

PASSING OF GEORGE REYNOLDS

Staunch and Talented Churchman Closes Brilliant Career
At Sixty-Eight.

GIFTED AUTHOR AND WRITER

Secretary to First Presidencies for Many Years and Sunday School
Worker 40 Years.

In the death of George Reynolds, which occurred Monday afternoon, Aug. 8, 1909, at his residence at the corner of Wall and Apple streets on Capitol hill, this city, the state loses one of its best known citizens and the Mormon Church one of its staunchest defenders and prolific writers. About two years ago he had a breakdown due to overwork, from which he never fully recovered, and after long suffering passed peacefully to rest surrounded by his family, at the time stated, general debility being assigned as the cause of death.

Elder Reynolds was born Jan. 1, 1842, in Martine, London, England, and in his youth identified himself with the Latter-day Saints in his native land. He came to Utah in the summer of 1855, making Salt Lake City his home. He is survived by his wife and 23 children.

Through his extensive literary work, and through his long association, a third of a century or more, with the Sunday school work and other prominent Church activities, he was as widely known as any man in the state, and wherever known was universally esteemed for his honor and integrity and kindness of heart.

EXTENSIVE LITERARY WORK

Elder Reynolds was a gifted writer. Besides writing a number of smaller works he is the author of "The Story of the Book of Mormon," "The Dictionary of the Book of Mormon," and the "Concordance of the Book of Mormon." He was secretary to the first presidency of the Church during a part of the administration of Brigham Young, and has filled the same position for all the first presidencies since, being constantly in the employ of the Church. For many years he was superintendent of the Twentieth ward Sunday school. He was one of the senior members of the first council of seventies and at the time of his death was the oldest member of the Deseret Sunday school union board, being one of its officers since its inception. For many years he was a member of the general assembly, and its treasurer. He was also deeply interested in the affairs of the state schools. In 1869 he was elected by the legislature to the University of Deseret, now the University of Utah, and was later re-elected by following legislative bodies. He was a lieutenant in the territorial militia and secretary of the regiment. He has been for many years assistant editor of the Juvenile Instructor, being one of its first writers. In the early 70's he filled a mission to England, as associate editor of the Millennial Star. He was a director of Z. C. M. L. of Zion's Savings bank, the Sugar company, and other local institutions. He was also a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, being identified with the department of archaeology.

TESTS POLYGAMY LAW.

The congressional law of 1862 against polygamy was for many years deemed unconstitutional and remained unenforced. When an agreement was made for a test of the law, Elder Reynolds volunteered to offer himself and furnish the evidence. He was tried in the supreme court, the hearing lasting a week. He was convicted and sentenced to one year in prison and to pay a fine of $100. The judgment was set aside by the supreme court, but the ruling of the lower court. An appeal to the supreme court of the United States resulted in elimination of the hard labor clause, but the rest of the judgment was sustained and he was sent back to the territorial court for final sentence. June 14, 1879, and was taken to the Nebraska state penitentiary at Lincoln, where he remained 25 days, when he was brought back to the Utah territorial penitentiary. He was released Jan. 20, 1881, having served his full time less good conduct allowance.

FUNERAL THURSDAY.

Friends of the deceased will be permitted to view the remains Thursday morning between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock at the residence, 243 Wall street, and the funeral service will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday in Barratt hall.

DAILY EXCURSION RATES

Via Oregon Short Line.
To various points in Utah, Idaho, Oregon and Nevada from Aug. 8 to 16, inclusive. See agent for rates and particulars. City ticket office, 201 Main street.

ODGEN EXCURSIONS.

Via Oregon Short Line.
Daily, Aug. 8 to 16, inclusive, $1.10 round trip. Choice of eighteen trains.

G. A. R. FREE AT SALT LAIR
Daily, 19 trains, 9:30 a. m. and every 45 minutes at day.

Visitors should see Wandamere.

THE ROUND OF THE THEATERS

It was somewhat discouraging to our theater managers to have their enterprising bills for G. A. R. week greeted as they were last night. The deluge which set in at the hour when the various curtains were ascending, was not altogether responsible for the disappointing turnout which were seen at most of the houses. People felt that the first night of the G. A. R. week was one to be spent on the streets under the bewitching electric decorations, and without doubt the strenuous labors of the theaters will meet with the reward they deserve later on in the week.

THEATRE—The Merry Widow.—Which has been expected in Salt Lake for a year or more, drew a brilliant audience, but hardly the crush that Mr. Savage's attractions have been accustomed to in this city. The highest praise that can be bestowed on the presentation is to say that the stage production, mountings, scenery, costumes and the superb orchestra are up to the strictest Savage standard. The praise that can be bestowed on the same thing can hardly be said of the vocal accomplishments of the principal people, but it seems to have been the rule of the order of the requirements in a play so full of glitter, color and swing as "The Merry Widow."

ORPHEUM—There was a distinctly slim audience at the Orpheum last evening and candor compels one to state that the program merited it. If one wants to be really entertained will be time enough to take his seat about 9:15. A new item might be applied to the bill this week, "Revised Vaudeville"—downward. An act entitled "The Chauffeur and the Maid" opened the bill with song and dance. The Kemps (colored), obliged with a song and dance and the brother and sister Worthley, further indulged in a song and dance in bathing suits by way of variety. Then there is "The Futurity Winner," the story of a horse race, seasoned with cheap heroes and having a race a la "The Country Fair," which was the first indication of real interest during the evening. James Thornton, who looks like an undertaker and talks like a foghorn, was the bright, raucous feature of the evening. His monologue is "a scream," and is well worth waiting for. The Camille trio, grotesque comedians and burlesque magicians, have a "slap-bang bump" act that is gleefully received by both floors. Martin and Maximilian present a burlesque magician's act that gets a hand. Patriotic music is the feature of Willard Mack's orchestra offering, while the kindredone takes a brace this week with some really enterprising and realistic as to be at times almost offensive. The one scene representing night life in Paris at the notorious Maxims is altogether too real. As one auditor last night was heard to reply to another who asked him if he did not "think the piece somewhat loud"—"Loud! It is deafening."

GRAND—Held by the Enemy.—as given by Willard Mack and Blanche Douglas last night at the Grand theater, with the assistance of the elements, presented a stirring war drama. In the "act," there were real flashes of lightning and heavy peals of thunder from the skies, which jarred the opera house, producing in effect some real unannounced. It was a real war drama. Despite the rain, which came down in torrents about 15 minutes before the curtain was raised, the house was crowded. It was a real war drama. The audience, who, from all appearances appreciated the realistic scenes throughout the melodrama. Blanche Douglas was at her best in her portrayal of the southern girl, while Willard Mack as Col. Charles Prescott of the Union army, whose lover was as effective as usual. Arline Alstone, the Confederate rival, the southern spy, was seen in his best performance since he has been with the local stock company. In the courtship scene, where the daughter of his country he was specially strong.

Ira E. Earl was a "high class" war correspondent of an northern weekly. He was also always on "the spot" with his sketch book.

Anna McNaughton was as good as usual in her part of a young plump girl, and Eleanor Evans, the Continental officer, he appears to strong advantage, and makes a good looking hero, having much of the appearance of the men read about in the newspapers.

BUNGALOW—In common with the rest of the theaters, the attendance at the Bungalow last night was not large, but those who were there were well pleased with the presentation of the popular American patriotic drama, "At Valley Forge," by Miss Anna Cleveland and her company of supporting players. In the midst of the warmth of patriotic feeling now being displayed in the city by the presence of the G. A. R. veterans, the presentation of such a play should prove to be a drawing card. That it will be, is the opinion of those who have seen Miss Cleveland in her part of the heroine, and the good opinion then formed by them, bids fair to be materially strengthened by this her first appearance at the head of her own company. Her acting last night was always good and she never appeared to better advantage.

Miss Cleveland has in Charles Le Moyne a good leading man. As Capt. Wilford Fairfax, the Continental officer, he appears to strong advantage, and makes a good looking hero, having much of the appearance of the men read about in the newspapers. Her support generally is capable, among those worthy of special mention being James E. Morton, whose character work is very good.

The play will run all week, with matinee Wednesday and Saturday.

After the Strenuous G. A. R. Week

King's Malt Life will strengthen and invigorate you.

It's a great boon to nursing mothers, convalescents or anyone feeling weak or run down.

25c a bottle
3 for 65c
6 for $1.00

112-114
South Main Street

THE ROUND OF THE THEATERS

enterprising and realistic as to be at times almost offensive. The one scene representing night life in Paris at the notorious Maxims is altogether too real. As one auditor last night was heard to reply to another who asked him if he did not "think the piece somewhat loud"—"Loud! It is deafening."

ORPHEUM—There was a distinctly slim audience at the Orpheum last evening and candor compels one to state that the program merited it. If one wants to be really entertained will be time enough to take his seat about 9:15. A new item might be applied to the bill this week, "Revised Vaudeville"—downward. An act entitled "The Chauffeur and the Maid" opened the bill with song and dance. The Kemps (colored), obliged with a song and dance and the brother and sister Worthley, further indulged in a song and dance in bathing suits by way of variety. Then there is "The Futurity Winner," the story of a horse race, seasoned with cheap heroes and having a race a la "The Country Fair," which was the first indication of real interest during the evening. James Thornton, who looks like an undertaker and talks like a foghorn, was the bright, raucous feature of the evening. His monologue is "a scream," and is well worth waiting for. The Camille trio, grotesque comedians and burlesque magicians, have a "slap-bang bump" act that is gleefully received by both floors. Martin and Maximilian present a burlesque magician's act that gets a hand. Patriotic music is the feature of Willard Mack's orchestra offering, while the kindredone takes a brace this week with some really enterprising and realistic as to be at times almost offensive. The one scene representing night life in Paris at the notorious Maxims is altogether too real. As one auditor last night was heard to reply to another who asked him if he did not "think the piece somewhat loud"—"Loud! It is deafening."

GRAND—Held by the Enemy.—as given by Willard Mack and Blanche Douglas last night at the Grand theater, with the assistance of the elements, presented a stirring war drama. In the "act," there were real flashes of lightning and heavy peals of thunder from the skies, which jarred the opera house, producing in effect some real unannounced. It was a real war drama. Despite the rain, which came down in torrents about 15 minutes before the curtain was raised, the house was crowded. It was a real war drama. The audience, who, from all appearances appreciated the realistic scenes throughout the melodrama. Blanche Douglas was at her best in her portrayal of the southern girl, while Willard Mack as Col. Charles Prescott of the Union army, whose lover was as effective as usual. Arline Alstone, the Confederate rival, the southern spy, was seen in his best performance since he has been with the local stock company. In the courtship scene, where the daughter of his country he was specially strong.

Ira E. Earl was a "high class" war correspondent of an northern weekly. He was also always on "the spot" with his sketch book.

Anna McNaughton was as good as usual in her part of a young plump girl, and Eleanor Evans, the Continental officer, he appears to strong advantage, and makes a good looking hero, having much of the appearance of the men read about in the newspapers.

BUNGALOW—In common with the rest of the theaters, the attendance at the Bungalow last night was not large, but those who were there were well pleased with the presentation of the popular American patriotic drama, "At Valley Forge," by Miss Anna Cleveland and her company of supporting players. In the midst of the warmth of patriotic feeling now being displayed in the city by the presence of the G. A. R. veterans, the presentation of such a play should prove to be a drawing card. That it will be, is the opinion of those who have seen Miss Cleveland in her part of the heroine, and the good opinion then formed by them, bids fair to be materially strengthened by this her first appearance at the head of her own company. Her acting last night was always good and she never appeared to better advantage.

Miss Cleveland has in Charles Le Moyne a good leading man. As Capt. Wilford Fairfax, the Continental officer, he appears to strong advantage, and makes a good looking hero, having much of the appearance of the men read about in the newspapers. Her support generally is capable, among those worthy of special mention being James E. Morton, whose character work is very good.

The play will run all week, with matinee Wednesday and Saturday.

enterprising and realistic as to be at times almost offensive. The one scene representing night life in Paris at the notorious Maxims is altogether too real. As one auditor last night was heard to reply to another who asked him if he did not "think the piece somewhat loud"—"Loud! It is deafening."

ORPHEUM—There was a distinctly slim audience at the Orpheum last evening and candor compels one to state that the program merited it. If one wants to be really entertained will be time enough to take his seat about 9:15. A new item might be applied to the bill this week, "Revised Vaudeville"—downward. An act entitled "The Chauffeur and the Maid" opened the bill with song and dance. The Kemps (colored), obliged with a song and dance and the brother and sister Worthley, further indulged in a song and dance in bathing suits by way of variety. Then there is "The Futurity Winner," the story of a horse race, seasoned with cheap heroes and having a race a la "The Country Fair," which was the first indication of real interest during the evening. James Thornton, who looks like an undertaker and talks like a foghorn, was the bright, raucous feature of the evening. His monologue is "a scream," and is well worth waiting for. The Camille trio, grotesque comedians and burlesque magicians, have a "slap-bang bump" act that is gleefully received by both floors. Martin and Maximilian present a burlesque magician's act that gets a hand. Patriotic music is the feature of Willard Mack's orchestra offering, while the kindredone takes a brace this week with some really enterprising and realistic as to be at times almost offensive. The one scene representing night life in Paris at the notorious Maxims is altogether too real. As one auditor last night was heard to reply to another who asked him if he did not "think the piece somewhat loud"—"Loud! It is deafening."

GRAND—Held by the Enemy.—as given by Willard Mack and Blanche Douglas last night at the Grand theater, with the assistance of the elements, presented a stirring war drama. In the "act," there were real flashes of lightning and heavy peals of thunder from the skies, which jarred the opera house, producing in effect some real unannounced. It was a real war drama. Despite the rain, which came down in torrents about 15 minutes before the curtain was raised, the house was crowded. It was a real war drama. The audience, who, from all appearances appreciated the realistic scenes throughout the melodrama. Blanche Douglas was at her best in her portrayal of the southern girl, while Willard Mack as Col. Charles Prescott of the Union army, whose lover was as effective as usual. Arline Alstone, the Confederate rival, the southern spy, was seen in his best performance since he has been with the local stock company. In the courtship scene, where the daughter of his country he was specially strong.

Ira E. Earl was a "high class" war correspondent of an northern weekly. He was also always on "the spot" with his sketch book.

Anna McNaughton was as good as usual in her part of a young plump girl, and Eleanor Evans, the Continental officer, he appears to strong advantage, and makes a good looking hero, having much of the appearance of the men read about in the newspapers.

BUNGALOW—In common with the rest of the theaters, the attendance at the Bungalow last night was not large, but those who were there were well pleased with the presentation of the popular American patriotic drama, "At Valley Forge," by Miss Anna Cleveland and her company of supporting players. In the midst of the warmth of patriotic feeling now being displayed in the city by the presence of the G. A. R. veterans, the presentation of such a play should prove to be a drawing card. That it will be, is the opinion of those who have seen Miss Cleveland in her part of the heroine, and the good opinion then formed by them, bids fair to be materially strengthened by this her first appearance at the head of her own company. Her acting last night was always good and she never appeared to better advantage.

Miss Cleveland has in Charles Le Moyne a good leading man. As Capt. Wilford Fairfax, the Continental officer, he appears to strong advantage, and makes a good looking hero, having much of the appearance of the men read about in the newspapers. Her support generally is capable, among those worthy of special mention being James E. Morton, whose character work is very good.

The play will run all week, with matinee Wednesday and Saturday.

enterprising and realistic as to be at times almost offensive. The one scene representing night life in Paris at the notorious Maxims is altogether too real. As one auditor last night was heard to reply to another who asked him if he did not "think the piece somewhat loud"—"Loud! It is deafening."

ORPHEUM—There was a distinctly slim audience at the Orpheum last evening and candor compels one to state that the program merited it. If one wants to be really entertained will be time enough to take his seat about 9:15. A new item might be applied to the bill this week, "Revised Vaudeville"—downward. An act entitled "The Chauffeur and the Maid" opened the bill with song and dance. The Kemps (colored), obliged with a song and dance and the brother and sister Worthley, further indulged in a song and dance in bathing suits by way of variety. Then there is "The Futurity Winner," the story of a horse race, seasoned with cheap heroes and having a race a la "The Country Fair," which was the first indication of real interest during the evening. James Thornton, who looks like an undertaker and talks like a foghorn, was the bright, raucous feature of the evening. His monologue is "a scream," and is well worth waiting for. The Camille trio, grotesque comedians and burlesque magicians, have a "slap-bang bump" act that is gleefully received by both floors. Martin and Maximilian present a burlesque magician's act that gets a hand. Patriotic music is the feature of Willard Mack's orchestra offering, while the kindredone takes a brace this week with some really enterprising and realistic as to be at times almost offensive. The one scene representing night life in Paris at the notorious Maxims is altogether too real. As one auditor last night was heard to reply to another who asked him if he did not "think the piece somewhat loud"—"Loud! It is deafening."

GRAND—Held by the Enemy.—as given by Willard Mack and Blanche Douglas last night at the Grand theater, with the assistance of the elements, presented a stirring war drama. In the "act," there were real flashes of lightning and heavy peals of thunder from the skies, which jarred the opera house, producing in effect some real unannounced. It was a real war drama. Despite the rain, which came down in torrents about 15 minutes before the curtain was raised, the house was crowded. It was a real war drama. The audience, who, from all appearances appreciated the realistic scenes throughout the melodrama. Blanche Douglas was at her best in her portrayal of the southern girl, while Willard Mack as Col. Charles Prescott of the Union army, whose lover was as effective as usual. Arline Alstone, the Confederate rival, the southern spy, was seen in his best performance since he has been with the local stock company. In the courtship scene, where the daughter of his country he was specially strong.

Ira E. Earl was a "high class" war correspondent of an northern weekly. He was also always on "the spot" with his sketch book.

Anna McNaughton was as good as usual in her part of a young plump girl, and Eleanor Evans, the Continental officer, he appears to strong advantage, and makes a good looking hero, having much of the appearance of the men read about in the newspapers.

BUNGALOW—In common with the rest of the theaters, the attendance at the Bungalow last night was not large, but those who were there were well pleased with the presentation of the popular American patriotic drama, "At Valley Forge," by Miss Anna Cleveland and her company of supporting players. In the midst of the warmth of patriotic feeling now being displayed in the city by the presence of the G. A. R. veterans, the presentation of such a play should prove to be a drawing card. That it will be, is the opinion of those who have seen Miss Cleveland in her part of the heroine, and the good opinion then formed by them, bids fair to be materially strengthened by this her first appearance at the head of her own company. Her acting last night was always good and she never appeared to better advantage.

Preparations are being made to produce "The New Magdalen" next week.

Of the principal people employed, the main interest of course centered on Miss Frances Cameron in the role of the widow. She acted and danced in a charming manner and her dresses were dreams of the costume designer, but it is surprising that the principal soprano in a company like this should sing almost the whole of her big solo off the key, as she did in the "Villia" number. Mr. Demeral as the young prince, acted and danced in magnetic fashion, but he has not the voice for an ideal tenor role. Among the best work of the night was that of Mr. Oscar Fignium (brother of Max), as the old ambassador, and Mr. Leary in the role of Nish, whose quiet humor was very refreshing. The chorus work, costumes and the big orchestra, especially the harp, were immensely appreciated by the audience, while the costuming of the ladies in the chorus was the most real and to say startling anything seen on our boards for a generation past.

The bill runs every night this week with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

REMOVAL.
Wm. T. Knapton & Co. wallpaper etc., 127-129 East First South.

DAILY EXCURSION RATES

Via Oregon Short Line.
To various points in Utah, Idaho, Oregon and Nevada from Aug. 8 to 16, inclusive. See agent for rates and particulars. City ticket office, 201 Main street.

All G. A. R. Vets Free at Wandamere

BUSINESS CLOSING TOMORROW.

Although many of the mercantile establishments of the city will keep their doors open tomorrow, the day of the parade of the G. A. R. veterans, and the day on which Salt Lake will seek to do most honor to the visitors to the city, there will be a general suspension of business.

The banks, since no legal holiday has been declared, will keep open, but establishments some will close during the entire day, others for a part of the day, and some not at all. In regard to the parade of the G. A. R. veterans, the day on which Salt Lake will seek to do most honor to the visitors to the city, there will be a general suspension of business.

The Z. C. M. I. stores will remain closed during the day in deference to the state and the mayor of the city and in tribute to the veterans. The F. Auerbach & Bro. stores will not open until 1:30 p. m., and the Knutsford store, which closes at 10 o'clock, will close its doors from 10 to 2 o'clock. No order for the closing of Walker Bros. store had been given this morning.

Saltair "Leviathan" Restaurant.
The best meals at city prices. "Ask for anything." Orchestra every evening.

Ernest Kodak Finishing.
Harry Shipley, Commercial Photographer. 151 South Main, second floor.

CALL "G. A. R. OPERATOR"
On the Bell Telephone for all business relating to the Grand Army encampment.

Swimming at Saltair—It's real sport.

OLD FIRE FIGHTER HERE.

Oluf Hammer, an old time resident of this city, but for several years past residing at Colton, southern California, is again visiting friends and acquaintances here. In the early days of the local fire department, Oluf was one of the star performers. His climbing and activity, resulting from his training as a seaman, earning for him the sobriquet of "the cat" and causing him to be idolized by the small boys who thrilled the confessions of those days. He is hale, hearty and active as of yore, and seeks many changes since his last visit here, during Jubilee Year 1887. He resided with great glad the last visit of the late Presidents Woodruff and Cannon to his town and their marvelous catch of fish. He will remain in the city for at least a month.

Visitors should see Wandamere.

SAY, LISTEN.

I make the large 6x8 foot portraits "any look like them too." Electric Photo Air Brush Process. Guaranteed likeness. Little postage stamp pictures on buildings is no decoration. Get the big kind. See the large Electric Photo I have just installed in the large tabernacle. Chas. Peterson, 20, Richards Street.

I have no peddlers.

See Wandamere by Night.

SALT LAIR, THE ONLY RESORT

That can handle the crowds. Extra cars all day. Round trip, 25c.

CUT OFF THE CHURCH.

D. P. Felt Excommunicated for Cause On Findings of High Council.

At a meeting of the high council of Salt Lake stake last night D. P. Felt was excommunicated from the church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. D. P. Felt is well known in this community as a country newspaper editor. It is understood that a complaint was lodged against him with the proper authorities charging him with illicit relations with a widow. The matter was promptly taken up by the presidency of Salt Lake stake and investigated. He was informed by the presidency of the stake that he would be required to relinquish all offices he held in the church, and the matter then went to the high council for their consideration. Mr. Felt resides in North Salt Lake with his wife and family.

CALL "G. A. R. OPERATOR"
On the Bell Telephone for all business relating to the Grand Army encampment.

Wandamere is the Fairland of Utah.

A-Y-P EXPOSITION RATES.

Via Oregon Short Line R. R.
$39.00 from Salt Lake to Seattle and return; on sale daily commencing June 1st. Ask agents for further particulars.

Floating at Saltair—the real fun.

ATLANTIC CITY MAKING BIG PULL

New Jersey Resort Active in Working for 1910 G. A. R.
Encampment.

HAS FORCE ON THE GROUND.

State Legislature Has Already Made
Appropriation—Headquarters
At Knutsford.

Atlantic City, New Jersey, is extending a strong invitation for the National encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in September, 1910. The boomers from this greatest American resort have been in Salt Lake City the past week and are hustling to land next year's meeting. Atlantic City's headquarters are in parlor G, at the Knutsford, adjoining national headquarters, and are in charge of Messrs. Hann, Currie, Perry and Lenhart. E. F. Hann is past department commander of New Jersey, and chairman of the Atlantic City G. A. R. committee of one hundred; George F. Currie is past commander of Joe Hooker post, No. 32, and a department delegate, as well as president of the committee of one hundred; Capt. Samuel E. Perry is a leading attorney and represents the Hotel Men's association and Business League, and George S. Lenhart is secretary, director of the publicity bureau and secretary of the committee of one hundred.

The department of New Jersey has formally endorsed Atlantic City for next year's national encampment, and will present the official invitations next Thursday. Department headquarters are at rooms 320 and 302, the Knutsford. Commander-in-Chief Nevius, Adjutant General Cole, and Executive Committee Barrett—all Jersey men—are also headquartered at the Knutsford and enthusiastic supporters of Atlantic City. The departments of Pennsylvania and Wisconsin have already unanimously endorsed Atlantic City for 1910, and as other strong departments, including Utah, have also expressed their support of the Jersey resort, it is claimed by those in a position to know that Atlantic City will win in the contest for the 1910 encampment.

HAS MADE APPROPRIATION.

The state legislature has made an advance appropriation, by unanimous vote, of $25,000 towards defraying the expenses, and the city council will place $5,000 in next year's budget. In addition, the business interests of the city will raise a substantial amount, so that about $35,000 will be available for the entertainment of those attending.

Atlantic City entertains about 400,000 visitors daily during the summer season annually, and will have no difficulty in providing ample hotel accommodations for that number, if necessary.

ST. LOUIS ALSO ACTIVE.

St. Louis is also making a war fight for the next encampment. The delegates and their friends are wearing "dinner plate" buttons on which appear the pictures of Gov. Hadley of Missouri and Mayor Kremsdorff of St. Louis. The general design includes also the Grand Army insignia, with "National Encampment, G. A. R., St. Louis, 1910," and "32 trunk lines of roads centering here." "The Central City of the United States," and other features. On the back is the legend, "The Citizens of St. Louis through the Conventions Bureau of the Business Men's League, invite you to hold your national encampment, 1910, in our city." The "dinner plates" are being circulated where they will do the most good.

SALT LAIR, G. A. R. TIME TABLE.

19 Trains, Today, Aug. 10	Returning
Going:
9:30	10:15
10:15	11:00
11:00	11:45
11:45	12:30
12:30	1:15
1:15	2:00
2:00	2:45
2:45	3:30
3:30	4:15
4:15	5:00
5:00	5:45
5:45	6:30
6:30	7:15
7:15	8:00
8:00	8:45
8:45	9:30
9:30	10:15
10:15	11:00
11:00	11:45

UNION DENTAL CO.

212 MAIN STREET.

Honest Work, Honest Prices

Painless Extraction of Teeth or No Pay. All Work Guaranteed. Cool office in the City. Electric fan at each chair.

REMEMBER US
We Treat You Right

THE STARTUP BOYS

Shipped the first UTASH CANDY to Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, and the coast country eight years ago. Quality alone has made it possible for the Startup Candy Co. to market their products in all the centers of commerce of America and Mexico.

Sweetly thine,

STARTUP CANDY CO.