KNIT GOODS.—The only machinery of knit woolen goods on the Pacific Coast, is the Pacific Woolen Mills of San Francisco, the works being located on Folsom, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth Streets, Mission Dolores. The first goods were made in June, 1867, and the manufacture being of superior quality, at once found ready sale in competition with the best goods imported from the Eastern States or Europe. The present production is at the rate of $400,000 per annum, working eleven hours per day, but as additional machinery is about to be added, for the making of the finest grades of merino goods, it is estimated that the entire capacity of the works will be increased to $2,000,000 per annum, working day and night. The present machinery in use consists of four sets wool cards, one set mammoth self-acting, and two sets cotton cards, four mules, 1,600 spindles, six shirts, four drawers, fifteen single and two compound (equal to twelve single each) stocking, and three sets winding machinery, all being driven by a 100-horse power engine with fly wheel of sixteen feet diameter, and weighing nine tons.

The works running eleven hours per day, employ 24 women and girls, 24 white men, and 42 Chinese in the building, and between 250 and 300 women and girls who do piece work at their homes. The originator of the enterprise is James Roberts, (who was for six years superintendent of the Mission Mills,) and the capital stock is $400,000. The works are under the management of James Roberts, while Thos. Stapleton (lately from the Atlantic States) is superintendent, Geo. F. Bragg, general agent, and Lazard Freres & Co., of this city, selling agents.

The estimated consumption of fine wool by this concern for the first year is 500,000 pounds of the choicest clips of this State and Oregon.—Pacific Coast Almanac.

The Boston Journal says the experiment of naturalizing the house-sparrow of Europe in this country having fully succeeded in New York, the introduction of these interesting birds into other parts of the country is going on with a good deal of zeal. A recent letter from a gentleman in New York, who has taken an active interest in the success of this experiment, says: "Sparrows are now selling here at $3 for a pair. This seems high, but the supply is not equal to the demand. One lot of three hundred, lately received, were all sold in two days at the above price. The mania evidently appears to be on the increase."

The wages of four prominent Europeans are as follows: Louis Napoleon, $13,240 a day; Queen Victoria, $6,027;

Francis Joseph, $10,959, and the King of Prussia, $8,210.

There were nearly 30,000 births in New York City last year, 7,513 marriages, and 23,159 deaths.

To the MERCHANTS of this City and Territory.

We are now purchasing in the Eastern Market, a FULL STOCK of Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, And everything in our line, for a WOOLESALE TRADE, And will be able to supply City and Country Merchant on Very Liberal Terms.
