The Last Hours of the Vice-President.

WASHINGTON, 22.—The following additional has been obtained from S. A. Boyden and T. A. Wood, alternately the Vice-President's attendants last night. Boyden was lieutenant of the Capitol recently, and by Mr. Wilson asked to be with him as much as possible on account of old friendship for a number of years. Yesterday evening, between 6 and 8, the Vice-President said, "If the Doctor were here I would have a blister put on the back of my neck, instead of this plaster." Wood replied, he could do it without the Doctor, to which Wilson replied, "Yes, but I don't want to take the responsibility." Wood asked if he would not like to have a message sent to the Doctor, but he said, after thinking, "No, it isn't worth while." Shortly after he requested Wood to send a friend to Mrs. Carpenter for another bottle of Cape of Good Hope grape juice, from which he thought he had received some benefit, and at 8 p.m. he signified his readiness to be prepared for sleep. Boyden and Wood gently rubbed and manipulated his feet, limbs and back as usual at intervals, till 9:30. During the process Mr. Wilson was very cheerful and said he felt uncommonly well. At 9:30 he fell asleep, and between then and 12 woke only once. At 3 a.m. he woke and dropped asleep again very soon and slept until almost 7 a.m., when he woke and made a remark about feeling so uncommonly well.

Hardly Realized He was Dead.

His death, coming but a few minutes after all these evidences of improvement and rapid recovery, could not at first be realized by the attendants, and it was not till the arrival of Dr. Cord, who resides near, and who had been instantly called, that the melancholy fact found any credence.

Official Announcement of his Death.

The following order announcing the death of the Vice President was issued by the President this p.m.—

"Executive Mansion,
"Nov. 22nd, 1875.

"It is with profound sorrow that the President has to announce to the people of the United States the death of Vice President Wilson, who died in the capital of the nation this morning. His eminent station, his high character, long career in the service of the State and of the United States, his devotion to the cause of freedom, and the ability he brought to the discharge of every duty, stand conspicuous, and are indelibly impressed on the hearts and affections of the American people. In testimony of respect for a distinguished citizen and faithful public servant, the various departments of the government will be closed on the day of the funeral, and the Executive Mansion and all executive departments in Washington will be draped with the badge of mourning for thirty days. The Secretaries of War and the Navy will issue an order that appropriate military and naval honors be rendered to the memory of one whose virtues and services will be long borne in recollection by a grateful nation.

"U. S. GRANT.

"By the President,
"HAMILTON FISH,
"Secretary of State."

The Senate Meeting.

The result of the proceedings at Senate wing of the capitol was a committee to make arrangements for the funeral was appointed, as follows—Senators Boutwell, Sherman, of Ohio, Morrill, of Vt., the Secretary of State, Associate Justice Clifford, Representative Garfield Warren, of Mass., Randall, of Pa., Commissioner Dennison, representing the District of Columbia.

The committee subsequently met and adjourned to meet at the State Department to-morrow, to await the arrival of Senator Boutwell, and consultation with the authorities of Massachusetts.

Embalmed and Laid in State.

The embalmed remains of Mr. Wilson were laid in state in the Vice President's room on a catafalque, which occupies a place where the writing table stood, at which he did all his work. The body in a dress suit of black broadcloth, faces Rembrandt Peal's portrait of Washington, and beside it are wreaths of roses, japonica, callas, white pinks, and heliotropes from the wife of the President, and a cross of white flowers from General Babcock. The room is guarded by a detail of the capitol police.

Massachusetts Delegation—Obsequies.

Sergeant-at-arms French has received telegrams announcing that Gen. Cunningham, of the staff of Governor of Massachusetts, and Dunn and Turner representing the Boston council, start for Washington to-night, and that Mr. Boutwell starts to-morrow.

The funeral is not yet set. It is the desire of some friends to defer it till Congress assembles, but the question will probably be determined by his nephew and executor, W. L. Coolidge, of Natick, who is yet to be heard from.

The President called this p. m., but as the process of embalming was in process he retired without seeing the remains.

Commemorative Resolutions.

The Massachusetts State Republican Association in this city held a meeting at which eulogies were pronounced and resolutions adopted commemorative of Mr. Wilson's life and character.

The Post Mortem Examination—Died of Apoplexy.

The following is a synopsis of the result of the post mortem examination. It began at 11.35 a.m., four hours after his death. Thermometer 62. External appearance, nothing unusual. The brain weighed 49 ounces. The texture of the brain was full of black fluid blood; deposit of lymph on the surface of the cerebral hemisphere; consistence and color of brain normal; cyst the size of a pea in last chrog-aplexus; atheromatous deposit in arteries at base of brain and in anterior and middle cerebral arteries; spinal cord not being abnormal in color or consistency; a microscopical examination made of the lungs displosed old pleuritic adhesions on the left side. There was a cankerous deposit the size of a pea on the middle lobe of the right lung; lungs congested; heart normal, except calcareous deposit in aeortic valve; liver congested. Cause of death, apoplexy.

The Funeral—No Supreme Court Business this Week.

The funeral of the late Vice President will probably take place on Wednesday.

The Supreme Court of the United States will not transact any business this week, owing to the interruption by the death of the Vice President, and the observance of thanksgiving.

Dispatch From Senator Ferry.

The following dispatch was received by the President from Hon. T. W. Ferry, Prest. pro tem of the Senate—

"GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.

"To the President of the U. S.

"I received, with profound sorrow, the information of the death of Vice-President Wilson, and share with you in this great loss to the country, and mourn with his personal friends.

"T. W. FERRY."

Funeral Order of the Secretary of War.

In compliance with the order of the President, that appropriate military and naval honors be rendered to the memory of Vice-President Wilson the following order was issued by the Secretary of War this p.m.—

"On the day succeeding the receipt of this order at each military post, the troops will be paraded at ten o'clock a.m., and the order read to them; the national flag will be displayed at half staff; at dawn of day, thirteen guns will be fired; commencing 12 m., nineteen minute guns will be fired; and at the close of the day a national salute of thirty seven guns. The usual badge of mourning will be worn by the officers of the army and the colors of the several regiments will be put in mourning for a period of three months."

An appropriate order will be issued by the Secretary of the Navy to-morrow.

Senate Committee for Senator Ferry's Obsequies.

The senators held a meeting to-day and appointed Senators Windom, Eaton of Connecticut, Sargent of California, and Kelly of Oregon to attend the funeral of the late Senator Ferry of Connecticut. These gentlemen have power to add to the committee.

General Ord's Report of Texan Border Troubles.

General Ord, in command of the Department of Texas, in his annual report, gives a long account of the border operations of the Mexican bandits, most of which has been anticipated by the press publications. The report closes with these significant suggestions—

"More effective means must be adopted than sending troops to look on, while our people are being despoiled and murdered, for it is evident that the soldiers, however willing, can do nothing if confined to this side of the river, and an order to make reprisals, with means to carry out the order, has sometimes resulted in indemnity, as well as security."

General Sherman's Report.

The annual report of General Sherman, after stating the geographical limits of the various commands says the aggregate strength of the line of the army, according to the last reports, is 1,540 officers, and 24,031 enlisted men, made up as follows—5 regiments artillery, 780 officers, 2,504 men; 10 regiments cavalry, 422 officers, 7,206 men; 25 regiments infantry, 848 officers, 11,000 men; available recruits, hospital stewards, ordnance sergeants, etc., 3,321.

During the past winter the troops in the department of Missouri and Texas were employed in arduous and severe winter campaigns against the Kiowa, Cheyenne, and Comanche Indians, on the border Staked Plains, that for years had been engaged in depredations on the Kansas and Texas frontier, resulting in their subjection. If the military commanders can have control of the supplies needed by these Indians as they now have over their persons, I am convinced, by a recent visit, that a condition of peace can be maintained. The Sioux recently made incursions into northern Nebraska, mostly to steal cattle and horses along the Pacific Ry. and north of it. Genl. Crook is of opinion that the whole army, acting defensively, cannot prevent these incursions, and suggests that troops be stationed in the midst of the Indians, so as to watch them, and prevent their leaving on pretense of hunting. This is impracticable, unless the army have the supervision of the necessary supplies of these tribes within the reservation, which now is not the case. The damage to life and property is believed to be less during the past year than in any former year, and the prospect is that as the country settles it will be less each year, till all Indians are on small reservations. But till they acquire habits of industry, in farming or stock raising, they will need food from the government, because they game on which they have subsisted has diminished rapidly.

Resolutions of Respect.

PHILADELPHIA, 22.—The council was in session when the news of the death of the Vice President was received. Appropriate resolutions were adopted, and the use of Independence Hall was offered for the reception of the body on its way to Massachusetts.
