BREVITIES.

A corn extracter that has never been patented—the crow.

An old hunter represents the Penobscot Indians in the Maine Legislature.

The law of fox hunting—lex tally-honis.—Judy.

Bitter sarcasm—wishing a deaf man a happy new 'ear.—Judy.

About one half of the editors write themselves to death, and the other half their papers.

"Velocipedagogues" is the new name for those who give instruction in the art of managing velocipedes.

Turkey has 40,000,000 of people and an army of 600,000 to pit against Greece's 1,500,000 inhabitants and 12,000 soldiers.

The Chicago Times says that in architecture that city is as remote from what it should be as hash is from a perfect dinner.

Why was Goliath astonished, when David hit him with a stone? Because such a thing never entered his head before.

The Round Table ridicules the idea of comparing any of the Booth family with Garrick, Kean, or any of the other great actors of the English stage.

English papers chronicle a case of lamentable ignorance. A small boy couldn't tell where boys who tell lies go after they are dead.

A. L. Cobb and son, of Norwich Town, Ct., work an Alderney bull upon a horizontal tread mill, furnishing power for farm use.

A school committee man writes: "We have a school-house large enough to accommodate four hundred pupils four stories high."

Paint all tools exposed to the weather, and if with a light-colored paint, they will not heat, warp, or crack the least in the sun.

Dip the ends of nails into grease, and they will drive easily into any hard wood, where they would otherwise double and break.

When the ladies of Sweden had finished hugging and kissing Admiral Farragut, they each and all exclaimed, "farra goot."

Bonaparte is credited with having said: "A handsome woman pleases the eye, but a good woman pleases the heart. The one is a jewel—the other a treasure."

A lady in New York offers to invest $10,000 as the neuclus of a fund for providing for the illegitimate innocents who are now generally murdered in that city.

The people of California are divided upon the question of what will be the future "king" of that State. Some say gold, others wheat, the grape, wool or silk.

A man who was arrested for stealing goods at a fire, the other day, pleaded in excuse for an extenuation of his conduct, that he had been in the place but a few days, and "hadn't learnt the rules."

Julia Ebergenyi, the Viennese poisoner, is dying in jail of consumption. She protests her innocence, and says she made a false confession to shield her scrapegrace of a lover, the Count Chorinsky.

The importance of destroying the cotton caterpillar fly is thus calculated: One fly of to-day will be reproduced by 250,000 on the 13th of August; then by 125,000,000 on the 13th of September; then by 62,500,000,000 on the 13th of October.

A rock maple was recently cut near West Concord, New Hampshire, whose circumference, when chopped, was 41 feet and nine inches. It was at least 100 feet high, and had been tapped 106 years.

A marriage took place at Concord, N. H., on Wednesday, in which the bride was only sixteen years of age, and a widow at that. She was married the first time when she was only thirteen years old. The bridegroom on this occasion was twenty-four years old. "Early and often" seems to be her motto.

A number of Vermont hunters started a fox a few days since, and the cunning animal led them into a thicket, where they encountered eight live skunks. They took their departure from the vicinity with an enduring reminder of their adventure which will remain fresh for many weeks.

Fifty thousand people in New York wear wigs, and 7,000 wigs and "scratches" are sold every year. Five hundred merchants in human hair have all they can do with the city and country trade, which amounts to nearly $2,000,000 for New York, and $600,000 for the country.

A contemporary, turning his visage to the misty distance of two hundred years, describes the following scene:

House of citizen in New York. Time—A.D. 2067. A telegraphic message has been sent to a servant who presents himself at the window in a balloon.

Master—"John, go to South America and tell Mr. Johnson I shall be happy to have him sup with me this evening. Never mind your coat, go right away."

In five minutes John returns.

John—"Mr. Johnson, sir, says he will come; he is obliged to go to the North Pole for a moment, and will call here as he comes back."

Master—"Very well, John! now you may wind up the machine for setting the table, and telegraph to my wife that Mr. Johnson will be here presently. After that you may dust out the balloon. I have an appointment in London at ten o'clock."

John disappears to execute these orders, while his master steps down to the West Indies to get a fresh orange.
