CLUB CHAT

The Utah Federation of Women's clubs will meet next week in Ogden on the 29th, 30th, and 31st, and the evidences are that there will be a large number of club women present from all parts of the state. Not only will the elected delegates attend, but nearly all the club presidents and a large number of clubwomen and others outside the clubs have expressed an intention of being present. It is estimated that 40 or 50 will go from Salt Lake, and with those from other places will make a large showing.

* * *

The committee on entertainment is prepared to extend hospitality to all visiting club women who attend the annual meetings of the federation. In order to facilitate the work of the committee those expecting to attend are urged to communicate at once with the chairman, Mrs. A. B. Corey, 583 Twenty-sixth street, Ogden, Utah.

* * *

A rate of one and one-fifth fares for the round trip has been secured for the meeting of the Utah Federation of Women's clubs, at Ogden. Tickets will be sold on the certificate plan, and will be good from the 28th of the month till Nov. 1.

* * *

Mrs. Ellen Elliot has been elected delegate from the Reviewers' club to the Federation meeting.

* * *

Mrs. W. W. Riter will represent the Authors' club in Ogden next week.

* * *

The Cleofan met last Tuesday with Mrs. Julia Taylor and the club listened to an interesting paper by Mrs. John McVicker entitled "What will be the effect on the future of our country of the modern tendency of education through the motor activities?"

The club elected Miss Emmeline Wells delegate to the Federation meeting at Ogden next week, and after the regular business of the meeting the members spent a pleasant social half hour. The club meets next week with Mrs. H. L. A. Culmer, and Miss Emmeline Wells will be chairman. The topics will be "Peel's Triumph and Fall," and "Crimea and Cawnpore."

* * *

The Reviewers will hold their next meeting on Monday, Nov. 3, and Mrs. Whightman will give a paper on John Burroughs, and Miss Snow one on the "Acropolis Discoveries."

* * *

At the general meeting of the Ladies' Literary club yesterday Mrs. Whitaker gave a paper on "The Art of Conversation," and "Mrs. Farrington gave "Typical conversations in fiction."

* * *

Tuesday at the Woman's club Mrs. Kinney gave a very instructive and interesting paper on "The Pepin Dynasty, Charlemagne, Decay of the Carlovingians. Tuesday, the 28th, will be an open day. Miss Buckbee, whose papers are always exceptionally fine, will give "Feudal France and Hugh Capet. Norman Conquest of England, French Crusades."

* * *

The Daughters of Utah Pioneers met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Emily S. Clawson, and listened to a sketch of the life of Clara Decker Young given by her daughter, Mrs. Nettie Y. Easton. The subject of the sketch was one of the three women who first entered the Salt Lake valley, with the Utah pioneers, and her life therefore provided unusually interesting material. The sketch was followed by a song by Miss Grace Clawson a granddaughter of Clara D. Young.

Saved at Grave's Brink.

"I know I would long ago have been in my grave," writes Mrs. S. H. Newsom, of Decatur, Ala., "if it had not been for Electric Bitters. For three years I suffered untold agony from the worst forms of Indigestion, Waterbrash, Stomach and Bowel Dyspepsia. But this excellent medicine did me a world of good. Since using it I can eat heartily and have gained 25 pounds." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles Electric Bitters are a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at Z. C. SALT LAKERS IN GOTHAM.

The Busy Season Opening Again—A Salt Lake Girl's Colony—President Rulon S. Wells Speaks at the New York Chapel.

Special Correspondence.

New York, Oct. 21, 1902.—The advent of October was the signal for our neighbors to return to the city, and once more resume their acquaintance with the shop keepers, dressmakers and milliners, for the coming social season. Also to begin their plans for the opera and theater. Every opera has its following (or its followers) and each singer and actor, as well as each actress, may rely on a certain amount of applause and patronage from his or her ardent admirers. October and November crowd into their days, more brain work for coming anticipated pleasure, than any two months of the year; even summer campaigns are discussed, and arranged a year in advance, and then New Yorkers plunge into the stream, keeping abreast with the current, never touching at the sides, nor even lifting an eye in that direction, for fear they might catch a glimpse of something unpleasant that would distract their thoughts, or excite their sympathy. But the city is not all bad or selfish; good and earnest men and women, throng its streets, and philanthropists and angels in disguise, are to be found everywhere, if only one truly seeks them.

* * *

Following in the train, our little colony has been adding to its numbers and today, sees the chapel of the Latter-day Saints on One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, filled with many home faces.First are seen Frank Groesbeck, and William Howell, of Salt Lake, who candidly confess, to visiting New York simply and solely, for the purpose of sight seeing, and their friends may depend, that from Yonkers to the Battery the transfer system will be thoroughly committed to memory.

* * *

Two daughters of Mr. R. K. Thomas are located here for the winter, the Misses Kate and Blanche Thomas, who have pleasant quarters at 72 West Thirty-fifth street. Both have taken up a course of study, voice building and elocution being their principal objects at present; Miss Blanche is perfecting herself for a teacher. They are accomplished girls, and valuable additions to the Utah colony.

* * *

At Columbia college, may be found a Salt Lake girl, hard at work day and night in Miss Rebecca Morris, who is taking the teacher's course and making a brave stand to keep the name of Utah bright as her precedessors have done. Unlike many another ambitious girl, she has not the small garret, up five flights of rickety stairs, to climb each night, after a hard day's work, a la Laura Jean Libby. No, she comes home to an artistic little flat, a block or two from the college, presided over by four dear lady friends, the Misses Afton and Jasmine Young, Miss Grant and Miss Josie Morris. Miss Grant, who in the capacity of chaperone, is not the typical, stern duenna of olden times, but the tender hearted, generous landlady who has thoughtfully saved a warm dinner for the late comer. This little flat at 509 west One Hundred and Twelfth street, is an ideal one and is the favorite resort of all Utahns. Miss Afton Young, who came to New York to benefit her health, is making rapid progress towards recovery, the climate agreeing with her perfectly; she and her sister Jasmine enjoy the change of a big city immensely. Miss Josie Morris is still studying with Alfred Ayers on West Fifteenth street.

* * *

Agnes Rose Lane arrived in Brooklyn a few days ago, but has not been seen by any of her Salt Lake friends yet. It is uncertain whether she will resume her place in the Corianton company or not, provided of course, the play gets a Metropolitan hearing.

* * *

The old quarters on East Twenty-sixth street, near Bellevue hospital, that have been occupied by Mr. Ralph Richards for two years, and one year by Mr. John Sharp, are still sheltering these popular young students, who are hard at work already preparing for their difficult examinations, and putting the amount of energy into their studies that comes only from a three months' rest among the mountains.

* * *

Harold Orlob, of "Prince and Peasant" fame, has taken a room with his friend, Lorenzo Snow, at 341 West Fifteenth street. He is doing all he can to obtain a hearing for his opera in New York, and from indications that seem to point that way, the little piece may be heard by several well known musicians the coming week. What their verdict may be only time can tell; but of one thing there is no doubt, that Orlob has talent above the average, and sooner or later he will be heard to advantage. Lorenzo Snow is attending the art school.

* * *

Mr. John Groesbeck is again with us; to say that he is welcome is a very tame way of expressing the feelings of all here, but it is an open secret that if Mrs. Groesbeck and the family had accompanied him, his welcome would have been far more cordial.

* * *

Three new Elders have been added to the conference: J. A. Forsyth of Thatcher, Utah, J. A. Egbert of Layton, and J. C. Richards of East Jordan arrived several days ago, and will in all probability be transferred to the West Pennsylvania conference.

* * *

President McQuarrie has had a birthday and his friends decided on a little surprise for him. Elder Arthur Welling was to present him an umbrella in behalf of the Elders, and also to express their high esteem for him in a befitting speech, but Elder Welling is nothing if not original, so he forgot his flowery speech, and just put President McQuarrie and every one else at their ease by his humorous presentation. All this occurred at Winterburn hall on West Twenty-third street, where the Salt Lakers were giving an entertainment for their friends, and a program provided for their entertainment. Miss Blanche Thomas recited, Harold Orlob gave several pieces on the piano, Mme. Seymour and daughter were heard in two duets, Miss Caine, one of our friends, sang a soprano solo, Miss Josie Morris followed in a recitation, and Mrs. Helene Davis gave a reading in clever style. Prest. McQuarrie left the next morning for West Pennsylvania, beginning his tour of the conference; he will be absent a month or six weeks.

* * *

At last Sunday's services, President Rulon S. Wells, wife and daughter Josephine, surprised their many friends by appearing at the chapel. President Wells was asked to address the congregation, which he did in an admirable way, and as many strangers were present, his discourse was closely followed by them and every one present. After the services, handshaking was in order, and several invitations were tendered our Salt Lakers to dinner, but Col. Willard Young captured them first and bore them off to his hospitable home.

* * *

The Elders are still holding street meetings and making progress in their duties. The Sunday night meetings are crowded and everything points to a prosperous winter.

* * *

In a private letter from one of the Elders at Rotterdam, Holland, and from a clipping from a Dutch newspaper, one is able to gain a little information concerning the progress being made by BJ Morris Young, Jr., the violinist. He is a pupil of Cæsr Thompson, one of the greatest of all violin teachers, and is a favorite with him. Morris played at one of Thompson's recitals and to quote from the paper "he held the audience spell bound." His technique is wonderful, his phrasing excellent, so says the critic. His teacher secured him a place in the Royal Orchestra in Belgium which means a great deal to a boy like that; he also plays in a Catholic church, and is doing excellent work in his line. It is to be hoped he can stay for a year or two longer, as he will undoubtedly prove a credit to himself and family. JANET.

A Million Voices

Could hardly express the thanks of Homer Hall, of West Point, Ia. Listen why: A severe cold had settled on his lungs, causing a most obstinate cough. Several physicians said he had consumption, but could not help him. When all thought he was doomed he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and writes: "It completely cured me and saved my life. I now weigh 227 pounds." It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Lung troubles. Price 50c and 1.00. Trial bottles free at Z. C. M. I. Drug department.

WALKER'S STORE.

THE REMOVAL OF THE CARPET DEPARTMENT

A Sale to Lighten Our Burden and So Most Extraordinary Underpricing.

MOST people, and you, no doubt are one, know that the Walker Store has been all summer building a new and commodious home for the Carpet Store. 'Twill occupy the second floor—a much broader expanse than its present abode and you will never, never again have to complain of poor light, for ten large front windows with a whole quarter of the roof furnishes that. In less than two weeks, the workmen tell us it will be ready for tenure and of course the stock must be greatly reduced to make moving the easiest possible—if you've ever moved, though, no need to emphasize this fact, our desire is well understood and the task of tearing up and putting to rights again a tremendous stock fully appreciable. Every broken line, every remnant lot of curtains, portieres or carpets—and they'll be swelled to such proportions you'll scarcely know why the term should be applied to them—must be cleared away and no less than a third off regular price will there be, others up to a half off. Below is only the briefest kind of statement. Come Monday until Saturday.
