great many years, and we trust he may.

The Fires.

There were three fire alarms yesterday, the first being occasioned by the taking fire of a basket of clothing in a house in Social Hall Alley. A firecracker and a boy was the cause. About $10 damage was done. The firemen were in the procession at the time, but departed quickly for the scene of duty.

The second alarm was in the debris of the fire of about two weeks since at the old Salt Lake House premises. As only rubbish was burned, there was no loss.

About 4:30 p. m. the third alarm was sounded. The cause of this, too, was a firecracker. The little boy didn't know how it happened, but the squib got into the straw and the result was that T. E. Danielson, Jr., near the D. & R. G. W. depot, was burned. Loss about $50—altogether, a good record for the day.

He Is Mistaken.

We are in receipt of a communication from Mr. John Seaman, of Ogden, in which he upbraids this journal for having used his name in connection with court proceedings in the First judicial district in a similar way as did the Standard, against which he has planted suit for libel. This paper merely copied from the journal named a list of defendants who had been convicted for unlawful cohabitation, giving due credit to the source of information. Among the names that of John Seaman appeared, and whom we did not know. We also published the Standard's explanation to the effect that it had made a mistake in the name, which should have been Elijah Seaman. We have not the pleasure of his acquaintance either. The news also copied from the Standard the statement that Mr. John Seaman had planted a libel suit against the publishers of this paper for what appeared on the face of the whole, in fact as an unintentional use of a name similar to his. As the Standard admitted its error and made all the correction that it could under the circumstances, we headed the notice of the commencement of proceedings against it with the caption of "A Tale Suit." As the whole matter seems to show an entire absence of malice or intention to injure Mr. Seaman, it is indeed pardonable that the suit in question should be considered flimsy. Instead of any intention to hurt the gentleman, it is doubtless a matter of regret that his name should have been, by mistake, used where it did not belong.

CITY COUNCIL.

The Business at Tuesday Evenings Session.

The City Council met at 7 o'clock on Tuesday evening. Mayor Armstrong being absent, Alderman Sharp presided.

The Salt Lake Sampling Works and the Cooking Sampling Works called attention to the advantages which would result to the business men of the city and in saving public from the extension of the Salt Lake & Fort Douglas Railroad.

Mr. J. H. Hartman, of the Ninth Ward, has purchased for a sample of fine raspberries grown in his garden.

At the Theatre.

Other attractions last evening, notably the pyrotechnic display on Arsenal Hill, was largely from the full house that usually greets a good performance at the Home Dramatic Club. The play of last evening, "Forget-Me-Not," either because it has been presented here before by traveling troupes, or else, as is more likely the case, because it is in harmonious with the character of our home favorites, elicited very little sympathy at the first.

It was not until after much hard work and the third act had been reached that the audience were captivated; and then the most generous applause gave evidence of the completeness of the victory on the part of the performers.

There was deep passion in the last act when the infamous and designing "Stephanie de Mohrrean," impersonated by Edith Clawson, was exposed and made to feel retribution from the hands of her victim, an escaped Corsican. The thrilling character of the scene was intensified by the "street choruses" of Messrs. Easton, Whitcomb, C. Gaddard and Crawford. Space will not allow of detailed reference to the cast of characters.

Marriage Alliance Between Germany and Russia.

LONDON, July 5.—Official dispatches state that De Giers, Russian prime minister, has informed Morier, British ambassador, that after December 15, the Bulgarians may do anything and everything they please in cutting each other's throats to declaring their country an empire. Russia, he declares, will not move a finger to prevent them from following their own inclinations and will wash her hands of the whole concern. The ambassador is of the opinion that Russia does not intend to provoke war.

POLICE COURT.

Big List of Offenders for the Fourth.

It was a motley crew that appeared before Justice Tupper today to answer for having offended the dignity of the law. There were young and old and middle-aged; the tramp, the workingman and the duffer; all of them wearing a dejected look except a Provo man, who, while he seemed annoyed at being under arrest, yet appeared confident of being able to prove his innocence of the charge against him.

There was Mike Fleming, who has been in the same predicament some time ago. He was charged with being a drunkard. His face was a study. He looked as if he had been through a mill. He was charged with being a drunkard. His face was a study. He looked as if he had been through a mill.

Fleming (trembling)—I haven't been here for three months, your honor, and I don't know the question. Are you guilty or not guilty of having been drunk?

Fleming—Of course I'm guilty. Court—Well, since you haven't been here for three months, I'll let you off with a light sentence.

Fleming (a sudden smile overspread his countenance)—Thank ye, yer honor, thank ye, thank ye.

John Ryan, a man approaching three years of age, was charged with being a drunkard, and was fined $5.

Ed. Brown was charged with drunkenness and fast riding. He pleaded guilty. He was fined $5.

C. H. Hansen and Wm. Jensen got drunk and were boisterous in a restaurant and were fined $5 each.

John Foulson, "just in from Wales, your honor," was up for drunkenness and property. He was fined $5.

John Boyd, William Reese, Sam. Newton and John Knicker were each fined $5 for drunkenness.

J. H. Nielsen of Provo was accused of battery upon Wm. Knicker. The latter's story was to the effect that he had been badly treated by the defendant, while Nielsen made a statement to show that he had acted as a man would have done in defending himself against Knicker.

C. C. Matthews, of Taylorsville, pleaded guilty to larceny, but owing to his age and condition sentence was suspended.

C. B. Smith was charged with vagrancy, but as he only begged for food and was looking for work, he was discharged.

Arthur Curtis was fined $10 for stealing a ride on the D. & R. G. W. Wm. H. Brizze was charged for creating a disturbance at the depot.

George Chamberlain and William Mackelbrothers were fined $7.50 each for interfering with the fire department. The lesson will prove a salutary one.

Saints En Route.

The company of Saints which left Liverpool on the 23d ult., per S. S. "Wyoming," arrived in New York on the 3rd inst., and left for the West yesterday at 3 p. m. all well. They are in charge of Elder Boynton, and will travel via Norfolk and the Union Pacific. In all probability they will reach this city next Wednesday evening.

Observations from Mount Hood.

PORTLAND, Oregon, July 5.—The sky cleared in the direction of Mount Hood last evening about 8 o'clock and a fine view of the mountain was secured. But up to 9 p. m. no signals from the party could be discerned, although a most careful watch was maintained. The view through telescopes seem to show that there had been recent heavy fall of snow on Mount Hood, and an impression prevails that the party had a hard time to reach the summit. As nothing was seen up to 9 p. m. in the hope of exchanging signals by flashlight or by lantern light, the party was abandoned. The only hope now is to see an illuminating flare or light in red fire. This was to take place at 11 p. m. The summit of the mountain is being watched by thousands of people.

LONDON, July 5.—Americans in the city generally took part in the unusually numerous and successful Fourth of July gatherings. The stars and stripes were seen everywhere. Mrs. Phelps, wife of the American minister, gave an at home at her residence in London Square. The rooms were superbly decorated with ferns and flowers, and portraits of Washington and Cleveland, draped with the stars and stripes, hung on the walls. About six hundred visitors were present, including many distinguished foreigners. Lady Salisbury held a reception at the foreign office this evening which was attended after the banquet at the American Club.

SPECIAL BARGAIN SALE!

FOR ONE WEEK ONLY!

Chicago, July 5.—An almost paralysis of the telegraph service west of Chicago today indicates apparently that the storms of the past few days, culminating last night, were the most widespread in a number of years. Great networks of wires cover the territory stretching to the Rocky Mountains, but very few of the hundreds of lines running in all directions were today in any way doing service. The thing that was comparatively at a stand still. The rains and winds that began sweeping over the west Saturday, had, until last night, their worst effects apparently confined to the territory near this city.

Yesterday the Western Union had virtually remedied the trouble when the evening's storm seemed to have broken out with redoubled fury.

Protest of the Postmaster-General.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The reported protest by Postmaster-General Vilas against an extension of the civil service rule regarding employees of the railway mail service has excited considerable interest in Washington. Numerous requests have been made for a copy of the letter. Diligent inquiry fails to establish the exact nature of such a letter. It is probable that when the protest was made it was a verbal one, and it may have been so in this case.
