

DEMOCRATS OPEN FALL CAMPAIGN

Speech by Judge William H. King at Lagoon Defines The Issues.

STRAIGHT TICKET PROPOSED.

Any Kind of Fusion is Declared to be Impracticable Under Present Conditions.

Yesterday was Democratic day at Lagoon, and a rally was held there in the afternoon in which Democrats from Salt Lake and Ogden both participated. The feature of the occasion was an address by Judge William H. King in which he spoke against fusion, and for a straight Democratic ticket this fall. Other speakers were City Chairman Cunningham, who presided; State Chairman Martineau, and Joseph Hyde of Sanpete. A musical program interspersed between speeches evoked frequent applause, as did also the sentiments expressed in the various arguments advanced to show the possibilities of Democratic success, or the rightness of Democratic principles.

Mr. Martineau declared that while the Democrats in Salt Lake might not be overwhelming in numbers, they were still standing by their guns and ought, he believed, to put up a straight and unimpeachable ticket. Mr. Hyde told a story to indicate his idea of how treacherous the Republican party could be in the south, and how necessary this condition made it for the Democrats to stand together solidly.

MUSICAL FEATURES.

Of the musical features the most successful was a song by David Goddard of Ogden, a boy 11 years old, accompanied on the piano by Samuel Williams, also 11 years of age. Three solos by W. D. Phillips, with Jean Higgins as accompanist, were also successfully rendered.

Judge King prefaced his remarks on local conditions with a tribute to the "ladies" auxiliary of the Democratic party, and to its good work in helping out the party efforts. Glancing back into history he told of the gradual emancipation of woman to a place of economic, industrial and civic standards equal to those enjoyed by men.

FUSION TABOODED.

On local politics the speaker declared that the Republican party was arrogant, and dictatorial because of past successes. "Even if the business interests of Salt Lake were in favor of a non-partisan ticket," he said, "the Democratic party would not accept it, because it would prevent such a course. Doubtless it would be influenced by the success of the mendacious and unprincipled campaign waged by it in the last election by which it sought to create religious prejudices by which it hoped to drive from the Democratic ranks many whose devotion to the party might be shaken by such appeals to such prejudices."

Continuing to analyze local conditions as he saw them, Judge King declared that the "intermediate" party in Utah is the result of the unfair and unpatriotic policies of the Republican party, and that the "American" party is the outgrowth of the Republican domination and the un-American policies which it has pursued. The Democratic party is for cessation of strife and bitterness, and evidence of its sincerity to the people is its retarded advancement," he declared. A vote for the Democratic party this fall, he maintained, would be a vote for the cessation of strife and evidence of its sincerity to the people is its retarded advancement," he declared. A vote for the Democratic party this fall, he maintained, would be a vote for the cessation of strife and evidence of its sincerity to the people is its retarded advancement," he declared.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Charles S. Warren, the Butte, Montana, financier who is interested in the Tenabo, Nevada, mining district, finds it somewhat difficult to shake the dust of Salt Lake from his shoes. Between banquets at the Commercial club and afterwards at the Country club, Mr. Warren has all but avowed his intentions of remaining here permanently, and by the good people he has met here. He claims the unique distinction of being the first man to stand up before Fisher and announce that he is a Republican 365 days in the year without being reprimanded. Mr. Warren poohs the name "camp" for what he is the "Great Tenabo District." In company with his old soldier friend, J. Shaughnessy, he grew reminiscent, recalling the days when he was in national politics from Denver, Fairbanks, May and others. It was in conversation with Mr. Warren that Senator Quay made his famous response to the question of who appointed him to the position of delegate. Politicians will remember that Quay claimed to have been appointed by the people, and not by any faction. Speaker of the House, Mr. Warren said that he was not a man to cry over spilled milk, but he could hold a terrible grudge against the fellow that kicked him over. It was with great pleasure that he remembered sitting next the late President Harrison at a convention in Indianapolis. Mr. Warren has made many new friends in the city, while renewing old acquaintances, and regrets very much that his business requires that he return to Butte on Thursday.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. S. C. Dallas and her sister, Miss Louisa King, will give a tea on Friday afternoon, from 2 to 5, at the residence of Mrs. Dallas, 1832 Tenth East street.

Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Dallas will entertain their personal friends at their home.

Last evening, Simon Bamberger was host at an elegant banquet served at the Lagoon cafe to over 50 friends from Salt Lake and vicinity. Before the dinner, a trip to the extended end of the line was made, the guests enjoying the attractions of Lagoon lake on. Among those present were Mayor and Mrs. John W. Bransford, ex-Mayor Thompson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Young and others.

Miss Barbara Barton entertained at her home yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Ethel Armstrong, one of the September brides.

About 18 members of the "Pleasant Hour" club with their husbands spent the evening pleasantly at Lagoon, last night. A delicious lunch was served at 6 o'clock.

Tuesday evening at 270 south West Temple, Miss Mildred Jones was hostess at a large lawn party composed of members of the Young People's Christian Union. The immense lawn was beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns. The ice cream booth was presided over by members of the Phillips Congregational and Central Christian churches; the punch booth by the First Congregational people. Games, two contests and lunch made the evening pass merrily. About 100 were present.

Mrs. Russell L. Tracy and son returned Tuesday from Portland, where they have been all summer. A trip to Alaska was taken while they were away.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Evelyn Lamm and William W. D. Foster, at St. Paul's church, on the evening of Sept. 15, at 8:30 o'clock.

Invitations are out for a farewell reception to be given by the nurses of the L. D. S. hospital training school, in honor of the retiring superintendent, Mrs. Nellie F. Crossland, Thursday evening, August 29.

About 30 members of the Needham family gave an enjoyable party at the home of Mrs. C. G. Whittemore and Mrs. H. C. Brownlee.

Miss Marie Thomas is another hostess of today, the guest of honor being Miss Pearl Branch one of the brides of the near future.

The wedding of Miss Jessie Maxwell and John H. Bean and that of Miss Martha Maxwell and Frank Pocock will occur today at the Temple, followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Maxwell on Fourth avenue.

Another wedding of today was that of Miss Mabel Bolton and Alfred D. Bunker who were married this morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. Seymour B. Young officiating. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony after which the bridal pair left for a trip to California.

Miss Retta Pyper gave a matinee party at the Salt Lake theatre this afternoon followed by a luncheon for Miss Ethel G. Rogers who is to be married on September 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Job Lyon are back from a visit to Mrs. Lyon's parents at San Diego.

Miss Aileen McMillan will return from Spokane on September 1.

Miss Ruth Storer has gone to visit with friends in Illinois and Iowa before entering college at Worcester, Ohio.

H. H. Madson will be host at a party given by his sister Miss Florence Madson at their residence 615 East First South street, next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Lund, of Golden, Utah, are visiting at the home of P. W. Madson, to-day until after the wedding of their sister, Miss Florence.

LITTLE DOGGIE GETS ACQUITTAL

Takes Stand When Master Testifies and Smiles Winningly at Judge.

BOY TALKS IN BATTERY CASE.

Investigation of Charge Laid Against Railroad Opens up Learned Discussion—Some Language Used.

A little black and white water spaniel was the star defendant and witness before Judge Whittaker in this morning's session of police court. The dog belonged to F. E. Margetts and was charged with being vicious and biting H. Heagren and Lewis Heagren, delivery boys. When court was called the little animal was chained to Judge Whittaker's desk. During the run of regular cases "Spot," as the dog might be called, looked on lazily, putting up an excellent appearance of injured innocence.

When the two boys had told their story, saying the dog had a habit of sinking his teeth into their legs, Mr. Margetts took the stand. "Spot" scampered up on the stand also and sitting up as bright as you please smiled dog-fashion at his honor. Mr. Margetts said the boys worried the animal by kicking at him and shuffling their feet. The case was closed by having sentence suspended with the understanding that Mr. Margetts will keep "Spot" or whatever his name is, chained up.

When the acquitted defendant-puppy scampered jocosely from the courtroom. His excellent behavior had brought a favorable verdict.

GUILTY OF BATTERY.

Everett Roberts, a 10-year-old boy, was the complaining witness against Matt. Coleman, charged with battery. After the boy and his parents had taken the oath to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," he was questioned by Atty. Daly as to his ideas of what the administration of an oath means.

"Yes, sir," he answered. "And after you swear to tell the truth, what would happen if you didn't?"

"I would be punished." "By whom?" "Well, God would punish me."

The boy then went on to explain that Coleman struck him with a horsewhip. The boy's mother took the stand and substantiated Everett's story.

Mr. Coleman was sworn on his own behalf and said the Roberts boy had thrown rocks at his chickens and been a pest generally. "Provoked," he ran after him, snapping the whip to scare him and teach him to leave my chickens alone. I didn't mean to hit him," Coleman was found guilty as charged by the court and a fine of $10 was imposed.

TRAIN WAS SPLIT.

A. K. Spencer and William Kirkman, freight trainmen employed by the Rio Grande, were defendants in a street ordinance violation case this morning. The complaint alleged that the two defendants while in charge of a freight train had left a long string of cars standing across Fifth West on Seventh South street for at least 15 minutes on the night of Aug. 7. Detective Richard Shannon, Sub. E. Hunt of the street railway company, and Conductor W. B. Wright, Jr., testified that car service had been thrown off schedule and street car passengers delayed by the action of the trainmen.

Detective Shannon said he was a passenger on the street car and at last, provoked by the delay, went out to see what was the trouble. He found the trainmen washing up, preparatory to going off work.

After a hearing several pointed questions. Detective Shannon said he found the trainmen washing up, preparatory to going off work.

A number of other street car employees were in the court room, ready to testify, but they were not called. Wm. Kirkman, the conductor, took the stand for the defense.

LEARNED DISCUSSION.

Kirkman's testimony sounded something like this: "We shunted in on the dot; then slowed down; saw a street car; tried to get the crossing; lifted the pin but got no signal from the engine; the crossing was cut as soon as possible; saw signal from the yard caused the engine to back up; it was 12 minutes before we broke at we had 46 cars and a long train sometimes rests on a crossing; I tried to cut the crossing on the side; you have to get the switch thrown from the tower; rear brakeman gave him no signal; top man, neither," etc., etc.

Attorney Daly, with an easy stage to Railroading before him, conducted a fairly technical cross-examination. Other trainmen appearing for the defense sprung still more phrases seldom used or heard beyond the boundaries of switch-yards.

AN OLD TROUBLE.

The purpose of this case is to have the trouble between the city and railroads regarding the blockading of street crossings by trains brought to some sort of a head. Considerable complaint has been registered by citizens and the Utah Light & Railway company in this connection; it being urged time and time again that trains are allowed to stand on crossings, thus interrupting traffic. The railroad companies have been notified by the city council and city officers that crossings must be left clear.

RETURN FROM THE ORIENT

Mrs. James L. Frank: Tells of Wonders of the East.

Mrs. James L. Frank who returned from a five month's trip to the orient last Monday gives a glowing account of her travels and the entertaining done in honor of herself and the Misses Park and Kiesel, who were her companions on the journey. Landing in Yokohama, they were just in time to witness the Kioto-Mikado-odori or cherry-blossom dance which occurs but once a year and is a great event. Partitions in the houses were taken down and the whole interiors could be seen by the passers-by and impressed one as pictures done in dull gold, with just tints and shadows of color to give tone to the scenes. The simplicity of the furnishings, absence of painting and artistic ornamentation make the Japanese houses most restful to the eye. The wealthy display their riches in one banner, very expensive, which is hung up and changed every day in the year. The courtesy and hospitality of the Japanese lend additional charm to the environments.

And so many children! "It looked just like home," the ladies declared. The dearest little baby-poly tots in the world. Men and women always have time to stop and play with them. Women and children have different styles of arranging the hair and one who is wise to their ways can tell an unmarried from a married woman by the number or size of her hair afts. Kobi was visited, then down to Hongkong, China at last—China just awakening from a dream centuries old, to see and adopt and improve upon western ideas and customs. Here the party were entertained by wealthy Chinese mandarins, in their elegant homes. These men were well educated, spoke English perfectly, and were graduates of Yale and Edinburgh universities, respectively. One dinner of 29 courses contained such dainties as stewed geranium leaves, shark's fins and birds' nests done in best eastern style, although the guests heard no mention of the canine family—if so, it was whispered in the most unpronounceable Chinese. The only thing that saved the day was the champagne.

From Hongkong to Canton where one really sees China. There the hate for the "foreign devil" is most evident, and the natives show comparatively little of the influence of western people. Here the guide was depended upon for monition large party would go about together and no straying off alone or in couples was considered safe. In Canton the wonderful five-story pagoda is dwarfed one of the attractions of the city. The "flower pagoda," the whole building done in tints of pink, is more beautiful. It is only half a day from Canton to Markow, the Monte Carlo of the east, and nobody can afford to miss seeing that.

Then Pekin the beautiful, with its great surrounding wall, wider even than the great wall of China, upon which the travelers had their pictures taken. In Pekin may be seen the exquisite "Temple of Heaven," by far the grandest piece of architecture in the old sixteenth still there and ready to show them with kindnesses. They expected to stay two days in Manila but lengthened it to a fortnight.

After the two boys had told their story, saying the dog had a habit of sinking his teeth into their legs, Mr. Margetts took the stand. "Spot" scampered up on the stand also and sitting up as bright as you please smiled dog-fashion at his honor. Mr. Margetts said the boys worried the animal by kicking at him and shuffling their feet. The case was closed by having sentence suspended with the understanding that Mr. Margetts will keep "Spot" or whatever his name is, chained up.

JOSEPH H. YOUNG GOES TO COAST

Salt Lake Railroad Man to be Superintendent Western Division of S. P.

FOLLOWS E. E. CALVIN WEST.

He Leaves His Position on the Frisco System for His New Appointment on Sept. 1.

Joseph H. Young, superintendent of the "Frisco" system, has accepted the position of superintendent of the western division of the Southern Pacific with headquarters at Oakland, Cal. He enters upon his new duties Sept. 1. The announcement of the appointment was made yesterday by E. E. Calvin, general manager of the Southern Pacific, who when he was general superintendent of the Oregon Short Line here numbered Mr. Young among his trusted lieutenants.

J. H. Young is the son of Judge LeGrand Young of this city and for many years counsel for the Union Pacific interests in this section. Mr. Young started his railroad career on the old Utah Central before he reached his majority. He later had a position as passenger and ticket agent of the Oregon Short Line. Five years ago he succeeded A. E. Welby as general superintendent of the Rio Grande Western with headquarters here. From here he went to the Colorado & Southern at Denver and soon rose to be general manager of that system. Recently he accepted the position of superintendent of the "Frisco" at Springfield, Mo., which he now resigns to go to the coast as superintendent of the western division of the Southern Pacific, the most important division on any western railroad.

Prof. Smith of New York Engaged in Prehistoric Research.

(Special to the "News.")

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 27.—Prof. Harlan I. Smith of the American museum of New York City, who has been conducting archaeological researches in the state for several months, passed through here today en route to Denver. He made some important discoveries during the summer of prehistoric mines, workings, tools, grinding machinery, etc.; also prehistoric markings on cliffs and walls.

Prof. Smith is endeavoring to have the several state universities take up archaeological work, for the west presents a virgin field in this class of research.
