

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

Food for Reflection for Those of the Thompson School—What Gibbon Says in His "History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire."

Salt Lake City, May 27, 1903.

To the Editor:

Gibbon in his "History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," discusses the causes that led to the persecution of the early Christians. The following excerpts from the sixteenth chapter of that work are presented by way of suggesting to gentlemen of the Rev. Charles Thompson school that, after all, there may be something in the old adage that "History repeats itself."

"It has already been observed, that the religious concord of the world was principally supported by the implicit assent and reverence which the nations of antiquity expressed for their respective traditions and ceremonies. It might therefore be expected, that they would unite with indignation against any sect or people which should separate itself from the communion of mankind, and claiming the exclusive possession of divine knowledge, should disdain every form of worship, except its own, as impious and idolatrous."

"By embracing the faith of the gospel, the Christians incurred the supposed guilt of an unnatural and unpardonable offense. They dissolved the sacred ties of custom and education, violated the religious institutions of their country, and presumptuously despised whatever their fathers had believed as true, or had revered as sacred."

"Every Christian rejected with contempt the superstitions of his family, his city and his province. The whole body of Christians unanimously refused to hold any communion with the gods of Rome, of the empire, and of mankind. It was vain that the oppressor believed asserted the inalienable rights of conscience and private judgment. Though his situation might excite the pity, his arguments could never reach the understanding, either of the philosopher or of the believing part of the Pagan world."

"The surprise of the Pagans was soon succeeded by resentment; and the most pious of men were exposed to the unjust but dangerous imputation of impiety. Malice and prejudice concurred in representing the Christians as a society of atheists, who, by the most daring attack on the religious constitution of the empire, had merited the severest animadversion of the civil magistrate. They had separated themselves (they gloried in the confession) from every mode of superstition, which was received in any part of the globe by the warmer temper of polytheism."

"The personal guilt which every Christian had contracted, in thus pre-fering his private sentiment to the national religion, was aggravated in a very high degree by the number and union of the criminals."

"We have already seen that the active and successful zeal of the Christians had, insensibly diffused them through every province and almost every city of the empire. The new converts seemed to renounce their family and country, that they might connect themselves in an indissoluble band of union with a peculiar society, which everywhere assumed a different character from the rest of mankind."

"It was concluded, that they only concealed what they would have blushed to disclose. Their mistaken prudence afforded an opportunity for malice to invent, and for suspicious credulity to believe, the horrid tales which described the Christians as the most wicked of human kind; who practised in their dark recesses every abomination that a depraved fancy could suggest, and who solicited the favor of their unknown gods by the sacrifice of every moral virtue. There were many who pretended to confess, or to relate the ceremonies of this abhorred society."

"But the perusal of the ancient apologetes was sufficient to remove even the slightest suspicion from the mind of a candid adversary. The Christians, with the intrepid security of innocence, appeal from the voice of rumor to the equity of the magistrates. They acknowledge that if any proof can be produced of the crimes which calumny has imputed to them, they are worthy of the most severe punishment. They provoke the punishment, and thus challenge the proof. At the same time they urge, with equal truth and propriety, that the charge is not less devoid of probability, than it is destitute of evidence. They declare, whether anyone can seriously believe that the pure and holy precepts of the Gospel, which so frequently restrain the use of the most lawful enjoyments, should incite to the practice or to the most abominable crimes; that a large society should resolve to dishonor itself in the eyes of its own members; and that a great number of persons of either sex, and every rank and condition, insensible to the fear of death or infamy, should consent to violate those principles which nature and education had imprinted most deeply in their minds."

"History, which undertakes to record the transactions of the past, for the instruction of future ages, would ill-deserve that honorable office, if she condescended to plead the cause of tyrants, or to justify the maxims of persecution."

Very respectfully,
RICHARD W. YOUNG.

Anacoda, which is slowly but surely crushing us in its slimy folds.

Yours truly,
CHARLES CRANE.

A REAL SURPRISE.

How University Engineers Upset Plans of the Sophomore Normals.

The sophomore normals at the state university were to have banqueted "teacher dear" the other evening, intending it as a real surprise party. But their well laid plans came to grief through the pestiferous activity of the sophomore engineers. The feast of the evening was laid away "for future use," in a class room, and the literary part of the surprise program was then beautifully carried out elsewhere. Their refreshments were announced. However, they got no further than the announcement, for the room in which the refreshments had been stored was then beautifully carried out elsewhere. The engineers had scented the gastronomic battle from afar, and while the normals were indulging in the purely intellectual part of the surprise feast, the engineers quietly and unobtrusively carried off the feast. So the real surprise of the evening was when the would-be banqueters discovered the theft. However, copious drafts of pure, wholesome water, and a wide and assorted vocabulary of hot air supplied the deficiency. The engineers had a real good time, and passed resolutions of thanks to the normals for their thoughtfulness.

AMUSEMENTS.

The biggest rush in the history of the Salt Lake theater this season will be seen at the opening of the Sothern engagement tonight. Tickets are said to be selling at a premium on the street, and the coming of the state debt is scarcely less vigorous. Patrons are reminded that the curtain will rise at 8 o'clock.

The full program for Miss Ramsey's company, which will play at the Tabernacle tonight at 8:30 will be as printed below. Musicians will see at a glance that there are some rare numbers to be rendered by the lady herself, by the choir, and the orchestra. The opening number of the choir, "Noble Chief," is the stirring selection which the singers would have rendered as a greeting to President Roosevelt, had they been given place in the program.

"Noble Chief".....Glinka
a. "Tabernacle Choir and Organ."

and making the remainder of the running won easily by two lengths. Two lengths separated second and third horses. Rabelias was fourth. The betting was 6 to 4 on Rock Sand, 11 to 4 against Vicinus and 10 to 4 against Flatnam. Maher came in for a good reception. This was the third successive year that the Derby winner had been ridden by an American jockey, Reiff winning in 1901 and Martin last year.

Royal Dinner to Jockey Club.

London, May 28.—King Edward gave the customary dinner at Buckingham palace last night to the members of the Jockey club on the occasion of the Derby. The king and his guests afterwards proceeded to the Marlborough house for the dances following a dinner given by the Duchess of Devonshire, at which Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria, and several American ladies, including Connelley, Duchess of Marlborough, and the Duchess of Marlborough, were present. The feature of the evening was a royal quadrille in which their majesties participated.

Munsterburg to Represent Fair.

Cambridge, Mass., May 28.—Prof. Hugo Munsterburg of Harvard university, will sail Saturday for Germany, where he will officially represent the St. Louis exposition in an effort to secure the co-operation of the German government and educational institutions in the international Congress of Science to be held in St. Louis next year.

Killed at Anacoda.

Butte, Mont., May 27.—Anacoda dispatched to the Inter-Mountain says: An engine and four cars on the air line at the new works of the Anacoda Copper company jumped the track at 11 o'clock this morning and two men of the crew, John W. and John J. Logan were crushed to death. Logan is single.

A Montana Tragedy.

Butte, Mont., May 27.—A Great Falls dispatch to the Inter-Mountain says: N. E. Van Cleave, a farmer at Evans, shot and fatally wounded Henry Holmes, one of the proprietors of the Great Falls Ice company and a well-known old timer of Evans, last night. Van Cleave was angry at Holmes for criticising his treatment of his wife.

New Fire Island Hotel Burned.

New York, May 27.—The new hotel on Fire Island built by Sire Brothers of New York and four cars on the air line at the new works of the Anacoda Copper company jumped the track at 11 o'clock this morning and two men of the crew, John W. and John J. Logan were crushed to death. Logan is single.

CATARRH CURED BY DRY AIR.

Hyomel Medicated the Air You Breathe

Kills the Germs and Cures the Disease.

Hyomel cures catarrh thoroughly and permanently, because it reaches the smallest air cells in the head, throat and lungs, kills the germs causing the disease and drives it from the system. Hyomel goes to the root of the disease, destroys the cause, and makes permanent cures which can be effected in no other way. Breathe it for a few minutes four times a day and benefit will be seen at once. Continue this treatment for a few weeks and Hyomel will have cured you.

The Hyomel in the inhaler furnished with the outfit dries and sterilizes the air you breathe. It is a local and direct treatment for radiating all catarrhal germs in the mucous membrane and issues and in this way cures catarrh in any part of the system. Used in connection with Hyomel Balm it has been successful in curing the worst and most deep-seated cases of catarrhal deafness.

A. W. Clark of Everett, Mass., writes: "I have spent a fortune on different treatments for catarrh and could not hear across the table. After using Hyomel and Hyomel Balm for eight days I can hear as well as ever."

Stronger than any claims that can be made in an advertisement, is the fact that all druggists will give their personal guarantee with every Hyomel outfit they sell to refund the money if the purchaser can say that Hyomel has not given satisfaction.
